A REVIEW

The members of the Grand Lodge of the United States, seated in carriages, reviewed the proccession as it countermarched on Broad street, and then took their positions in the line atter the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in the Twentieth Division.

THE APPEARANCE OF THE PROCESSION As it countermarched on Broad street was mag-As it could eministene out of a bidde shoet was had mificent. The line extended as far as the eye could perceive. The members of the Order all wore their regalias, and the officers wore their ewels or insignis of officer. The tich and splendid regalias of the different Grand Lodges attracted much attention.

The various lodges all turned out very strong, The various lodges all turned out very strong, some of them occupying at least two squares, and the marching was very regular. In addition to the two bands furnished to each division, many of the lodges were provided with bands. Nearly every lodge carried a handsome satin banner, several having been gifts from ladies this more the following lodges, among others.

The streets through which the procession passed were through which the dwelling houses of the dwelling houses of the dwelling houses of the dwelling houses and of the dwelling houses and ethildren, and many of the dwelling houses were tastefully decorated.
