WHITSUNTIDE MONDAY.—The celebration of Whitsuntide Monday by the Germans of this city was very general yesterday, and was conducted in a very spirited manner. The various summer gardens in the suburbs of the city were crowded, and at each there were music and dancing for the entertainment of the visitors. dancing for the entertainment of the visitors. The principal celebration took place at Engel & Wolf's farm, where a Sängerfest was given by the Männerchor, Young Männerchor, Sängerbund and Liedertafel d. d. fr. Gem. At an early hour in the morning whole families could be seen wending their way towards the delightful place selected for the festivities. The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company ran special trains every hour during the day. The cars were all crowded, as were also the Girard avenue, Green and Coates, and Union Passenger Railway cars. The pleasant the Girard avenue, Green and Coates, and Union Passenger Railway cars. The pleasant little steamboats running upon the Schuylkill also came in for a full share of patronage. In addition to the various public conveyances by which people were enabled to reach the grounds, a great many persons made with the grounds.

men, women and children, visited the place and participated in the festival.

The singing societies arrived during the morning. Each was accompanied by a band of music, and carried its flags and banners. Headquarters were established in different parts of the grounds, and then the festivities of the day began in earnest. Music, singing, dancing, and various sports peculiar to the German people, were indulged in. Several choruses were finely sung by the combined societies, under the direction of Mr. Wm. Hartmann, the leader of the Young Männerchor. In the afternoon great amusement was created by an impromptu procession got up by the Young Männerchor. Many of the members were dressed in fantastical costumes, and in the line was carried a miniature plano, labeled "$1,500 prize," which was

During the afternoon the Turners and the Philadelphia Rifle Club marched upon the ground, and attracted much attention. Mayor Fox was also present, and was taken in charge by a committee and escorted to the headquarters of each of the Societies, where he was heartily received. He was formally conmeadquarters of each of the societies, where he was heartily received. He was formally constituted a member of each of the organizations, and the lappel of his coat was decorated with badges of each of the societies.

A police force, under charge of Lieutenant Francis Brurein, of the Seventh District, was present during the day, but as there was no disorder the policemen had nothing to do but

The celebration was continued until long after dusk, and everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner. The participants in the affair all enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent, and will remember with great leasure the gay scenes of yesterday.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMERCIAL EXCHANGE.—We have received the fifteenth "Annual Report of the Commercial Exchange Association," an organization noted for its activity, its wealth, and for its influence in mercantile and other circles. It contains a vast amount of valuable statistical information of the deepest interest to every business. tion of the deepest interest to every business man. The Secretary of the Association, Mr. Gerard R. Tisdall, in speaking of the frequent utes in reference to the purchase of flour

Gerard R. Tisdall, in speaking of the frequent disputes if reference to the purchase of flour and grain, says:

"A most beneficent feature in the by-laws of our Association is found in -tis regulations for the adjudication of business disputes, by committees selected from its own membership. A desire to avoid; the expense and delay incident to proceedings in courts of law led to the adoption of these regulations? It was felt that a dispute submitted in this body was nuch more likely to receive intelligent consideration than before any ordinary jury constituted by law. The disputants of the Commorcial Exchange present their differences, in the truest sense of the phrase, to a jury of their peers. Men familiar will fine-character of the business in question, and conversant with all its details, must be better qualified for the fair and equitable consideration of these subjects. No matter how learned the Bench and. Bur may be, nor how intelligent the promiscuous material which constitutes a jury may be, it is still true that no amount of theoretical ability carrequal the value of long practical acquaintance with the points in issue. Business men now! feel themsolves adequate to the determination of all matters affecting their peculiar interests. They need but little outside help, and are less and less inclined to ask it, knowing, as they do, that such aid usually complicates, the simplest cases and becomes a source of great expense and vexation. We do not professors to unservace the laws of our State and country, nor to undervalue the talents of our lawyers; but, upon the same economical principles which have banded us together for the easier despatch of business, we wish to rid ourselves of protracted litigation in cases of disagreement. Having, therefore, in view of this reasoning, established a Board of Arbitration in cases of disagreement. Hood, the Business Manager of the Academy of Music, will be shocked and grieved at the announcement of his death which occurred announcement of ms death which occurred this morning, after a brief illness, terminating in a low typhoid fever. Mr. Hood was a native of Philadelphia, and has been many years connected with the man-agement of the Walnut Street Theatre, Mu-

Mr. Hood was fifty-seven years old, and the vacancy which his unexpected death has created will not easily be filled. His almost universal acquaintance with the frequenters of places of public amusements and his long experience as a business manager, made Mr. Hood an extremely valuable man of business, as he was an upright and highly-esteemed citizen.

STILL ON THE RUSH.—The hungry Democrats are still on the rush for police appointments. Notwithstanding the frequent warnings of the Mayor in regard to applicants flocking to his office, the room was pretty well crowded this morning, and Whalen, the tall, good-natured Reserve, policement who are as good-natured Reserve policeman who acts as guard, had the greatest difficulty in keeping the mob back, so as to give the Chief space enough to receive the reports of the Lieutenants of Police. Citizens who were unfortunate enough to have business with the clerks had a hard struggle to get up to the desks.

MAN BEATEN.—George Sharpless, residing at Franklinville, Twenty-second Ward, was attacked, knocked down, beaten, and stamped attacked, knocked down, beaten, and stamped upon, opposite the railroad depot, in Germantown, last evening. He was conveyed to his home in the carriage of a citizen. His assailant, who is a prominent Democratic politician, was not arrested, although a policeman—one of the new appointees—is said to have witnessed the disgraceful affair.

Dogs Beware!—All dogs who are disposed to run about the streets are hereby advised to put on their muzzles. This morning the Mayor-appointed Joseph Henry Brown, a resident of Bedford street, Captain of the Dog Detectives. Arrangements are being made to commence the raid on stray curs to-morrow

MAD DOG KILLED.—A child was bitten by a mad dog at Fourth and Charles streets yester-day afternoon. The animal was shot and killed by Policeman Corgee, of the First District.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING THIS MORNING.
There was a large crowd assembled at the Methodist Episcopal Church on Fifth street, below Green, to witness the marriage of Geng Jas. S. Negley, of Allegheny, to Miss Ashton, of Schuylkill county. The church, was well filled with a fashlonable audience, among whom were many ex-army officers, who served during the rebellion. The fair sex, of course, were predominant, and there was a continuous buzz of conversation among them until the wedding party appeared, when all conversation was hushed until the party reached the altar, when the audience immediately arose and the loud buzz of conversation was resumed, but soon ceased.

The bride, Miss Grace Ashton, was attired in full bridal costume, while the bridegroom, Gen. James S. Negley, wore a plain black suit. The bridesmaids were Miss L. Roop and Miss Sinn; the groomsmen, Col. Wm. McMichael and Mr. Ashton. The officiating clergymen were Revs. Messrs. Ashton, Todd, Smiley and Murphy, the services being performed by the former gentleman. FASHIONABLE WEDDING THIS MORNING

The bridegroom, Major-General James S-Negley, is from Allegheny. He served through the war in the Union army with a splendid record, and is well known as the representative in Congress from the Allegheny district. He is a man of fine abilities and excellent social qualities. The bride, Miss Grace Ashton, is from Schuylkill county, and is the daughter of Rev. Mr. Ashton. daughter of Rev. Mr. Ashton.

Religious.—A report has gained currency that the newly-appointed pastor of the Arch Street Presbyterian Church, Rev. J. L. Withrow, had signified his intention of resigning his charge to accept a call elsewhere. The report is unfounded, the gentleman in question being well satisfied with his position, the contragation having group layers and his least being well satisfied with his position, the congregation having grown largely and his labors having been greatly blessed.

Rev. Charles Wadsworth, who received a call to the Third Reformed Church, Tenth and Filbert streets, and who was expected to enter upon his pulpit labors this month, has written a letter, stating that his congregation in San Francisco are unwilling to part with him, in consequence of which he will not be able at present to remove to this city.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.-The stated quarterly meeting of the Teachers' Institute will be held at Musical Fund Hall on Friday will be held at Musical Fund. Hall on Friday afternoon next. Essays will be read by Miss A. C. Webb and Mr. G. M. Sayre, and a lecture delivered by Prof. Thomas C. Porter, of Lafayette College. The Institute will be favored with recitations by Miss E. A. Stetson and Mr. J. B. Roberts, and with music by Mr. G. B. Snyder, Mr. P. Wright and Mrs. Ada Wadsworth, of the choir, and Mr. J. R. Willian, organist of the Fourth Baptist Church, and by Mr. J. K. Macgowan. The subject of Life Insurance, referred to a Special Committeel at the last meeting, will be brought Committee at the last meeting, will be brought before the Institute.

PICKPOCKET.—Patrick Hassan, known to the police as a pickpocket, was arrested yes-terday afternoon. He was on a Girard avenue car, and several of the passengers complained of having lost their pocket-books. None of the missing wallets were found on Hassan, however. The prisoner will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

THE DEATH of the wife of General Henry M. Naglee, of California, is announced in to-day's paper. The sad event will cause sincere sorrow among a large circle of friends. Mrs. Naglee was a daughter of the late Paymaster Ringgold, of the United States army.

WILLIAM C. HOUSTON, Esq., was, this morning, elected Vice President of the National Exchange Bank—an office authorized by the by-laws of the Bank, but not heretofore filled. The Board of Directors could not have made a better selection.

BOLD ROBBERY.—Thomas Ryan snatched a watch from the pocket of a gentleman who was passing Penn and South streets last night. He was arrested and will have a hearing this afternoon at the Central Station.

BITTEN BY A DOG.—Mr. Jacob E. Ridgway, is now confined to his house, suffering from the bite of a dog, received at the depot of the Union Passenger Railway Company, about two weeks since.

REVENUE APPOINTMENTS.—Thos. G. Webster, Charles Mears, and Jos. Emerson have been appointed Assistant Assessors in the Fifth Internal Revenue District, by Captain James Ashworth, Assessor.

A VALUABLE INVENTION. — Mr. Joseph McCord, of this city, has invented a capital weapon, which combines a policeman's club, a rattle and a signal whistle. It is, in general form, very similar to the police-club now in use, the handle of the rattle, which also contains the whistle, shutting down into the handle of the club, while the ratchet-wheel of the rattle is contained in the knob of the handle. The whole affair is very compact, and a great The whole affair is very compact, and a great improvement over the clumsy old watchman's rattle now in use. We understand that the invention has been approved by the police authorities, and we think that its adoption by Councils would be of great advantage to the

THE WHIPPING POST.

What the Papers say of Delaware Bar-barism.

The N. Y. Tribune says:
"The whole country has, for some time, been beseeching the State of Delaware to abolish the pillory and whipping-post, if not for its own sake, then at least for the national reputation in other parts of the world, and especially in Timbuctoo and the Cannibal Islands. But the Delaware tribes, so far from frater-pally heading these requests have just say up. nally hecding these requests, have just set up a brand-new post and pillory at Newcastle, the old ones having become rotten and dilapidated. old ones having become rotten and dilapidated. A Delaware newspaper (for, strange to say, they have newspapers there) rejoices that the new structures will be erected in a very substantial manner, and that they are quite ready for the accommodation of those convicted at the present term of the Court. We expect to hear pretty soon that the judicial authorities have established a sweet and lovely rack in the prison; that a few old steel boots for torture have been imported from Scotland; that a neat variety of thumb-screws and like dainty utensils has been manufactured; and that a the theat variety of thinh between the dainty utensils has been manufactured; and that a State Commission will soon proceed to Spain to buy up those delicate implements of the Inquisition which may have escaped the destruction of that institution. The barbarity of the white part is a second control of the white part is a second control of the contro of the whipping-post is of an unenlightened and unscientific kind. There are hundreds of exquisite ways of making a convict howloor faint with intolerable anguish, of which Dela-ware seems never to have heard. If torture is still to be resorted to by the Delawares, they should bring to the aid of their fine natural ferocity an adequate knowledge of the mechanical powers, and of human capacity for sufficient.

mechanical powers, and of human capacity for suffering."

The Baltimore American says:
"Saturday was St. Pillory's Day in Delaware, the semi-annual exhibition of sixteenth-century barbarity taking place upon that day. In the jail-yard at Newcastle, the pillory and the whipping-post were brought into requisition, and while the Sheriff cracked his whip and tortured his victims in the face of civilization, admiring crowds, largely composed of children, looked on the spectacle, and as the lash cut deeper and deeper into the fiesh of the sufferers, gained some ideas of Delaware justice and humanity. Although this savagery has been universally condemned and execrated outside of Delaware, yet a new whipping post has been erected in the jail yard at Newcastle, the old one having been worn out by constant use. The force of an indignant public opinion will one day shame Delaware into abolishing these barbarities and burning up the whipping post and pillory.

The Methodist speaks as follows:

"Whipping is an economical punishment nasmuch as it saves the expense of a decen jail. And so the negro man or wench who steals a ham or robs a hen-roost must be lace-rated with the Sheriff's 'cat-o'-nine-tails.' We rated with the Sheriff's 'cat-o'-nine-tails.' We have ourselves seen a white man sentenced, in Delaware, for larceny, to imprisonment and thirty-nine lashes. And yet the judge was a gentleman and a Christian, and seemed unconscious of the barbarity of the law which he administered. Yes, rebuild the pillory! but the culprit who will stand there, first, last, and always, a spectacle to the country, will be—Delaware."
