FER. 2.—Business men are watching the first signs of the spring trade and are unusually solicities: as to its character and extent. Much importance is attached to the fact that many stores and warchouses in the resion between Barcisy and Chambers streets are placarded with the ominous words, "To Let," indicating that the provious occupants have been forced to decline business and others are unwilling to risk a new venture. This fact has created an impression that there is something radically wrong about the commercial affairs in the metropolia. It should be taken into consideration, however that the region referrred to has been worked over, so to speak.

The suction sales to-day were well attended, but the sales were not large or important. The Bouthern merchants are well represented in town just now, and our olty dealers look for an unurally active demand from them this spring, in consequence of the comparatively richer condition of the Bouthern people, in the cotton Brates particularly. The last crop was all profit, and there were no drawbacks of old debts, the business of last year being on a strictly case principle, not only between our merchants and the Bouth, but between the Bouthern merchants and their home customers. The yield in money from the crop now in process of exportation is not less than $250,000,000 the profits on which sum will come back to gratify the naturally luxurious tasts of the Bouth. The West is slower to make her purchases, but the facilities of Eastern and Western rallway communication postpose the necessity of laying in goods from the Eastern markets until the Western bome demand is actually felt. The oteck market to-day was characterized by a revival of speculation in the "bull" interest. some time have been the favorite sources of investment to capitalists. There is nothing strange in the fact that a tendency to speculation exists among our business and moneyed men. There is nothing more mercurial than ransmitted from itself to the owners. It is as natural or the item which we call mostey to be in motion as it is for the waters of the ocean to roll, or the tide to abh and flow, and it is about as easy to control the one as the other. Mency, therefore, is almost a synonym of motion, and if this activity is stopped it cesses to be money or a ways moving but in its proper channel. In this respect it is like the human blood; it is predout, and life itself, as long as it flows in the veins and arteries, but tional channel for gold, greenbacks, or anything estima il stream of this healthy blood courses through this channel there is vigor, health and life in the community But here comes the application of the simile.
