Demolition of Zion Lutheran Church. The rapid increase of the business interests of our city is gradually clearing away the old landmarks that connect the past with the present.

These remarks have been suggested by the demolition of the quaint old structure at the corner of Fourth and Cherry streets, which for more than a century has been regarded as a centre around which cluster the memories and associations of so many of our German fellow citizens.

The church is known as the Zion German Lutheran Church, and originally came from St. Michael's Lutheran Church, at Fifth and Cherry. The corner-stone of St. Michael's Church was laid in 1742, and it was dedicated in 1749.

to be the paradise of woman, and doubtless with her for the object, the recipient of such chivalrous homage and so much substantial consideration.

You can look forward, then, peacefully, cheerfully; assume the sandals and scapular with no misgivings, and with a face resolutely set toward the future, when you who now address you shall have passed away, and shall have grown old in years and experience, it is too much to request of you to think with kindness of those whose interest now centres in you.

The conclusion of the address the audience was dismissed with a benediction.

Distressing Casualty.—Fall of a House.—Three persons killed.—This morning, about half-past three o'clock, the residents on White's court, in the neighborhood of Broad and Shippen streets, in the Twenty-sixth Ward, were startled by a loud crash. They sprang through their windows, and ascertained that one of the houses on the court had fallen down. The house, which is now in ruins, was an old two-story structure which had been put up about twenty years ago.

The house was owned by Mrs. Hagan, and was occupied by Gottlieb Hagan and his wife, Margaret, aged about fifty years; Thomas, a son, aged twenty years; and Margaret, a daughter, aged sixteen.

At the time of the disaster the family was asleep, and received not the slightest warning of the impending accident. The house tumbled into the cellar, and all the inmates were buried beneath the ruins.

As soon as possible the neighbors got to work to clear the rubbish and extricate the unfortunate persons who were under the pile of bricks and mortar. They were assisted by the police and the firemen, and in a few minutes the bodies of the three persons were recovered.

One of the beams had fallen across his neck. The beam was quickly removed, and Mr. Kidd was taken to the hospital. He is now in a precarious condition, and his recovery is by no means certain.

Mr. Kidd was first discovered. He was alive, and was quickly removed, and taken to the hospital. He is now in a precarious condition, and his recovery is by no means certain.

SURGICAL INSTRUMENTS and druggists' sundries. SNOWDEN & BROTHER, 23 South Eighth street. FIRE AT PATERSON, N. J.—Destruction of Cotton Mill, &c.—Loss about $175,000. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the waste and oil room of the brick cotton mill of R. & A. Adams at the rear of the Phoenix Mill, on Boulevard street, Paterson. The firemen labored well, but without organization or system. The building fell in after burning for about an hour. The machinery was partly new, of the best kind, and is almost a total loss. The fire communicated to Smith & Syle's machine shop, which both were badly damaged by water. John E. Van Winkle & Co.'s machine shop and laundry were also burned out, leaving nothing but shavings. The loss of the four stories of Low's mill (Mill) cotton was badly burned, and much damage was done to it by water. These mills were situated in the midst of the series of Paterson for weaving mosquito netting, 5,381 spindles in self-acting mules. There was also stored in the mill a heavy stock of the last year's manufactured cotton yarn, and bales of new factored cottons and yarns, and bales of new factored cotton. The loss of the Adams Mill is $150,000, on which there is $50,000 insurance in several London, Hartford, New York, and Brooklyn companies. Two hundred hands from this mill are thrown out of employment. Smith & Syle's loss is $3,000; insured for $2,500. J. E. Van Winkle & Co.'s loss is $12,000 to $14,000; insured for $5,000. H. M.
