THE FRIENDS AND THE INDIANS The proposition made by certain Philadelphians that to the Society of Friends shall be committed the transaction of the be likely to receive the approval of many of lay's history of England, describing the congovernment business with the Indians, will the intelligent and honest men of the country. Since Congress has determined that the Indian affairs shall not be transferred to the War Department, the only hope of reform in their dministration lies in the removal of the corrupt rings in the department, and the appointment of officers of irreproachable integ rity. Those who are familiar with the Quaker character, and with the honorable reputation of Friends as a class, will be perfectly willing to accept as the agents of the overnment any persons who might be seected by the Society for the purpose. The Friends, too, have a traditional fitness for this work; and this perhaps inspired them to move in the matter. They are the descendants of the only men, among all the original settlers of this country, who treated the Indians honorably, and succeeded in living peaceably with them. Whether the present generation of savages retains any historical account of the highly proper manner in which William Penn disbursed hatchets, Barlow censon. knives and tenpenny nails for title deeds to land, we do not know. We believe that it will only be necessary to convince the Indians that we desire to treat them fairly, and then to fulfil our contracts and promises among those who profess to have yielded to the werdict of the war. The Indians who are still belligerent, will be entirely unap-proachable by the meekest and most susve Friend, unless he has troops at his back. Be-sides, there are good and bad, and vicious and virtuous individuals among the Indians as among white men, and some of these will be so callous to the operations of the law of be so callous to the operations of the law o'

The country will laugh at Andrew Johnson's Greenville speech. It is the raving utterance of a man who is conscious of guilty failure to do his duty, but who strives by indecent and reckless abuse of his opponents and incoherent, as to suggest that Mr. Johnson inaugurated his entry to private life with tered upon his duties as Vice President four years ago. We could afford to let him pass away from public view now with mingled pity and scorn, if it were not that we are sure itical life. It is his appointed task to torment us to the end of his existence, and we may be well assured that he will make desperate.and egotist.

The United States Senate, the people of the United States and the President received a very severe lecture yesterday from Senator Sprague, of Rhode Island. In the course of it he made a number of complacent allusions Come, friends, let us sing to himself, and the reporter says that he Of the clothes we offer for opening Spring. inished his speech with an interesting biographical sketch of himself. The Government examiner has already made his appearance in New York, and some of the banks merching to their measured loss a presentions in a state are calling in their reserved loans preparatory to a st ato-ment of accounts. Our local banks anticipate a similar visit shortly, and no little uncanness is fast in the ranks visit shortly, and no little uncasiness is fait in the ranks of the borrowers in consequence. Meanwhile the ina-bility of the banks to extend their usual accommoda-tions processity adds to the activity of the outlde mar-teen and gives firmness to the rates of discounts. It would be onite in acromance with precedent. If the Wall street cliques should take adv-mizes of the occasion to add to the matural stringency by locking up greenbacks or gold. At present however, no movement of the kind is fest in our local market, but prudent men are auticipa-ting it by time contracts for cover the period in question, without much regard for rates, which are therefore abnormal

Seward on Johnson.

Gov. Seward wrole the following letter in reply Gov. Seward wrote the following letter in reply to an invitation to attend the Baltimore banquet in honor of Andrew Johnson : "AUBURN, March 10, 1869.—My Dear Sir: Your kind note, which invites me to a banquet to be given by the authorities of Baltimore to the late President, Andrew Johnson, has reached me at an hour too late to allow of my acceptance of the contrest if it were otherwise in ments making them more uniform, and but to the second seco Chief clerks at salaries of $1,000, each; new class clerks at $1,400; second class clerks at $1,200, and third class clerks at $1,000 __a change that will reduce the expenses of the administra-tion $20,000 annually, and secure equal effi-ciency. The compensation of the members of the legislature should be permanently regu-lated by law; $1,000 is recommended as the per-monomet calaxy and no allowance for stationery 8

This looks like a slight Constitutional disagree-ment between the late distinguished Secretary of State and "the great statesman of Tennessee." The Government fire Brigade in shall recognize the struggling Cubans as bellig-Washington.

Washington paper says: An effort has recently been made to onst from his position as Chief Engineer of the Government Fire Brigade, Mr. Wm. Dickson, who has so ably and faithfully filled the position since the organi-ration of the Fire Brigade. The name of Robert Gilleple, of the Taylor Hose, of Philadelphia, was offered for the position. Our citizens will no doubt be giad to hear that Quartermaster General Meigs takes the view that while the affairs of the Brigade are conducted satisfactorily to the Go-vernment, he could not recommend a change, ernment, he could not recommend a change and has so reported to the Secretary of War.

Retrenchment in the War Department. [Special Despatch to the Phila, Evening Bulletin.] WARHINGTON, March 25 .- The Military Committee are maturing a bill looking towards the further retrenchment of expenses in the Wa Department, and will report it to the House for action at as early a day as possible. They are of The opinion that in the Quartermaster's Department alone three or four millions can be saved annually by proper managemen The committee say that that department is paying annually for the rent of buildings alone, in various parts of the country, sums of money which would in four years' time pay for the buildings so occupied. In fact, an investigation shows that money has been used in a very extravagant manner, and the committee have determined to cut down the expenses of this branch of the War Department. It is probable they will at the same time report a bill cutting down the Broche Tapestry Terries, number of officers in the Quartermaster's Department, and provide for mustering out of service The Latest Exhibition of French Taste those whose services are not actually needed The same committee have also under considerai tion the question of mustering out a large number of officers who are on the retired list. There are powards of seven hundred such officers, and the opinion is entertained that the Government hould reduce this list to a large extent.

The Civil Tenure Bill.

Brecial Despatch to the Philada.
