THE WITHDRAWAL OF DISTILLED SPIRITS FROM BONDED WAREHOUSES .- The following important correspondence has recently passed between Charles Abel, Esq., Collector of Internal Revenue,

Charles Abel, Esq., Collector of Internal Revenue, First District of Pennsylvania, and the Internal Revenue Department at Washington:

"PHILADELPHIA, March 24, 1869.—Sir—Section 56 of the act of July 20, 1868, provides 'that all distilled spirits in any bonded warehouse shall, within nine months after the passage of this act, be withdrawn from such warehouse, and the taxes paid on the same; and the casks or packages containing said spirits shall be marked and stamped and be subject to the same requirements as if manufactured after the passage of this act.'

"As there are about one million gallons of spirits now in the Penn bended warehouse, the withdrawal of which will consume considerable time, I very respectfully ask whether I am authorized to receive applications for withdrawal until the 20th of April Jnext, or whether all the spirits must be actually withdrawn at that time.

"Respectfully, your obedient servant,

"Collector 1st District, Penna."

Mary fretted over the affair, and concluded to drown her sorrows and herself by plunging into the Delaware. She appeared at Noble street wharf, about 11 o'clock on Saturday night, and looked into the deep water. She night, and noted into the deep water. See besitated at first, but finally made up her mind to take the fatal leap. At this time Officer Morris, of the Harbor Police, came along. He observed the woman. She then thanked the officer for saving her life, promised not to at-tempt to take it again, and was then released.

THE MOYAMENSING LEVEE .- The annual reunion of this company will take place this evening at the Academy of Music. In fact, every preparation for the enjoyment and the comfort of their guests, even to the minutest detail, has been completed. The New Indian Scheme.

The New Indian Scheme.

The Boston Advertiser's Washington correspondence contains the following:
The Indian Committee of the Senate, to-morrow morning, will probably dispose of the question raised by the proposition made by Mr. Geo. H. Stuart and other prominent gentlemen. There is a good ceal of interesting history connected with this matter, which may be briefly stated. About a dozen leading Quakers visited Washington in January and laid before the President their views on Indian affairs. He afterwards had considerable correspondence with them, and finally determined to give them an opportunity to ald him in developing his Indian wards had considerable correspondence with them, and finally determined to give them an opportunity to aid him in developing his Indian policy. His purpose was to appoint many members of that Society as agents and superlutendents, and support their labors so far as might be necessary with the military. Half a dozen of them came here last Monday to say that they thought it best to begin their work on a small scale and in one section of the Indian country, adding that if they were successful the policy could be extended in full. It appears that Mr. Stuart, and other gentlemen not Quakers, had conceived the idea of larger labors through an unpaid commission of five or seven gentlemen of high standing, and on Wednesday these persons, with two or three Quakers and Mr. E. S. Tobey, of Boston, who was invited to go as representing the New England Congregationalists, called on the President and developed the views, Mr. Wm. Welsh, of Philadelphia, being their spokesman, and the others taking part in the subsequent conversation. On Thursday, some of the gentlemen were before the Indian Committee of the Senate, with letters of commendation from the President and the Secretary of the Interior. Their plan has not yet been presented in detail, but it looks to the appointment, as already stated, of a commission of five or seven persons without compensation, who shall sent d in detail, but it looks to the appointment, as already stated, of a commission of five or seven persons, without compensation, who shall nid the government in the work of civilizating and Christanizing the Indians. The President's original Quaker policy has not been abandoned, but is for the moment overshadowed by the idea of Messrs. Welsh and Stuart, and might be merged into it if Congress chooses to adopt the proposition of these gentlemen. The Quakers proposed to work under the present civil administration of Indian affairs. The Stuart and Welsh plan is to put $3,000,000 at the control of their proposed commission, to carry out the agreements made with

$3,000,000 at the control of their proposed com-mission, to carry out the agreements made with the Sioux tribes last summer by General Sher-man's Indian peace commission. The low-est estimate necessary to fulfil those treaties is $1,700,000, and this was the amount added by the Senate to the Indian appropriation last session, which failed and is again under con-sideration. The Indian committee has now to decide between adding this sum to the pending decide between adding this sum to the pending bill for expenditure in the ordinary manner, or creating this commission and putting $3,000,000 at its command. The committee is favorable enough to the commission, but is quite disinclined to give it the money it asks. It will be clined to give it the money it asks. It will be seen that the issue raised involves a very considerable and most radical change in our Indian pelicy. It the plan of Messrs. Stuart and Welsh is adopted, we shall have $3,000,000 going through the hands of this commission, and $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 through the Indian Bureau. Whatever decision is reached to-morrow by the Indian Committee, it is certain that the new plan cannot go through Congress the new plan cannot go through Congress without a pretty thorough discussion. CITY NOTICES.
