My advice to all young men is, be an honorable organ-grinder, or an expresident, or a gorilla, or go into the cold victual business, or peddle matches, but don't agricult.

Thought a small farm in New Jersey, and became a husbandman. I stocked the estate with all the usual apparatus, and as I didn't know anything more about farming than a goose knows about four dollars a week, I engaged a man named Straddles as my constitutional adviser. Straddles professed to be up to all the bucolic dodges, but I must contess, after eighteen months' trial, I consider Straddles a fraud. As an absolute failure he is a perfect success.

In the first place there was not a drop of water on the premises, and Straddles said he would advise me, as a friend, to dig a well. So I got a lot of tools and began. We hadn't dug more than six feet before we struck solid rock. I wanted to slant her off to one side, but Straddles observed that that was the rock on which the State of New Jersey was founded, and we would have to blast her.

St. James's Terrace, April 1, 1869.—The public references made to my book, "New America," first by Mr. Ball, in the House of Commons, and still more recently by the American Ambassador at Newcastle, require from me a word of explanation.

I never meant to offer my pictures of the Mormons and Free Lovers as samples of American religious life. Quite otherwise. I described them as disturbing forces in that religious life. The key-note of "New America" is given in the Preface, in these words:

The Morphadelphia —Fstate of RFBECGA J. FULL TON. deceased.—The Auditor Apple The Auditor Apple finest earthquakes you ever saw in all your born days. It shook down two chimneys and the lightning rod, and Straddles was struck in the head with a falling brick. We dug in that well for a week, and we struck everything but water. I could have got oil, or coal, or marl, or gold, or marble, or anything else out of that excavation, but was looking for cold water just then, and I uldn't touch anything else. Straddles took me aside at the end of the week, and confidentially advised me to stick at it; "for," says he, "you know if you can't just get water at first, if you keep on you're bound to strike the ocean on the other side, and then you've got a sure thing of it; you've got it all in your own hands, you under stand."

Straddles put me in mind of the man who grew his carrots so long, that the Chinese pulled them through by the roots from the opposite side of the globe before he got a great plantation, liberty and religion exercise pulled them through by the roots from the opposite side of the globe before he got a great plantation, liberty and religion exercise a power over the forms of social and domestic life unknown at home. I have seen too much of the work effected by the American religious societies—not in the United States only, but in Syria and down, and this worked well enough until one morning, when the flies were bad, and the near ox got his brush up, stone and all, and liked to have brained my oldest boy.

I've got the tail tied to his off hind leg now, and if he wants to switch it, he s got to litt himself off of the ground.

I planted some onions a while ago, and I waited all summer to see the plants bear. But they didn't. After they had gone to good, littled all summer to see the plants bear. But they didn't. After they had gone to good justified the inference that the free roligious life of American is a failure.

they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence, Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its bideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be-suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by emptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Barsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this BARSAPARILLLA: 8t. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringuorm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. and the various Utcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will care the complaint. Leucorrhae or Whites, Uterine Utcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. the House go into committee on the bill for the Disestablishment of the Irish Church. Mr. New-degate, Conservative, moved as an amendment that the House go into committee in six months from the present day. This motion was equivalent to an indefinite postponement. A lively debate followed, during which Mr. R. S. Aytonn, member for Kirkaldy, created a sensation by declaring his objections to that clause in the bill lege. Mr. Aytour is a Liberal, and voted with the passed to its second reading. His declaration was followed by a scene of great excitement The Opposition cheered repeatedly, and counter cheers and other interruptions came from the Ministerial benches. When Mr. Aytonn ended his remarks the confusion subsided, and the debate was continued. Most of the speeches were nade by the minor members of the Opposition at the end of this discussion, which lasted six hours, Mr. Gladstone rose and said due care would be given by the government to the terms of the provision made for Maynooth College. He attribuled much of the opposition to the bill to the power of the clergy in Ireland. That power had been built up by the old policy of England, which has lately been partially reversed, and was now about to be finally and completely abandoned. He concluded by declaring that the success of this was not a question of party, but of justice. Disraeli followed. He disapproved of the
