The Graniard and Cuban—Reported Duel in New Oricans Between Champions of the Rival Causes—One of the Parties Dangerously Wounded.

The New Oricans papers contain an account of an extraordinary affair:

Pepe Liulla is, it seems, a mature gentleman of fitty, Spanish by birth, American by a residence in New Oricans of more than a quarter of a century. A famous fencer and expert of fifty, Spanish by birth, American by a residence in New Orleans of more than a quarter of a century. A famous fencer and expert duellist in his youth, he has for ten years "quietly and prosperously devoted his time to his cemetery."—which is something as if we were told of a flourishing doctor becoming a more flourishing sexton. Cuban cries of "Death to Spain," which he had heard in the streets, roused Pepe Llulla's blood. He posted up throughout the city, and fut into the papers, the following challenge:

To the Cuban Refuses and to those who sympathize with them: The undersigned, a European Spaniard by birth, and who was brought up in New Orleans, is desirous of responding on the field of honor, and in any way they may indicate, to those who, in their meetings und processions in this city, have shouted "Death to Spain." Death to the Spaniards."

"And whoever might desire to take up the matter is requested to address himself, either personally or through his friends, backers or seconds, to the undersigned, from 6 to 6 cock in the morning, at the corner of Congress and Moreau streets, or in the afternoon, from 2 o'clock till dark, at the office of the cemetery, on Louiss street, Third District, to obtain whatever satisfaction he or they might desire under the penalty, should they fall so to do, of being looked upon us impostors, cowards and contemptible boasters.

New Onleans, May 4, 1869.

Carlos de Mayer, a Cuban by birth, quickly took the gauntlet up; the duel was fought, and Mayer placed hors du combat. But, as soon as the victor got home, he received a second challenge — and then another, and soon he had on Mayer placed hors du combat. But, as soon as the victor got home, he received a second challenge,—and then another, and soon he had on hand six of all sorts, proposing weapons from pistols to poison. Obviously he cannot accept all at once, while the alternative of a "compound duel," kindly suggested by his friends, he has refused. Should he take them all in turn, his chances of very soon permanently occupying a place in "the cemetery" must be improving.

More Challenges to Liulia-Curious Pro-positions.

[From the New Orleans Times, May 12.]
Pepe Liulla has received a half dozen chal-Pepe Liulla has received a half dozen challenges, of one sort and another, since his combat on Sunday. One of the challenges proposed was that two pills should be prepared, one of them containing poison, and that he should take one and his antagonist the other; another proposition was that both of the pills should contain poison; a third was that pistols should be the weapons, and only one of them to be loaded—the parties to stand so near that death would inevitably result to one or the other. It is not yet known which of the challenging parties has received the preference, and what are the terms. The next duel will take place outside the State, as bonds have been exacted by Recorder Massicot, both from him and from Martinez, (who was to have fought with one of the color-bearers in the Cuban demonstration.)

A large number of Pepe Llulla's friends have volunteered to take sides with him in any compound duel that may be proposed. He has rejused to fight on any such terms, upon the ground that he does not wish to see his friends killed in a quarrel for which he alone is responsible, and besides prefers to fight himself all who choose to respond to his call.

A BRILLIANT METEOR.—Last evening, about eleven o'clock, a meteor of unusual brilliancy was observed by persons in this city. It was first seen at a point ten degrees N.N.W. of the star Altair, or a Aquilæ—its size not being at that moment particularly large. It moved in an arc of thirty degrees to the N.E., and, as it pursued this course with rapid movement, its size and volume of light increased in a prodigious manner. It threw out a train of sparkles of a bright rose-color, though the nucleus of the meteor was of a pale greenish lue. The duration of its flight was about five seconds; it then exploded into flaming fragments, which were speedily extinguished, and all the region became dark again. The darkness of the night, the moon being obscured, made this wonderful phenomenon the more apparent. The light of the meteor was much brighter than the brightest moonlight, and the shadows it cast were proportionably intense in their obscurity.

FOUND DROWNED .- An unknown white man, apparently 35 years of age, was found drowned at Arch Street wharf this morning. He is 5 feet 9 inches high, with brown hair and sandy whiskers, and wore a black cloth sack coat, black yest and pants, plaid flanuel shirt, plaid scarf, low shoes and gray woolen stockings. The Coroner took charge of the body.

ROBBERY IN TWENTY-SEVENTH WARD .- The residence of J. Kemp Bartlett, at Fortieth street and Darby road, was entered by prying open a back window-shutter, last night, and was robbed of a silver ice pitcher, a plated coffee urn, a castor, and a basket of linen. The stolen articles are all marked "B."

SUPPOSED LARCENY .- Hannah Berry was arrested last night, at Sixth and Bedford streets. She had, under her arm, a basket containing two photograph albums, two hats, some door knobs, and other articles, supposed to have been stolen. The prisoner was committed by

Ald. Tittermary.

A Bab Boy.—Clark D. Shaw, a youth who had formerly been an inmate of the House of Refuge, was caught yesterday afternoon in the act of throwing a box of matches over the walls of that institution. He was held for a further hearing by Alderman Pancoast.

A Report that the Eight-Hour Question is Settled.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertisem correspondent.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says:

At the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday there was a full discussion of the Eight-Hour law, and it was at last concluded that the sole intent of Congress in passing it must have been to reduce the hours of labor without reducing the pay. It was decided, in order to prevent a different interpretation of the law by the various departments, that the President should rious departments, that the President should issue an executive order or proclamation, stating that a full day's work for government employés shall be eight hours, and that for this they shall receive the pay of ten hours' labor.

THE COURTS.

Haggerty's Case.

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Ludlow.—This morning the Judge delivered an opinion upon the motion to quash certain indictments against James Haggerty. The motion was made "because while he was held to bail to answer at the February sessions, these indictments were found at the January term, immediately after he had been held to bail."

found at the January term, immediately after he had been held to buil."

The Judge says that under ordinary circumstances the bills would be quashed, if the prisoner was in no default; but the record in this case shows that Haggerty has been a fugitive from justice, and the practice has been to reduce motions to quash where the defendant has allowed his recognizance to be forfeited.

The Judge also referred to the fact that during the week the prisoner, through his counsel, appeared in Court and asked to have a day fixed for his trial. Coupled with the fact that recognizances have been forfeited, this appearance of the defendant at the bar of the Court by counsel, together with the fact that a motion was made by the prisoner for a trial and a day fixed, throw such serious doubts, to say the least, upon the propriety of granting these motions, that the doubt fixelf ought to settle the question, when the motion, as we have already said, ought to be based upon clear and satisfactory grounds, especially as the prisoner is not deprived of his usual right to make a motion to arrest of judgment should verdict be rendered against him.
