Washington, Feb. 1.—The Georgetown Col-Washington, Feb. 1.—The Georgetown College Cadels, about one hundred strong, under command of Captain Sheridan, were received by the President this morning in the East Room of the White House. They executed various military maneuvres in an admirable manner.

A congratulatory address was made to the President by the Captain, which led to a somewhat lengthy response from the President. He referred to his devotion to the country and his efforts to preserve the constitution from violence, and in alluding to the dangers which the country was liable to be subject to, through incompetent rulers, said: "Restrictions must be placed upon those who have power. Man is not to be entrusted with unlimited power, for he will abuse; it. We have seen what men may do, and what they have done others can do. Our government they have done others can do. Our government got the money, and for what purpose. To this will become a monarchy if due caution is not exercised. If we are to have a master we should sponded that "his Excellency Gov. Household Furniture and Merchandise generally, from Loss by Fire. will become a monarchy if due caution is not excretised. If we are to have a master we should have a sovereign whom we can truly call our master. As for myself, I acknowledge no man as my master: the fundamental principles that I have laid down through my public life have been strictly adhered to." The President then delivered a lengthy address on the history of the Constitution, and spoke sitrongly against "timkering" with it by amendments. He said that he had never exercised any power outside of the Constitution, and thought that rather than exercise doubtful power it should be suspended until the will of the people could be consulted.

Quite a number of spectators were present during the speech, and considerable interest was manifested at the remarks made. His allusions to restrictions upon the President created no little sensation among the audience present.

The Overland Mail Contract.

(Special Despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.)

Washington, Feb. 1.—Serious complaints are made against the Committee charged with the investigation of the contract with Wells, Fargo & Co. for carrying the overland mails. Those who are pushing the investigation represent that the Committee refuse to summon important witnesses who would testify against the Post-office officials from damaging evidence. It is also represented that witnesses favorable to the contractors are permitted to write out the questions which are to be assed them before the committee, while no other questions which are to be assed them before the committee, while no other questions which are to be assed then investigation has been conducted has a very ugly appearance, and there is no doubt that a report will be made to the House white washing the action of the Post-office Department, There will be a lively time in the House when this report will be made to the House white the supposed to have been used to pay the Bullock among the capitalists of New York, and trying to among the capitalists of New York, and trying to among the capitalists of New York, and trying to among the capitalists of New York, and trying to among the capitalists of New York, and trying to among the capitalists of New York, and trying to a lively time in the House while washing the action of the Post-office Department, There will be a lively time in the House when this report will be made to the House white washing the action of the Post-office Department, There will be a lively time in the House when this report will be made to the House white when the investigation of the State, and make everything "a known to the community for the payee of the remaining draft for $17,000 is not given, so that the disposition of that sum is still wrapped in profound mystery.

MEDICAL FRENCH MEDICINES

PERPARED BY GRIMAULT & CO.,

DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME.

GRISLAULT & CO., GREMISTS, PARIS.

A syrup componeded with this new salt has been introduced by Jr. Churchill for the treatment of pulmonary pithles. Recent trials made at the Brompton Consumption Hospital an institution especially devoted to the treatment of diseases of the chest, have abundantly demonstrated the absolute necessity of obtaining titls new therapeutic agent in the most perfectly pure and neutral condition. Each tablespoonful of syrup contains four grains of perfectly pure hypophosphite of lime; and, as compounded by MM. Grimult & Co., of Paris, this syrup is the only preparation which guarantees to the medical profession all the properties required in this valuable medicine.
