Mr. Vogel has a reputation in his peculiar line of basiness to which few men have aspired. He makes a specialty of rich lace goods of all descriptions, which he imports di- rectly from the manufacturers, and solls without the addition of a middle profit. His stork is one of the best and most ex-	jurices, clerks, witnesses and spectators; there are clerks' offices, retiring room for judges, fire- proofs, water-closets, wash-basins, bedding and alcoping-rooms for jurors, heating and lighting apparatus, superior to any ever before furnished to courts in Philadelphia, and, as I believe, ua- equaled by any in the interior of the State. The building is 112x60 feet—6,720 superficial feet—and was erected and furnished for about $70,000, a sum much less than is generally sup- posed. The old State House is only 100x40 feet	$25 profit made by investing $1 for a bottle $26 of the EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT, which, with aix gallons of milk, will produce 50 the of prime free Butter. Richard Cadbury, Phila. what I said at the Public Buildings Commission what I said at the Public Buildings Commission on the subject of the Court-house on Sixth street. Part of what I said is reported in your paper of 21st inst. with tolerable correctness. What I meant to convey was, not that the building was a handsome one in itself, but that it was commodious, and handsomer by compari-near than any other the city had erected for pub-lic purposes on Independence Square; that there was a necessity for additional accommodation for the Court of Quarter Sessions, and that the building in question was the best that could be got from Councils at the time-all of which is true. I am sure I never pretended that it was to be admired in an artistic point of view. An in-spection of it will satisfy any one of its commo-diousness, and in that particular it is not excelled Henry Haines, T. Wistar Brown, Joshua II. Morris, ... Richard Wood, Wm. C.
