A European resident of Macassar gives a vivid description of this scene in Malay:

One morning, as we were sitting at break. One morning, as we were sitting at break there was an "Amok" in the village—in other words, that a man was "running a muck." Orders were immediately given to shut and fasten the gates of our inclosure; but, hearing nothing for some time, we went out, and found there had been a false alarm, owing to a slave having run away, declaring he would "amok," because his master wanted to sell him. A short time before, a man had been killed at a gaming-table, because having and been killed at a gaming-table, because having run.
