THE PARDEE SCIENTIFIC DEPARTMENT IN LAFAYETTE COLLEGE, EASTON, PA.

This Department of Lafayette College was organized October, 1865, by the munificence of A. PARDEE, Esq., of Hazleton, Pa., who has placed in the hands of the Trustees the sum of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars. This has enabled the Board to add to the Faculty of the College eminent instructors in the various departments of Physical Science; and the munificence of the citizens of Easton and of friends of the College elsewhere, has supplied funds for the buildings and apparatus necessary for thorough courses of Scientific Instruction, including

I.—A General Scientific Course of Four Years.

This is the same as the CLASSICAL COURSE in the College, except Ancient Languages, for which Modern Languages and Sciences are substituted. Graduates in this course receive the Degree of BACHELOR OF PHILOSOPHY.

II.—Three Technical Courses of Two Years Each.

I. ENGINEERING.—Civil, Topographical and Mechanical. This course is designed to give Professional Preparation for the ocation, construction and superintendence of Engineering Works of every description. Graduates receive the Degree of C. E.

II. MINING AND METALLURGY.—This Course offers the means of special preparation for exploring undeveloped mineral resources, and for taking charge of mini or metallurgical works. Graduates receive the Degree M. E.

III. CHEMISTRY.—This course includes text book study, lectures and laboratory practice, every facility for which is found in the Laboratories of JENKS CHEMICAL HALL. Graduates receive the Degree of B. S.

THE LOCATION

of Lafayette College, in the midst of the great Mining and Manufacturing Region of the Middle States, gives peculiar advantages for PRACTICAL INSTRUCTION in the above Departments. In addition, therefore, to the Lectures, Recitations and Laboratory Practice, the Classes are organized into

so that Students may be thoroughly prepared by actual work in the Field, Furnaces, Rolling Mills, &c., for professional employment in the following Departments, viz.:

I.—Road Engineering.

The Class goes through all the necessary operations (including Field Work and Office Work) for the construction of a Railroad from Easton to some selected terminus.

II.—Mining Engineering.

Mines near Easton are examined, and Written Reports are made, accompanied by Plans, Calculations and a discussion of the principles involved.

III.—Mining Geology and Metallurgy.

Actual Work in the Laboratory, Field, Furnaces and Rolling Mills. Special attention given to the geology and exploitation of Coal and Iron Ores, and to the Metallurgy of Iron and Steel.

IV.—Technical Chemistry.

Particular attention is given to the Chemistry of Agriculture, Medicine, Metallurgy, and the Manufacturing processes. Provision is also made for advanced students who may wish to make original researches.

TUITION FEES

per session of three months, in the General Scientific Course, FIFTEEN DOLLARS; in the Technical Courses or Working Sections, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS.

For Circulars or further information, address any of the following

MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY:

WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D. D., PRESIDENT, and Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy.

TRAILL GREEN, M. D. LL. D., DEAN of the Pardee Scientific Department and Adamson Professor of General and Applied Chemistry.

JAMES H. COFFIN, LL. D., Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

A Dismal Day for the ex-Cabinet Officers—How the News of Grant's Cabinet was Received—Read Aloud to the Assembled Multitudes in the Halls of Congress—Great Enthusiasm Over the Nominations—Departure of Philadelphia Delegations, &c.

[Correspondence of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.]

WASHINGTON, March 5, 1869.—The Departments to-day were in a state of suspended animation.

At the Post-office Department, Postmaster-General Randall was in his office, but transacted no official business. The Department was in charge of St. John B. L. Skinner, First Assistant.

At the Interior Department, ex-Secretary Browning gathered the heads of Bureaus around him and took a long farewell.

At the Treasury Department, ex-Secretary McCulloch did not put in an appearance. The office was in charge of Assistant Secretary Hartley, who was one of Secretary Fessenden's appointments.

At the Navy Department, ex-Secretary Welles did not present himself. He has not been there since Wednesday. Assistant Secretary Faxon resigned, and the office to-day was in charge of Edgar Welles, ex-Chief Clerk, who has also resigned. No official business was transacted there to-day.

At the War Office, Secretary Schofield was the only Cabinet officer on duty. The Attorney-General's Office and State Department were also in charge of subordinates.

THE NAMES OF GRANT'S CABINET MINISTERS were received at the Senate to-day, about two o'clock, and in five minutes afterwards they were known outside, and read aloud from the steps leading to the gallery on the northern front; also, in the corridors, in the Rotunda, and in the lobbies of the House. The excitement was intense, and the news spread like wildfire in every direction. The local newspapers issued "extras," and by three o'clock they were known all over Washington, and long before had been telegraphed to all the large cities.

The gentlemen selected did not know of their appointment themselves, and it was doubtless as great a surprise to them as to other people.

It is believed the Cabinet was re-cast since Wednesday, as it seemed to be understood that Boutwell, of Massachusetts, and Wilson, of Iowa, were certain to be selected, but for some reason a change was made, or perhaps the President had not fully made up his mind to select these gentlemen.

Geo. H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, was tendered a Cabinet position, but declined on account of delicate health.

The general expression of opinion here is that it is a most unexceptionable Cabinet, and their prompt confirmation by the Senate proves that all doubts about the course of President Grant are at an end.

DEPARTURE OF PHILADELPHIANS.

MEMENTOES OF THE INAUGURATION.

Some people to-day cut off large pieces of plank from the staging where the Inauguration took place yesterday as mementoes of the event, and I saw one individual to-day with a good-sized piece on his shoulder, which he said he would not sell at any price. SUSQUEHANNA.

—Old Dicky S. is a very wealthy but very illiterate East India merchant and a member of the Oriental Club of London. One day Dicky took a pair of compasses and set about examining a large map of India, the margin of which was illustrated with drawings of the wild and domestic animals of the country. Suddenly Dicky dropped the compasses in amazement. "It can't be! it ain't in the horder of natur that it should be! impossible! ridiculous!" "Why, Dicky, what's the matter?" "Wot's the matter? Vy, this Bengal tiger is ninety miles long!". Dicky had measured the tiger by the scale of the map.

CRIME.

KU-KLUX CAPTURE IN MEMPHIS.

Arrest of J. F. Earl, the Alleged Commander of the Ku-Klux Klan of Crittenden County, Arkansas.

The Memphis Post of Tuesday says:

The most important arrest which perhaps has occurred in Memphis since the war, when rebel spies and guerillas were captured by Federal officers and lodged in the Irving Block, took place this morning, about 8 o'clock, on Front Row, near an alley between Jefferson and Adams streets.

Mr. Earl, the prisoner, is a citizen of Marion, Crittenden county, Arkansas, and the charges against him are that he is the commander of the band of outlawe in that county, who, since last August, and up to the stationing of the militia in the county, made it, by their wanton and bloody deeds, a modern Golgotha and a place to be dreaded more than the lurking grounds of the heartless savage of the Western wilds. On the arrival of the militia in the county, under command of Col. Watson, some two months since, Mr. Earl, from fear of being captured and brought to punishment, or from some other cause, hastily left the county, together with several of his friends, and, coming to Memphis, has been stopping here and in Fayette county with his relations ever since. As it was the intention of the militia to arrest him, a requisition was granted from Governor Brownlow, turning him over to the authorities of Arkansas, a short time ago, and put into the hands of the police for execution, with orders to convey him to Marion.

He was arrested, as stated above, and on arriving at the station-house his person was searched and a quantity of papers found in his possession, which are of themselves the strongest evidence of the correctness of the charges upon which he was arrested. Among the papers the following copy of the order, written and signed in his own hand, disbanding the Ku-Klux-Klan, indicates that his rank in that mysterious order was sufficient to warrant him in the issuing of the paper:

"Hereafter the association known as the Ku-Klux-Klan—in Crittenden county, and all other parts of the State—will be disbanded. This is done in order to and by recent enactment on the part of the State, in restoring civil law and order in the county. By order,

"JOSIAH F. EARL."

Almost immediately after the arrest was made in the morning the fact spread throughout the city among the members of the Ku Klux Klan and a noticeable anxiety and feeling of danger was manifestly apparent as they hastened through the streets to consult their friends. Men came to the station house with perspiration moistening their glowing faces, and frantically inquired the whereabouts of Earl and the cause of his arrest. The officers told them to look on the docket, where was written "J. F. Earl, charged with assassination." The anxious inquirers feigned astonishment at this charge and asked the police to explain. As none of the force, except the officers, were acquainted with the real facts in the case, and as the men at the station house supposed that Earl was arrested for being connected with the horrid assassination which occurred near Raleigh, a week since, they told them that those were the reasons for his arrest, but they could not explain why it was intended to carry the prisoner over to Arkansas. Thus both were deceived. On learning that Mr. Earl had not left the city, but was confined in the station-house, an immediate application was made to Judge Lee to release him on a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted, and the hearing of the case set for this afternoon. In the meantime, Mr. Earl is still in custody, and it is not very probable that (with a requisition from the Governor of Arkansas in the hands of the officers) he will be released.

Mr. Earl is a medium-sized man, with light hair, sandy chin whiskers, and a look and countenance indicating strong and desperate feelings.

When the handcuffs were being locked around his wrists despair and grief, conflicting with a spirit of revenge and resistance, were readable in every lineament of his countenance, and he said, in a piteous voice: "Why do you do this? I will go along peacefully without them." The officers, not wishing to run any risks, did not heed his promise, but locked the manacles.

BIGAMY IN CHICAGO.

A Chicago Actor is Arrested, Charged with Being Married Too Much.

The Chicago Republican of Thursday says:

A requisition from the Governor of New York, for the arrest of George W. Chandler, better known to our theatre-going citizens by his nom de guerre of Garrison, was lately received at Police Headquarters, in this city, and at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the document was served upon the gentleman in question.

The charge is the rather serious one of bigamy, and is preferred by a Marie de St. Havre, to whom Mr. Chandler was married some twelve years ago in Philadelphia. The parties were then quite young, and the match was anything but a happy one. Frequent quarrels ensued, the final result being a separation, made by mutual consent. Chandler afterwards moved to Indiana, where he resided long enough to procure a divorce, which was, as he claims, eventually granted. In the early part of the present theatrical season at the opera house, he was engaged by Messrs. Hess & Co., as one of the regular stock company, where he has since remained, giving general satisfaction to the public and his employers. He has also established himself as proprietor of a dramatic agency, his place of business being at No. 100 Washington street, room 24.

During his professional connection with the Opera House company he became acquainted with Miss Georgie Telbin, a handsome young lady, familiar to our readers as Prince Leander's fair inamorata in the White Fawn, and later as Annie Boleyn, in the Field of the Cloth of Gold. A short time ago he was married to Miss Telbin, and, having hired a house on Wabash avenue, the couple were living in apparent happiness, when their joy was rudely broken in upon by the officers of the law. The arrest was made by detectives Ellis and Hall, and at nine o'clock last evening the prisoner was forwarded to New York.

Mr. Chandler claims to have been regularly divorced from his former wife, and avers that he has the requisite papers in his possession to prove the same. He states, however, that it is probable that she is in ignorance of the fact that a legal separation has been effected.

"Miss" Telbin's character was assumed by another person at the Opera House last evening, the former lady, with true wifely interest, being determined to stick to her newly acquired husband and see him through his troubles.

—The President inaugurated his army appointments by taking up Auger for promotion.

—Consequent upon the in-auger-al—Bore-ch? (Borle.)

—Grant moved into the White House because it was A. J.-sent to him.

—President Grant wears Bismarck gloves. That means biz-mark!

—Good joke. Woodward telling Congress that Borie is a Conservative.

—President Grant did not smoke on the Fourth. Mr. Colfax did. He accepts the Presidential Vice, officially.

—The Philadelphia firemen added largely to the Good-will and Harmony of the Inauguration.

—Why didn't people guess Grant's Secretary of the Treasury? Because he was-too-artful for them. Stewart-full, don't you see?

—There was something very appropriate in A. J. shuffling off to "Johnny Coyle," on Inauguration Day.

—Folks wanted President Grant to ride horseback in the inaugural procession, but he said "no, Cabbin' it is all the rage."

—It should be distinctly understood that although Mr. Borie goes into the Navy Department, he is no relation whatever to that "blustering railer" known as "rude Borie-us."

LONDON, March 6.—No less than ten monster petitions were presented to Queen Victoria at her levee yesterday, praying for amnesty to the Fenian prisoners.

MADRID, March 6.—The subject of the government monopoly in the production of salt and tobacco in the Spanish colonies has been referred to a select committee of the Constituent Cortes.

BERLIN, March 6th.—Mr. Bancroft, the American Minister, gave a grand dinner day before yesterday in honor of the inauguration of President Grant. Count Bismarck was present, and made a pleasant speech, saying that no dispute had ever arisen between the United States and Germany, and the friendly relations of the two countries were now especially guaranteed.

The Cuba Rebellion.

HAVANA, March 6.—A proclamation dated Nassau, N. P., signed by Jose d'Armas, Gen. Dulce's Commissioner to the insurgents, has recently appeared. The document is full of bitter invectives against the Spanish Government, and against Dulce personally, placing that gentleman in an unenviable position, accusing him of the most contemptible actions. Rodrigues Correa, the companion of Commissioner d'Armas, publishes a card to-day in the Diario, wherein he expresses the belief that this proclamation is a forgery, saying that if it were genuine, the statements of d'Armas are false and his conduct infamous.

The clergymen have offered the government one-sixth of their incomes to defray the expenses of the war against the insurgents. Dulce is recruiting another battalion of volunteers for active service. A large quantity of powder has been found secreted in the house of a Mrs. Terry, in this city. A late Cienfuegos paper says there is plenty of blockade-running into the interior at that port.

Information from Puerto Principe states that the insurgent General Quesada is ill with the small-pox.

From Washington.

[Special Despatch to the Philada. Evening Bulletin.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The proceedings in the Senate to-day were uninteresting, except when Mr. Patterson, of N. H., offered a bill repealing so much of the act of 1789, relating to the Treasury Department, as might prevent Mr. Stewart from holding the office of Secretary.

Mr. Sherman said it was important that such action should be had, and hoped there would be no objection.

Mr. Sumner replied that he should oppose any action until the matter was passed upon by some committee, and as there was no committee the bill went to table.

The White House was again closed to visitors to-day. The old doorkeepers were all discharged, and those who have been on duty at the Army Headquarters were installed in their places. A few Senators called on Messrs. Stewart, Washburne and Creswell, of the new Cabinet, and had interviews.

The status of Mr. Stewart, under the act of 1789, was discussed to a considerable extent about the Capitol, to-day. The law was examined by Mr. Jenckes and some other lawyers, and they seemed to think it might be so construed as to allow Mr. Stewart to hold the office.

Indian Treaties—Stewart.

[Special Despatch to the Philada. Evening Bulletin.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Senate has passed a resolution that Indian treaties shall hereafter be considered in open session.

Mr. Sherman and others, during the afternoon, were in conference with Mr. Sumner, endeavoring to induce him to withdraw his objection to action on the President's recommendation about Mr. Stewart's disabilities, but without effect.

General Cox Accepts.

CINCINNATI, March 6.—General J. D. Cox has been receiving the congratulations of numerous friends to-day, and has been officially informed of his appointment to a place in Grant's Cabinet. He will accept, and will leave for Washington on Sunday night.

Interview with Mr. Seward.

[Special Despatch to the Philada. Evening Bulletin.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—In a brief interview of your reporter with Mr. Seward, this afternoon, he declined to express his opinions on public matters, saying, I assure you I have no opinions to give, nor indeed do I think that, under the circumstances, it would be either right or proper to do so. If you say anything in your paper, be pleased to say that Mr. Seward expressed a very favorable opinion of Grant's Cabinet.

Jacob and Moses Depew received pardons from Mr. Johnson to-day.

New York Murder Trials.

[Special Despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—Five murder cases are set down for trial during the coming week. Patrick Kerrigan, for setting fire to the clothes of his mistress; Robert Tillman, for shooting a man; John Carson, for brutally beating his wife; John Leibert, for stabbing a lager beer saloon keeper for refusing to sell him liquor when drunk; Maximilian Muller, for setting fire to a house, burning a female inmate.

From New York.

(Special Despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.)

NEW YORK, March 6.—Mr. Seward arrived at the Astor House at one o'clock this afternoon.

A special Washington despatch to the Commercial Advertiser says the question of Mr. Stewart's eligibility has been submitted to Chief Justice Chase.

The Evening Post publishes a private letter from General Dix, denying the report of his making a speech on the Greek question at a banquet in Paris.

Important Military Orders.

General Orders No. 10.—HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, March 5th, 1869.—The President of the United States directs that the following orders be carried into execution as soon as practicable:

I. The Department of the South will be commanded by Brigadier and Brevet Major General A. H. Terry.

The New York Money Market.

[Special Despatch to the Phila. Evening Bulletin.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—The money market is working with more ease. The bankers find no difficulty in supplying wants at 7 per cent. on stock, and six per cent. on Governments. Discounts remain firm at eight to ten per cent. for prime paper.

The adoption of the bill forbidding the certification of checks, except where the drawer has a deposit equal to his check, causes a good deal of commotion among the banks. Some decline to recognize the law until officially notified of its adoption; others have discontinued the certification entirely; but a majority find it necessary to become parties to observing it, only formally giving a "due bill" to the customer desiring a certification, which bill is deposited and becomes a basis for the certification. In other cases a loan is made by the bank to the customer and the amount is deposited by him in the bank against which the check is certified; and in cases where the brokers keep accounts in two or more banks a check is drawn against one bank and deposited in the other, against which the latter certifies. The banks find no alternative between adopting these expedients and allowing their accounts to go to State banks which are free from restrictions.

United States bonds less firm. Stocks show more steadiness and activity; more buying on the clique stocks, and the present scale of prices appears to be regarded favorable to moderate advance.
