No one who has ever had any personal connection with any public or private charity can be ignorant of the ease with which such charges of abuse can be trumped up upon the most trifling foundation. It has been a subject of wide-spread regret that Senator Connell should have garnished his speech in favor of the Board of rusts with this mass of stuff, and this regret, as we happen to know, has been largely shared by many of President Allen's best friends. It was totally unnecessary to advocate the Board of Trusts on any such grounds, nd the case was rather weakened than othervaluable to the other nations of Europe, and wise by this revival of stories which had their origin in a personal persecution of a brave coldier and an honest, upright and useful

But there is a very serious objection to the principle upon which Judge Allison bases his eference to Girard College, and as the point is not a legal or judicial one it may properly be criticized from a laic point of view. Judge Allicon says:

"The exercise of arbitrary power, when hidden As Girard College is cited as a "marked

Is Spain fitted for Republicanism? We fear that such is not the case. It is a mighty ment. Success in the latter, requires reliance. The Spaniards do not lack institudevotion to their religion and ministers; and priestly influence is ever adverse to popular liberty and enlightenment. The majority do not want a Republic. The last general election proved this with unmistakable distinctness; and we fear that even under a liberal government there would be strong parties stupidly favoring a return to wallowing in the mire of despotism. Still, the experiment is worth trying. Indeed, there seems to be to alternative. If it is honestly undertaken. Spain will have the hearty sympathy and encouragement of our people, and of the friends of liberty everywhere. If the Republic succeeds the example will be immensely

MAY 4.—The activity in mency was more noticeable to day, and as high as gold inherest was paid upon call loam but the great majority of transactions took place at 7 per cent. currency. The cliques are supposed to be aggravating the actual demand for money, which secure during the werk, about the lat of May, in the retitement of mortgages and the contraction of other real estate on gagments. In the buoyant market which ensued upon the favorable bank statement day, they not only unloaded their "long" stock, but went "short" of a vast amount more. The "street" is always weak as against the cliques, for the disorganized multitode stremeresu-capilled of a panic. The cliques have also been instrumental in causing the rise in gold, for simultaneous with their "bear" operations in stocks they have been "bille" in gold, the relations of the two markets enabling them to consistently carry on their divarse operations. Another caure of the aggravation is found in the high rate for carrying gold, which to-day ranged up to ten per cent. and induced many to withdraw funds and do their own carrying. The money market is to an anomalous condition and difficult to characterize. Commercial paper was quo ed at from even and a half to nine per cent.

Wednesday, May 5. 1869.—The chief feature in the local money market is a revival of the speculative spirit, which has been for some few days dormant. The case nithe money market is, no doubt the direct cause, the comparative quiet prevailing in all the marts of trade failing to create entificient demand for the capital daily thrown on the market for employment. The banks are at the present time overstocked, and are glad to accommedate brokers at nominal rates rather than keen large balances in reserve unemployed. As a safety vive this speculative spirit is often beneficial, but too often, unfortunately, when carried beyond the limits of moderations and prudence, it is decidedly the reverse; we would therefore recommend caution on the part of the inimitizated. The banks are just now liberal, because they can afford it, but if a sudden call should be made upon them by the Compt oller, which is not improbable, a withdrawal of their loans would prove anything but convenient to the holders of stocks on bottoned capital.
