Messrs. Editors: Will you be pleased to ublish the accompanying letter auknowledg-ig the receipt of a copy of the Gloop of the th instant, containing "the remonst loseph Lanman, Rear Admiral, and several aptains, Commanders, Lieutenants, he navy, carnestly remonstrating against the passage of a bill now pending to reorganize and increase the efficiency of the Medical Depariment of the Navy," presented in the Sen-the by Mr. Fessenden, on the 7th. But for the imputation of unworthy motives to the corps, of which I am a member, I should say nothing of the "remonstrance," or question the propriety of the memorialists making it, for the reason assigned, or any ther. If they thought "the measure altogether of jectionable and opposed to the best interests of the service," it was proper that they should say so, particularly as other line fficers had expressed to Surgeons an opposite pinion, among them Admiral Farragut, in e two subjoined letters:

desire, Mr. Speaker, at this time to susin the principles and the features of this ill by the highest authority which can ring before this House, and that is a letter m the grand old hero, Admiral Farragut, which has been placed in my hands norping, and which exhibits in that brave nished officer of the line a sense of tice as broad and ample as his hard-earne fame and glory. I will ask the Clerk to read first an original letter from Admiral Farra first an original letter from Admiral Farra-gut, and then a certified copy of a letter, both recommending the principle of this bill to the favorable consideration of Congress, and recognizing plainly and fully the propriety of 's details." he Clerk read as follows:

113 EAST THIRTY SIXTH STREET, NEW YORK, Jap. 2. 1869.-My Dear Doctor: ave read with great care the bill entitled 'An ct to reorganize and increase the efficiency ? the medical department of the navy,' and, far as I have been able to discover, it apars to be drawn up in a spirit of fairnes justice to all, and affords to the higher s of the medical corps employment or nore after having obtained a certain grade. I do not hesitate to say that I approve of the principal features of the bill, but would insert the third section, which refers to the emloyment of the different grades, 'except is me of war,' when all officers should t wailable for sea or other service, at the disretion of the department.

son in the military service—but placed in the House of Representatives, or in the Senate of no value whatever. No Senator or member of the House, or lawyer, statesman, or sciontist, in his career, labors assiduously in his vocation in hopes of winning for his reward a legal right to be of the same rank as a commodole, or even of a rear-admiral or admiral in the navy. A distinction of this nature to a man out of the naval service is simply worthless, or, perhaps, absurd; but in it, so highly prized is rank, that officers of the line have been heard to assert, in most emphatic terms, that they would die in defending its rights. But officers of the medical staff, as well as those of other staff corps, have learned from "the line" to appreciate the value of rank in the navy; and they have also learned, from some other source, however, to believe im-plicitly that merits of all kinds are brothers, and in the same community or organization are equally entitled to remunerative rewards and distinctions of the same nature. Their faith in this doctrine is so firm that it cannot be shaken by the assumption that "the line" is the whole navy, and to it exclusively belong all the merits, all the distinctions, and Il the rewards, as well as all the honors and glory won by the joint efforts of men who, though not of the line, are recognized never-theless to be honest, intelligent, skillful, brave and patriotic. But, in preferring their own claims, they wish not to disparage others in any degree. They cheerfully recognize the merits of the line, and rejoice that its efforts, aided by the staff, have deservedly won reward and public approbation. un the third paragraph of the memorial it is asserted that the giving of rank to the staff of the pavy interests the line only because "the value of any distinction is necessarily lessened by every addition to the number of those who enjoy it." Although the assertion may be true in itself, its application in the premises is faltacious. The grades of line officers included in naval organization, were not created as modes of distinction of the officers, but to classify and define and designate, in a general way, the kinds of duty and degrees of responsibility belonging to each class; the relative position or rank in the grade is to some extent the measure of the officer's relative degree of authority. The grade of commodore or o rear admiral is respectable, independently of the number in the grade. Rear Admiral Joseph Lanman would be no more respectable as the only rear admiral in the navy than he is now, being one of the six-and-wenty of the title. Nor would he be less distinguished than he is were he in a grade of one hundred rear admirals. If the numbers in a grade really constitute a sliding scale of merit or distinction, and this sort of distinction alone is satisfactory, then for the sake of ture to suppose that not one of the rear admibecause such association might dim Farra-
