A LECTURE -In the summer of 1868, just before his departure for Brazil, Rev. J. C. Fietcher, the South American traveler, was present at the Bethany Mission when missionary offerings were made by the scholars. One class of little girls, instead of bringing their mite for distant lands, sent in a contribution to purchase a burial place for the poor and friendless connected with the school who might die. This offering was evoked because one of the Bethany flock died and there was no last resting-place for the scholar. Rev. Mr. Fietcher was so touched by the manner of the centribution that he hestantly offered to give the proceeds of this fecture. "Two Thousand the contribution that he instantly offered to give the proceeds of his hecture, "Two Thousand diles up the Amezon," for this purpose, which he will "deliver on Tuesday evening, February 9th, 1869, at Betheny Sabbath School Building, Twonty-second and Shippen streets.

A Successful Man and His Surround

In old monarchical countries, where titles asurp morit, and the man is famous on the same principle as a potato, because the valuable part is under ground, hereditary wealth keeps up a race of drones, who would never rise above paupers if their own exertions had to build their own fortunes. There, to be born with a silver spoon in ther mouths, gives them a place above their fellows, and to do nothing useful either for themselves or their fellow-men, seems to be passport to what is called "good society." Even there, some few, by perseverance and energy accomulate great wealth, and gather round them the luxuries of life, and live in splendid style; but can never enter the charmed circle of the favored can never enter the charmed circle of the favored few, who have deceeded from the bold adventurer, the unscrupulous soldier and the minions of a mightler robber, called a hero or a king.

Even in France, under the consulate, it was the favorite bonst of the great Napoleon that every one of his soldiers bore in his knapsack a Marshal's baton. That, which in the Frenchman, was a mere metaphor, is, in our Republic, a plain fact, and the humblest boy, who runs about hat less and shoeless, has the chances of becoming one of our great ones. It only requires the energy and the virtue, and he will rise, held down by no trammels of birth or accident of name.

To an energetic man in our country, it is but necessary to deserve success and it will assuredly follow. Honorable dealings, industrious application, and unswerving perseverance, succeed in building up colossal fortunes, more honorable to their possessors than all the hereditary titles of a duke or peer. The one golden rule is that so facetiously given by Charles Lamb, "You'll get fat on a rock if you'll stick to it, a muscle does." Among the many honorable examples of perseverance and honorable trading, leading to princely independence, few are more marked than the career of Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphis. For thirty years he has been engaged in than the carrer of Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia. For thirty years he has been engaged in the manufacture of these world-renowned specifics, the Seaweed Tonic, Pulmonic Syrup, and his Mandrake Pills. Knowing the intriusic value of these medicinal preparations, and having confidence in their value, he spared no exertions to get them into the world's market get them into the world's market.

At first totally unknown, the struggle to introduce them was an arduous one, and a less energetic man would have given up in despair, but knowing that he possessed what must be appresent the possessed what must be appresent the possessed what must be appresent the possessed what must be appresent to the possessed when the po clated when fully known, for twenty-two years he kept them before the public, liberally expendhe kept them before the public, liberally expending large sums in pushing them by means of advertising, until they became, in every quarter of this immense continent, "a household word," and their names, as well as the articles themselves, might, without a pun, be said to be in every-body's mouth. About eight years ago the long-looked for reward began to assume gigantic proportions, and now he finds himself in possession of a magnificent fortune, with the inclinations and f a magnificent fortune, with the inclinations and taste to coloy its advantages and extend the hos-pitalities within its power to a numerous circle pitalities within its power to a numerous circle of firm friends and acquaintances.

Looking back, over a space of thirty years, to the humble period, when the Sea Weed Tonic was prepared in a colltery barrel, and now gazing upon the magnificent manufactory, where it and the other articles are made in almost endless quantities, he may well feel proud of the results of perseverance and fair trading.

As the leading tonic of the day, the Seaweed stands without a rival. The large building, which, even now, in architectural beauty and attraction counts anything else in the city of which, even now, in architectural beauty and attraction equals anything else in the city of brotherly love, has become too confined, and the next spring will see erected on the Northeast corner of Bixth and Arch streets a marble building for the earrying on of his immense trade, eclipsing in magnificence all other stores. In his laboratory every improvement known to modern science is employed, and the steam machine, with eccentric drum, for the exclusive manufacture of the Mandrake Pills, is a curiosity of mechanical dexterity for lightening the labor of man.

In giving the history of a fortune thus successfully built up, it will not be out of place to inquire into the manner of using so great an estate; whether the long years of accu dried up the higher qualities of the mind, or whether a liberal employment of the gifts of Fortune show that the blind Goddess has for once bestowed it where it will be worthly used. Dr. Schenck has, at Schenck's Station, fifteen miles from Philadelphia, and on the railroad leading from Philadelphia to New York, bullt himself a country residence, or summer retreat, which he has surrounded and filled with all the luxuries of art and nature which make the chief blessings of life. It is one of the finest residences near the Delaware; erected at a cost of $50,000, and surrounded by a farm of some 300 acres in a magnificent state of cultivation. The situation is picturesque, the location healthy, and here the successful man of business, in the bosom of an' amiable family, enjoys his otium cum dignitate, proudly conscious that he owes all to his own energies. The whole place reveals the man of wealth, refined by culture and fine taste. Con-servatories, in which are treasured all the rarities of Flora, both of temperate and torrid zones; a garden which Adam, in his innocence, might have coveted; barns, stables, buildings, and agricultural machinery of the most approved style, fine horses, unexceptionable carriages, and stock of the most expensive breeds, the whole superintended by the best gardiner, the best coachman and the best farming steward in the United States. The farm is within a ring fence, United States. The farm is within a ring fence, and the different lots are separated by the most approved fences. The whole is so beautifully tilled and free from weed as to lie before the parlor windows a map of beauty and care. On the river hard by rides like a swan, a splendid yacht, of which he is himself captain, and can steer to a miracle. On a low portion of the ground he contemplates making a private fish pond, which will acid much to the attractiveness of the place. Having paid attention to the surroundings, we

Having paid attention to the surroundings, we will enter the house, where the host and his lady, with one amiable daughter and two sons, are prepared to give us a plain, straight-forward, unsophisticated welcome. An old-fashioned quilting is taking place, for you must remember these are none of your new-fangled folks, who ape the manners of aristocratic absurdity, but the genuine old Eastern stripe, who make you at home in a minute, and by their ease and heartiness remove the "stranger" feeling at a word. Within teste reigns supreme, and witnout the ostentations display, everything is of the choicest and most costly character, carved furniture, plate glass, richly chased sets of rarest plate, pictures by the old and modern masters, a library of books gorgeous in true calf and Turkey morocco, all arranged with an exquisite eye with one amiable daughter and two sons, are key morocco, all arranged with an exquisite eye for harmony, and all seemingly without straining after effect. Here we were welcomed, and here. with the noble-hearted proprietor, his son Hay ward, a worthy chip of the old block, and the hospitable lady of the house, we felt what happy home and checiful converse could do. Separated from the house is a private billiard room parties can relax from severer cares and enjoy at elsure in the king of games. In addition to this palace built and fitted by the hands of the commercial enterprise and de served success, Dr. Schenck has in the city his winter residence, a high stoop, marble house, fitted with every comfort, appliance and modern improvement. Thus lives the proprietor of the leading family medicines of the day, and the founder, unaided, of a colossal fortune.

Hale and hearty, fifty-five years of age, a long life, we trust, is yet before him, during which he may enjoy all those comforts and luxuries which he has so fortunately acquired and richly deserves. Our visit to his place is a green spot in life's history, and we shall always remember with pleasure the old-fashioned hospitality we experienced at Schenck's Station.—Davenport Democrat.

About a quarter past ten o'clock Saturday evening flames were discovered issuing from the building recently occupied by W. M. Faber & Co., engive builders. The building is located on Co., engine builders. The building is located on Quarry street, in the rear of the Pan Handle Engine House, and is a two-story frame building. The slavm was given from Box-84, corner of Liberty and Canal streets, and the fire department was soon on the ground, but the fames almost immediately communicated to three small shops adjoining, which were owned by the Railroad Company, and these, together with the

The buildings and property occupied by Faber & Co. were recently sold to the Ruli-road Company, and the machinery and stock had been removed a short time ago. The other three shops, were occupied by the Company as repair shops, and the buildings were more shells. It is estimated the total loss will not be more than six or eight thousand dollars.

Two Persons Fatally Hurts.

The Newark Advertiser of last night says:
About 5 o'clock on Saturday evenling, the boller in Jacob Conradi's iron foundry on Belmont avenue exploded, with a dull heavy thud. Four men were at work in the building, two of whom it is supposed were wounded fatally; the others eccaped without injury. Mr. Conradi, the proprietor, was standing within, a few feet of the boller, and was thrown by the concussion nearly thirty feet into the adjoining lot. He is severely scalded about the breast and face, and but little hopes are entertained of his recovery. A lad named Reinhard was also standing near the engine at the time of the explosion, working a named Reinhard was also standing near the congine at the time of the explosion, working a hand-pump. Grant and the Alabama Treaty.

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune Gen. Grant is strongly opposed to the pending Alabama claims treaty. The following is his position nearly in his own words: The treaty is unjust to the United States because it assumes to unjust to the United States because it assumes to measure injury inflicted upon this country by money value of ships actually destroyed, whereas the chief demage to our commerce was in our ships being driven from the sea by Auglo-rebei pirates. In addition to this, the sympathy extended by the English government to the South prolonged the war at least a year, and for all lives lost and money expended, for this time, Eugland is directly responsible. The treaty proposes to settleall these things by the payment of the pairtry value of a few ships. try value of a few ships.

A correspondent of the London Orchestra writes from Calcutta, December 7th: The Italian opera performances are this year exceptionally good. The operas that have been presented up to the present time are "Linda de Chamounix," "Lucrèzia Borgia," "Il Ballo in Maschera," "Marta" and "Ernani." Other operas would have been given, but their production has been retarded owing to the indisposition of one of the members of the company. Signora Senoni, the prima donna assoluta, is a most charming artist; she has a fine voice of good compass; she sings with taste, feeling and expression, and in "Lucrèzia Borgia," &c., has won golden opinion. Signora Tortolini, the prima donna Loggiera, does not possess so good a voice, but sings with correctness, truth and feeling. In 'Linda di Chamounix" and "Marta" her performances were exceedingly good. Signori Magnari (bartone), Gesperini (basso). SOME PROPLE LOOK UPON LIFE INSURANCE AS SOME PROPLE LOOK UPON LIFE INSURANCE AS a sort of lottery or speculation by which men seek to escape from industry and frugality. Nothing could be more ridiculous, as is sufficiently proved by the simple fact that the most industrious and thrifty men are those who most appreciate and invest in life insurance. It makes industry more fauitful, and frugality more easily practiced, because such small savings grow in the hands of a good life insurance company like "The American" to such large amounts.

OFFHR A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THEIR FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

NINE HUNDRED AND SIXTY MILES

AT PAR.

Of the line West from Omaha are now comple the work is going on through the Winter. As the distance between the finished portion of the Union and Central Pacific Raircade is now less than 400 miles, and both companies are pushing forward the work with great energy, employing over 30,000 men, there can be no doubt that the whole

GRAND LINE TO THE PACIFIC Will be open for Business in the Summer of 1869.

The regular Government Commissioners have prenounced the Union Pacific Railread to be FIRST CLASS in every respect, and the Special Commission appoints
by the President saje:

"Taken as a whole, THE UNION PACIFIC RAIL ROAD HAS BEEN WELL CONSIRUCTED, AND THE GENERAL ROUTE FOR THE LINE EXCEEDINGLY WELL BELECTED. The energy and persorance with which the work has been urged forward, and the rapidity with which it has been executed are without paralled in which the work has been urgod roward, and the rapidity with which it has been executed are without parallel in history, and in grandeur and magnitude of undertaking it has never been equaled." The report concludes by eaying that "the country has reason to congratulate itself saying that the great work of national importance is so rapidly approaching completion under such favorable austices." he Company now have in use 187 locomotives and nearly ,000 cave of all descriptions. A large additional equipment is ordered to be ready in the Spring. The grading ment is ordered to be ready in the transfer in miles in advance of the western end of the track. Fully 30 miles of fron for new track are now delivered west of the Missouri River, and 90 miles more are en routs. The total expenditure for construction purposes in advance of the pleted portion of the road is not less than eight million

Besides a donation from the Government of 13,800 acres f land per mile, the Company is entitled to a subdidy in J. S. Bonds on its line as completed and accepted, at the U. B. Bionds on its time as completed and accepted, at the average rate of about $22,000 per mile, according to the difficulties encountered, for which the Government takes a second lien as recurity. The Company have already received $22,073,000 of this subsidy, being in full on the miles that have hear averaged by the United States. es that have been examined by the United States Government Aid .-- Security of the Bonds.

By its charter, the Company is permitted to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS to the rame amount as the Government Bonds, and no more. These Bonds are a First Mortgage upon the whole road and all its equipments. Such a mortgage upon what, for a long time, with be the only railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Stater, takes the highest rank as a safe security. The earnings from the way or local business for the year ending June 23, 1863, on an average of 473 miles, were over FOUR MILLION DOLLARS, which, after paying all expenses, were much more than sufficient to cover all over FUDE MILLION BULLARS, which, after paying all expenses, were much more than sufficient to cover all interest liability upon that distance, and the earnings for the last five months have been $2,883.870. They would have been greater, if the road had not been taxed to its have been greater, if the road had not been taxed to its utmost capacity to transport its own materials for construction. The income from the great passenger travel, the China freights, and the supplies for the new Rocky Mountain States and Territories must be ample for all interest and other liabilities. No political action can reduce the rate of interest it must remain for thirty years—six per cent. per cansum model, now equal to between eight and nine per cent. in currency. The principal is then payable in gold. If we bend, with such guarantees, were issued by the Goystument, its market price would not be iess than from 39 to 25 per cent. premium. As these bonds are lyued under Government authority and supervision, upon what is acry largely a Government work, they must utilimately Government authority and supervision, upon what is acry largely a Government work, they must ultimately approach Government prices. The price for the present is PAR. Subscriptions will be received in Philadelphia by
