THE SPANISH MISSION. The President has carried out his original rpose in the disposition of the mission to ain, from which he was temporarily diverted by the pressure in favor of Mr. Sanford, and as appointed Major-General Daniel E. Sickles o that important diplomatic post. General Sickles has proved himself a man of very unusual force of personal character by the manner in which he has surmounted difficulties which would have crushed any ordinary man, years ago; while his record during the war, which he embarked at its earliest outreak, was one of the most patriotic devotion, daring gallantry and high military ability. After the close of the war, General Sickles was assigned to the command of the Third Military District, where he displayed a remarkable capability for dealing with the diffienlt question of reconstruction, and it is, no national interests, instead of answering dinner loubt, chiefly in consequence of the adminisarative ability which he then manifested that resident Grant has selected him for the delicate and responsible mission to Spain.

General Sickles is a man of strong, indewaried experience. His political convictions be despised. the highest degree, complimentary, and it is tion, may justly claim a right to uphold a sys-

The donor of such a monument would receive DR. R. F. THOMAS, THE LATE OPEthe daily benedictions of thankful individuals when the name and deeds of others will pass from our memories."

We agree entirely with the suggestion. Indeed, we go farther, and hold that the addition of the name of each donor should be made compulsory. Philadelphians, in their private capacity, are proverbially modest. The amount of light which is hidden under bushels among his community would supersede the use of the Gas Works, if it were once uncovered; and there ought to be something done to give the WARBURTON'S IMPROVED, VENpublic the full benefit of the philanthropic spirit

THE AMERICAN PIE-BITER. We are a great people for champions. Cham-BUY A FIRST CLASS PHILADELPHIA-MADE PIANO AT MANUFACTURER'S PRICES, OBTAIN THEIR GUARANTEE, AND THEREBY ENCOURAGE HOME INDUSTRY.
FOREIGN Planos sold by AGENTS are generally the cheapest that can be found in New York or Boston markets, and after all, they cost the purchaser as much as first-class Schomacker Planos. The Agent has already several commissions added to be found in a few years it becomes worthless, and there is no redress.

are the proud heritage of the American citizen. Our Reverdy Johnson is a man of more than cleverly built, not so much with an eye to speed as to capacity. He is not a clipper, in any sense of the word. His forte is great storage. Sent abroad to represent the American people at the Court of St. James, our "other Johnson"—blessed be the people who can boast two Johnsons at once!--our other Johnson cleverly took the shortest way to the heart of sturdy John Bull, which, as everybody knows, lies through his stomach. He has been abroad a year or so, and has developed a capacity for "pie-biting" which throws his Western rival utterly into the shade. Our Reverdy has done a little very bad diplomacy and a great deal of very good dining. The capacity which he has lisplayed in this direction has convinced John

Bull that we are indeed of one family. The lean, typical Yankee, immortalized by Punch, gives place to the capacious, rotund Marylander, and the destroyer of countless British dinners. the cynosure of British banquets, the postprandial speech-maker, is the accepted symbol and type of regenerated America. And now, just as our Reverdy has reached the pinnacle of his fame; just as he has come to be acknowledged as-the Champion American Pie-Biter abroad, a luckless fate calls him home to "Maryland, my Maryland!" and Motley reigns in his stead. Reverdy has bidden he Queen farewell. A few more farewell dinners, and our other Johnson will fade away from British shores forever. But the memory of him will linger long around many a "banquet hall deserted," and the American Embassy will once more return to the dry and uninteresting business of attending to public and

CHICAGO, May 18.—Resolutions were list night introduced in the Chicago Common Council, proposing to test the constitutionality of the law passed last winter by the General Assembly of Illinois, conveying the Lake front to the Illinois Central, Michigan Central, and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroads.

The Methodist clergymen of this city met yesterday and passed resolutions strongly protesting against the ceremony of decorating soldiers' graves being performed on the Sabbath day. May 17.—Wall street had a first-class sensation to-day in the failure of a prominent firm for a sum variously reported between a million and a million and a half of doi. are. The suspension really took place at a late hour on Saturday afternoon, but was not made public, and was not known beyond a few of the creditors until early this morning. It seems that the firm were "short" of gold to the extent of about eight millions of dollars, and that they were really bankrupt a few weeks since, but made a doubly large niew venture with the hope of retrieving their ill-fortune. Gold, however, continued to—advance, and thus plunged them only the deeper in disaster. The estreet is full of all sorts of rumors with reference to the character of their operations. It is said that they abandoned their oricinal lexitimate business of a commission house and gradually expanded into transactions in gold, governments and stocks. In their fall they have implicated several other firms, and exchange place was in a stato of the greatest commotion all day. So far as has been ascertained, at the close of business to-night only one small firm is so embarrassed as to be compelled to suspend. The others have been able to meet their liabilities promptly. When the first signs of distress were appeared to Saturday afternoon the oppularity of the firm

At the Royal Literary Fund dinner, Mr. Reverdy Johnson replied to the toast of "The diplomatic body" in the following terms:

He said he was happy to find that the warmth of the reception which he had met with since his arrival in this country had in no way been diminished by circumstances which he becautty country troubly he improper in cently occurred. It would be improper in him to refer minutely to these circumstances. Suffice it to say that he hoped there was not in them anything that would lead those who heard him to believe that peace between England and America was likely to be disturbed. [Hear.] That which any man might state after he got to the summit of the mountain was immaterial, nor was it of vital consequence whether the person to whom he alluded had succeeded in bringing about the rejection of the convention which was in-tended to settle, all disputes between the two countries, and he begged those whom he was addressing to believe that the person was not expressing the real, honest and patriotic sentiments of his country. [Cheers.] He had been cautioned by his noble friend on his right not to refer on that occasion to anything of political character, but he must be allowed to observe that there was one thing in which literary men as well as all others were concerned, and that was that the peace between such countries as England and America should be preserved, for it could not be broken without disturbing literary as well as other associations.
