This bit of telegraphic sensation appears to have been a stock jobbing fable: concocted in the interest of the gld gamblers operating for a rise in the premium and a decline in bends, both of which objects were attained, not with standing the fact that the report was discredited by some of the leading house. From the first.

Gold was in free supply, increasing in ease towards the close, when transactious were at five and six per cont. for carrying, the extreme rates paid being four to seven per cent. c. overnments, under the depression occasioned by the e Washington despatch that sent gold up, opened k and unsteady, continuing quite leversh through day, in consequence of the decline. money market is without change, with a good pply of currency corresponding to an active demand-berate on call loans remains at seven per cent, with the sucual exceptions at six.

The influences which disturbed gold and governments The influences which disturbed gold and governments failed to operate to any degree upon the general stock list, the market opening strongly active. New York Central selling at 182%, and continuing with frequent fluctuations to maintain fair figures. The new system of dealing operated toward the close to produce a decline, brokers getting fatigued with their continuous inbor in the Long Room and retiring earlier than usual. The principal transactions were in the speculative railway stocks, the expresses and miscellaneous shares, excepting Maripoca, in the latter, being neglected.

Wednesday, May 12, 1869.—Some misconception existing in the public mind as to Mr. Boutwell's intentions in relation to the purchase of 5-20's with the proceeds of the gold sales, the Secretary has authoritatively announced that the bends so purchased have no connection with the sinaing fund authorized by law, and that instead of being cancelled, as supposed by many, they will be held for subsequent disposal by him as circumstances might dictate. New York Money Market.

IFrom the New York Herald of today.

May 11.—The principal feature of interest in Wall street to-day was the inauguration of the new order of higs consequent upon the consolidation of the several sicek boards. The change was made easily and without disturbance to the business interests of the street, although it was felt before the day was out that the plan of aboilshing calls entirely upon the speculative stocks was objectionable in many respects. Late in the aftermoon, at a meeting of the Governing Committee, a special committee of five was appointed to complete the regulations being urged, it is stated they decided to have two calls in the Long Room each day of the speculative stocks commencing with to-morrow morning.

Dealings in the gold and government markets to-day turned mainly upon the announcement markets to-day turned mainly upon the announcement market so-day turned mainly upon the announcement market so-day applying any bonde purchased by hint to the creation of a sinking fund, but might relesue them. The immediate effect of this was to harden gold, which, opening at 133%, whence it fell off again to 133%, rallying later, however, and cleaning in the Gold Room at three o'clock at 123%. The advance was likewise aided by despatches stating that bonds had fallen off in London, variously to 77%, to 7%, and reports of Cuban successes. Business was continued after the adjournment of the board at the high figure, but upon the receipt of improved quotations in London. the premum declined and stood at the close at 137% 137%, Just about this time also information was received, although not generally circulated, that the statement credited to Secretary Bouwell of his intentian to reissue whatever bonds he might purchase, if he saw fit, was never made by him. The contradiction was by his authority, and ioniained the additional announcement that he would not re-levue.
