many previous acts of munificence to this parish.

The work, which is of the most elaborate character, and which has occupied some two months in execution, has been just completed, and the chancel was re-dedicated by appropriate services to-day. At the invitation of the Rector, Rev. Wm. A. White, a large number of the clergy were present and assisted in the services, and were hospitably entertained afterwards at the new Rectory. Interesting addresses were also made by several of the clergy. The music, by the full choir, under the able direction of Dr. William Camac, with Mr. Hodson presiding at the organ, was appropriate and churchly.

made by several of the clergy. The music, by the full choir, under the able direction of Dr. William Camac, with Mr. Hodson presiding at the organ, was appropriate and churchly.

The decoration of the interior of churches in polychrome had its origin in the middle ages, when the gorgeous colors and quaint devices of heraldry were gradually transferred from the painted monuments and tapestry on the walls of churches to the walls themselves. The chancel of St. Timothy's Church is of an apsidal or semi-octagonal form, and the celling, which is of open timber, is divided into eight compartments, in each of which is introduced the half-length figure of an angel in the posture of adoration, exquisitely painted in natural colors, thus forming a group apparently uniting in the ascription (taken from the Book of Revelations) which appears on the cornice immediately below them, in old Lombardic characters, gold on a bright blue ground: "Amen, Blessing, and Glory, and Wisdom, and Thankegiving, and Honor, and Power, and Might be unto our God forever and ever." The lancet windows are richly canopled and crocketted in gold upon a dark maroon ground, while between them extends a band of purple, with the legend in gold church text, "Come unto me all that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

The wainscotting is treated with a diaper pattern of feur de lis, which shows a portion of the wood. The chancel arch bears on a light buff label, worked over with a darker shade, giving it a damask effect, in a dark blue decorated Lombardic character, the words "Strength and beauty are in Thy sanctuary." This label is heavily crocketted along the top edge in a deep creating of bold and rich design. In short, the entire walls of the chancel, celling, rafters and furniture are covered with the richest colors and gilding, but yet so skillfully disposed and blended as to impart a quiet, subdued and unobyrusive effect; and, by the judielous use of patterns of moderate size, the area of the chancel is apparently greatly increas increased. A new altar of black walnut, and of a massive but correct design, has also been presented to the church, and the pipes of the organ are decorated with crimson and gold crocketts and fleur de lis, with a bold white chevron across their entire front. St. Timothy's Church, being of early Ruglish Gothic architecture, built of solid pointed atone, altuated in a beautiful rural country, and almost embowered in shade and overgrown with almost embowered in shade and overgrown with amost empowered in shade and overgrown with ivy, and already having the appearance of great age, may now be considered one of our most beautiful country churches.

Distressing Svicide.—Mrs. Margaret Beatty, aged seventy-five years, residing on Chestnut airest, between Centre and Church streets, in Manayunk, committed suicide by hanging this morning. She used a clothes line for the purpose. One end of the rope was placed around her neck and the other was fastened to a staple in the wall. She then jumped from a chair on which she had stood while tying the rope. Nobody was in the house except Mrs. Beatty. A geutleman while passing the house discovered her hanging upon the wall, but then she was dead. About a year ago she was nearly suffocated by escaping gas, and since that time she has been partially deranged.

STREET CLEANSING .- The parties who received the street cleansing contracts from the Board of Health are at work, and the reports of the Lieu-Health are at work, and the reports of the Lieutenants of Police, made to the Mayor, and then transmitted to the Health office, show that considerable improvement has already been made in the condition of the streets. Some of the contractors have not yet been able to segare the number of men and carts which they dealer, and in their districts the work progress a little slowly at districts the work progresses a little slowly at present. CHICKEBING & SONS' REDUCED PRICE LIST.—
We notice with pleasure the movement of the old and prosperous house of Chickering & Sons toward the establishment of a uniform or one price system in the retailing of plano-fortes. The system of "fancy prices" has been adopted for years by the plano trade, the practice being to have a price list marked up so high that they could afford to be beaten down from $100 to $150 below the prices set down. The trade immorality of this system must be patent to everybody, and purchasers could not fail to look upon it as extortionate, or something worse; for the practice could not be honorable, where one price is acked and another taken, and a profit left to the CHICKEBING & SONS' REDUCED PRICE LIST .s asked and another taken, and a profit left to the is asked and another taken, and a profit left to the seller even then!

Chickering & Sons have calculated the cost of their pianos through a series of years, and have made out a list of prices, after adding to the cost of manufacture a fair manufacturer's profit, and without discount to the purchaser, which they effer to the public, satisfied that it will meet with general approval. Comparing the two price lists, with discount to purchaser, was $600, while by the new list the same piano, without discount, is 475. The same with the grands—sld list, $1,500; new list, $1,200. We think it was time that these fictitious prices should be abolished, and a fair business system be established, where the buyer knows just what he has to pay.

Excursion.—The first excursion of the season to Atlantic City will take place on Monday, June 21st, on the occasion of the opening of the new Excursion House, recently built by the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company. THE MARCH OF CIVILIZATION, New Castle, Bel., Gets a New Whip-ping-Post.

The Wilmington Commercial says:
Owing to the dilapidated condition of the ancient whipping-post and pillory, the latter, it is said, being unsafe for prisoners to stand on, the Jail Commissioners of the county, in order to meet the demand for the legal vindication of Delaware justice, are compelled to erect a new whipping-post and pillory at New Castle, for the accommodation of convicts to be sentenced at the approaching term of Court. The new post and pillory will be erected in a very substantial nanner, and will afford ample accommodation to all who require its use. It will be built with an elevated observatory as heretofore, from which the convict, in a semi-horizontal position, can view the surrounding spectators, and the magnificent landscape of the prison grounds. This new improvement will be completed during the improvement will be completed during the coming week, and will be ready for use at the first Saturday of the approaching term.

Columbus, May 4,1869 — To St. A. D. Balcomba

day. Shot Mr. Nelson and drove off stock. This telegram of instan depredations and murder comes in verification of the reports which have been coming from the west, that the hostile Indians were moving to attack the settlements on the Union Pacific Railroad.

Minister Motley at Home. BOSTON, May 8, 1869.—Hon John Lothrop Motley, the newly appointed Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Great Britain, will spend the intervening time previous to his departure for England at his home in this city. His residence is at No. 2 Park street, directly opposite the most beautiful portion of Boston Common, and in what may be truly termed the most aristocratic part of the city. The interior is now in a topsy-turvy condition, termed the most aristocratic part of the city. The interior is now in a topsy-turvy condition, in consequence of the packing up and forwarding of the Minister's effects to the scene of his tuture official duties. He arrived here from Washington the latter part of the present week, and has remained quietly at his home ever since, and received only a few very intimate friends. He will sail from New York on the 19th instant, and bid iarewell to his Boston home on the 17th.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Complete the stretch of that majeric way
Which links the Atlantic to the distant shore
Where men grow grapes, and digsthe glittering ore.
The imposing piles the ancients reared convey

The pyramids were never built to pay,

Let us rejoice, that since the world began
No age has wrought such glorious things for man,

We shame the dull old cycles gone before;
But as improvement brings its wealth along,
Itad natures, too, progress in doing wrong;
Thieves will break through and steal incless you awe

A BOLD ROBBERY.—Dr. G. Humpbrey, of Beverly, aged eighty-seven years, while at the Colton Dental Association, No. 787 Walnut street, breathed the laughing gas and had three teeth extracted. On awakening, he exclaimed, "You rascals, you have robbed me!" "Robbed yon of what?" the operator asked, "Of my teeth," said he.

Twelve thousand nine hundred persons have been robbed of their teeth at the same place within the past year, among whom one of the proprietors of this paper may be numbered as one of the victims.
