Mr. Seward would have made these matters subjects of prolix and upprofitable correspondence, after the encient diplomatic fashion. Secretary Fish, true to the Grant theory of few but weighty vords, expresses the animus of the government with brevity, but with unmistakeable distinctness. It is very evident from his tone that the President has made up his mind not

No sensible man in this country desires war either with Spain or Great Britain; neither do these nations care about a conflict with us. They will be more anxious to avoid it, if we are ready for it, and if we show ourselves quick to resent insult and to demand atonement for injury. Apparent eagerness to conciliate and weak submission to wrong are much more likely to bring it will be found on our first page. about ultimate collision than a swift call for apology and reparation. In the present condition of public sentiment the latter course will be more popular at any rate. The feeling against England is so very bitter, and the popular sympathy with Cuba so strong, that such action as that taken by the Secretary of State will be certain of popular approval. We anticipate the best and most wholesome results from it, and we hope it will be succeeded, in the case of Eugland, by some deceded action on the subject of the Alabama chains, and in the case of Cuba by a demand apology and reparation. In the present conchims, and in the case of Cuba by a demand that the rebels shall be treated like human beings by the Spaniards.

Selection of the first states of the first stat this small Senator for that small State,—and we mean no disrespect to gallant little Rhode Island,—has undertaken to abuse man better Island,—has undertaken to abuse men better than himself, to lecture men wiser than himself, to belittle men greater than himself, until he has become a public nuisance, and Senators have been driven, in self-defence from his nauseating eyotism, to allow defence from his nauseating egotism, to allow him to print his foolish tirades, rather than to inflict them upon the time and the ear of the genate.

It is evident that the Senate is as sick and thread of Sprague as the country is at large. It is a pity that either Senator Anthony or Senator Nye or Senator Abbott should waste words in defending themselves or their friends against such crazy nonsense as that which Mr. Sprague has chosen to pour out the public or a Senator Nye or Senator upon the public ear. Senator Nye's suggestion westerday is the right one "Soank streets."

so grossly insulted, persuade him to reliauish a seat which he is no longer fit to fill. THE FOREIGN APPOINTMENTS. The appointment of Mr. Sanford as Minister to Spain appears to have been so generally unpopular, that the Senate has recognized it and tabled the nomination by a very decided vote. This rejection carries with it the new appointment to Belgium, and Mr. Sanford will be allowed to centinue in the enjoyment of that quiet post, for which he is well fitted by his long experience. Who the President will now send in for Madrid, remains to be seen. It has been stated on reliable authority that the first selection for the Spanish mission was General Sickles, but that he was ruled out, under the influence of Secretary Fish, who strongly urged the appointment of Mr. EDWARD P. KELLY, Sauford. In all probability another nomination will be sent in immediately, as it is of the utmost importance that this country should be fully and properly represented at Madrid in the present juncture of affairs.

The nomination of Mr. Carlile for Sweden. after getting safely through the Senate, without a division, was reconsidered yesterday, and the probabilities now are that he will not be confirmed. His appointment is far from satisfactory to the people of his State, as he has gained a rather unenviable reputation as a political trimmer, who drifted off on the muddy tide of Johnsonism, and only paddled himself back to the Republican shore in time to throw up his cap and hurrah for Grant, when his elevation to the Presidency became a foregone conclusion. Where there are so many good and true men who never "left their first estate," but stood firmly by the principles which Johnsonism labored to overthrow, there will be and ought to be a general and very urgent objection to gentlemen of Mr. Carlile's school, who appear to have drifted hither and thither in their desire to be on what seemed to them to be the winning side.

We want positive men in all our foreign missions, and Mr. Carlile's record does not indicate that he belongs to that class. Captain Henry A. Wise, U. S. N., died on to be trifled with, for there is even a suggestion | the 1st inst., at Naples, whither he had gone of menace in these demands. It was nearly | for his health. Removals in the Trensury Departments.

(Special Departs to the Palls. Evening Balletin.)

Washington, April 23.—The work of making removals in the Treasury Department still progresses rapidly, and Secretary Boutwell seems determined to remove all clerks whose services are not actually needed, as well as those who are unfitted for their positions by incompetency.

In the Third Auditor's office alone nearly two hundred removals have been made, including many ex-soldiers.

While the removals have been impartially made yet when the new appointments have so far as to appoint a man who is an intimate friend of Vallandigham, and was a bitter opponent of the prosecution of the late war against the reb-ls. This man, C. M. Smith, of Batavia, Ohio, has been for years a Democratic politician with considerable local promicratic politician.

State of Thermometer This Day at the Bulletin Office. The Greatest Undertaking of the Age: (From the Leavenworth Commercial.)
The unusual activity manifested of late by the merchants and leading capitalists of St. Louis, in view of the alleged feasibility of diverting the immense grain trade of the Northwest from Chicago to St. Louis, has aroused the grain dealers of Chicago to a sense of their danger, and with the prompiness for which that city is famous, her commission merchants have already devised a plan not only to frustrate the designs of St. Louis, but one which, if successfully carried out, will seriously damage the foreign commerce of Oswego and other great grain entrepots on the lakes, and make Chicago unquestionably the greatest commercial city on the continent.

The enterprise referred to is the turning of the waters of the great lakes into the Mississippi river, by means of a mammoth ship canal, of a that can be secured between Chleago and the mouth of the canal at a point on the Mississippi, which the directors do not reveal for prudential reasons (speculative), it is claimed that the entire drainage of the lakes can be made by this artifitenth its present volume.

The Mississippi river will be so much augmented in size that the largest vessels in the world can navigate its waters. Steam tugs of extraordinary power will bring sailing vessels from New The feasibility of this startling project is pro-nonced by the most accomplished engineers, among whom is B. B.
