A MAUYLAND MURDER.

A Woman E ills Her Betrayer.

A Woman E ills Her Betrayer. The Baltimore American of last evening con-tains the following account of a horrible affair, the announcement of which has been made already by telegraph: The quiet village of Jarrettsville, Harford county, was thrown into a state of the utmost excitement and confusion by a tragedy which occurred in its bounds on Saturday ovening last, about 6 o'clock. Nicholas McComas, a young man living about two miles from the village, was shot and almost instantly killed by Miss Martha J. Cairns, who resides the same distance from Jarrettsville, but in a different direction from it than the hones of McComas. The accounts given of the melancholy affair render it certain that McComas betrayed Miss Cairns over a year ago, under the promise of marriage, and in January last a child was born, which is living at the present time. Miss Cairns frequently importhe present time. Miss Cairns frequently impor-tuned McComas to fulfil his promise of marrytuned McComes to fulfil his promise of marry-ing her, but by equivocations and excuses he evaded her requests until the fell towards him no other feeling then utter hatred and determination to averge her injuries. On Saturday evolog he had ridden into Jarrettsville for the purpose of attending a meeting of a militia company, of which he was a member, and at the time of the murder was in the yard at the rear of the tayern. Must Cairns followed him to Jarretts-ville and on arriving at the tayern dismonnted ville, and on arriving at the tavern dismonster from her horse, fastened him securely, and passing into the ladics' apprendix, removed her, riding into the lacies' apartment, removed her, riding ekirt, her hat and other incumbrances that might retard her movements. Leaving the ladies' apartment with a Colv's revolver in her haud, she walktd directly through the bar-room, which was full of men, and stepped out upon a back porch, which overlooked the yard where McComas was. Standing in the doorway open ing from the bar on the porch, she took delib erate aim with her platol at McComas and fired. The builet struck him in the breast, and as he recled wildly toward the pillars which held up which took effect. He clasped the pillars of the which took effect. He clasped the pillars of the porch,' and endeavored to sustain himself by them, but weak as he was from the rapid flow of thood from the wound, his strength falled him and he full to the ground. She walked directly up to him, and, standing over him, fired the two last shots from her revolver into his body, one lodging in his right leg and the other in the groin. Still carry-ing her revolver in her hand, she passed back through the crowd of men, who, as if stricken through the crowd of men, who, as if stricken conceless by the awful scene being enact d before their eyrs, did not move a finger 10 bar her pas sage. Along the porch, through the barroom, and back to the ladies' apartment she walked without showing a trace of emotion or a qualm of nervousness. In the dressing room she resumed her riding

In the dressing room she resumed her riding habit, and again mounting her hores, the gal-loped buck towards her home, and had gone u considerable distance from the village before any one thought of following her. Mr. Jarrett rode after her, and joining her about a mile from Jar-rettsville, she asked him if McComas was do ad-He replied yes, when she said, "I told him what I was going to do." She exhibited no algans of regret, and was apparently as composed as if she had just finished the most ordinary action. Ou Studdy the rode to Bellair and gave herself up to the authorities. Miss Cairns is about thirty, and McComas was thirty-even years of age.

up to the authorities. Miss Gairos is about thirty, and McComas was thirty-even years of ege. Both the parties belonged to highly respectable families, and held a foremost position in the social life of the cousty. The feeling of excite-ment in regard of this act of summary retribution runs very high in the neighborhood, but public opinion is generally on the side of Miss Cairos. McComas is supposed to have been killed by the first shot which struck him, and the last two shots were probably fited into ins dead body. Some time since Miss Cairos brought suit signipsi McComas for breach of promise, but the case had not yet come to trial.

-The Emperor Napoleon has postponed the execution of his plan to creet a splendid status to his mother, Qaren Hortense. The uppleasant allogions to her with which the opposition papers in France have recently abounded, had no doubt-much to do with this decision.
