The Bourbons declared the Museum and all that was found in the excavations to be the pri-vate property of the Crown, by royal decree. Victor Emmanuel, on the contrary, com-mences his decree in the following terms: "Considering that it is our duty to give the example of patronizing all great national de-signs, and to guard the decorum of whatever forms the secular patrimony of the glories of signs, and to guard the decorum of whatever forms the secular patrimony of the glories of Italy, we have decreed and do decree," &c. The contrast between the two decrees marks the difference between an absolute and a con-duction of the glories of the difference between an absolute and a constitutional sovereign.
