The Corcoran Claim. (Epecial Despatch to the Phila Evening Bulletin.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The Senate Committee on the District of Columbia had the Corcoran claim under consideration again this morning. The Russian Minister's steward, who was present at the dinner party when Mr. Corcoran is reported to have said that "he would give $100,000 to have Mr. Lincoln put out of the way," was before the Committee and declined to testify as to what took place. He was respectful in his manner, but said he should consider himself no better than a spy if he revealed what he heard on such occasions. He would accept any punishment the committee might choose to inflict, but must per-
