From Paris they were carried to the chief European capitals, and at last they came to America. New York proyed to be a proswe america. New York proved to be a prosperous home for them; but their popularity is on the wane there, as it has been in Paris ever since 1867. In Philadelphia the rage for them broke out violently, and the noble HENRY PHILLIPPL Academy of Music, built for the encouragement of art in its purest and best forms, was prostituted to the exhibition of vulgar dances dance of the opening night. It is worthy of mention, also, as a sign of improving taste, that the only piece for a record performance of which there has been a popular demand, is a genteel comic opera, with really clever and pretty music. Even many of the old admirers of Opera Bouffs have become wearied and disgusted with the vnlgar operas. Some of the recent exhibitions have received he condemnation of all the respectable and ntelligently conducted papers of the city, the unday papers being especially severe. There is, therefore, a strong probability that he career of the smutty opera—to use a good old English word—in America is approaching its end. APEL 18—The change in the condition of the banks was the important feature of the week in financial circles and was the underlying cause of important movements in the stock and general markets. The weekly statement as presented yesterday afterneon is reflective of a prompt and gratifying return of currency to the metropolis, in accordance with the usual turn of money in this direction at this period of the year. The gain of legal tenders during the week was considerably over two millions of dollars, and the loss in specie less than a million. Had the Hamburg steamer strived a day earlier the banks would have doubtless exhibited a slight gain in specie. The banks have nine millions less in specie than last year, which is the unfavorable feature of their condition. would have doubtless exhibited a slight gain in specie. The banks have nine millions less in specie than last year, which is the unfavorable feature of their condition. Instance as gold is so necessary a commodity to the importing merchania, it would be proper for Secretary Boutwell to content the strong content well to content the strong content well to content the strong content with the large gold balance new in the Treasury vauls or lending it. It is the only currency for the importing business, and is just now too limited in its amount to go sround; mong those who want it. The holders once in a while take a notien to "squeeze" the market, and up goes the price, or up goes the borrowing rate. Keeping a bundred millions idde gold in the Treasury is a clear tose of seven millions per annum to the country. Why cur not the Secretary of the Treasury authorize Mr. Van Dyck to lend whatever portion of this amount our merchants need? They will give hum ample security, such as government bonds. If he is apprehensive that the plades are fluctuating in price they will be content to receive 90 per cent. of the May coupons of the five-twenties held abread, seat hither after the announcement that payment would be made upon presentation, less the rebate, produced a firmer tone to the foreign exchanges, which receivered fully a quarter per cent. upon the quotations ruling since the late decline was brought about.
