PREVENTION-CURE

The infatuation of mankind is marvelous. Men of good, sound sense live in, or visit unhealthy districts of country during the hot summer months, without using a single precaution to ward off disease. They breathe miasmatic atmospheres and drink poisoned waters, but never provide an antidote against the deadly fevers that lurk in the air and float in the water. No man thinks himself in danger, but anyone can readily see that they sovereign remedy.

This Bitters is especially adapted to soothe and tone the stomach, and every one knows that as long as the stomach is in a healthy condition no disease can effect a lodgment in the system. The digestive organs, when rigorous and in a normal condition, perfectly dissolve and assimilate the food, so that the strengthening and buildingup elements can be appropriated to all the tis-sues of the body. But if food is not digested, there is no material supplied to replace the natural waste of the system. The great value of the ZINGARI BITTERS lies just in this fact, that it keeps the digestive organs in tone, or speedily corrects them when deranged.

Chills and fever are the pests of many communities whole districts of country have been depopulated by this insidious malady, families have been reduced to poverty simply because their working powers had been destroyed by slow and sure effects of this disease; and the skill of the entire medical faculty is often baffled by its perti-nacity, yet no one who has tried this new remedy has nacity, yet no one who has tried this new remedy has long suffered from chills and fever; nor has any one been attacked by this disease who used ZINGARI BITTERS as a preventive. While most men recognize and acknowledge the necessity for stimulants, it we take the pains to obtain a proper one. It often happens therefore, the great evil is done in the attempt to cure. Many resort to the use of raw alcoholic liquors, such as are sold in the public drinking saloons.

These liquors, it has been shown by extensive and careful analysis made of those sold in the saloons of New York, are often the vilest compounds of water. Jusel oil, emyle, or sulphuric acid. By the use of these, therefore the system is thoroughly impregnated with deadly poisons, which will lead to fatal results. It is unsafe to trust to common liquors. We must look elsewhere for a stimulant and tonic. There is one provided which may be administered with perfect safety to all who need invigorants. Its increasing popularity and its extensive use, and its superior qualities, determined by the most varied ex-perience, is the strongest evidence of its utility. The most fearful consequences have frequently resulted from a mistake in the selection and use of stimulants, and it is therefore of the utmost importance to the public to know that notwithstanding the vast amount of deception practiced in the mixing or liquors and the adulteration of drugs, there is yet a preparation thoroughly reliable, warranted to be free of all noxious elements, compounded of the purest materials, and in every sense of the word a

About the Safes that MARVIN makes, To all intents complete.

With wondrous combination locks
That every art dely
To break, or open or explode—
And then they're always dry.

A burglar came along one day
To see them on the sly...
Those massive things he couldn't force
He'd know the reason why.

He'd had experience of bars.
In prison van had jolted.
But when he saw those locks and bolts.
He tore his locks and bolted.
The Safe they call THE SPHERICAL.
With anguish made him grin;
He'd never learned the use of globes,
And couldn't get drilled in!

late of Chicago, Illinois:

I am not in the habit of recommending for general use articles which have proved of special service to me, but most readily give my testimony to the merit of the Zingari Bitters, prepared by Mr. F. Rahter. I have used it my family with excellent results; it relieves inciplent dyspepsia; is a fine appetizer, for the morning meal especially, and, unlike similar preparations, has a pleasant aromatic flavor, free from fiery alcoholic taste.

REV. R. J. KEELING. CUNBERLAND COUNTY, Oct. 15, 1866.

I suffered of fever and ague more than nine months. My liver had become very much diseased. My complexion was sallow and jaundiced, my stomach irritable, and my whole system greatly emaciated, with almost total loss of strength and appetite. I tried various remedies, but no cure till I used the ZINGARI BITTERS. My health has been completely restored by this valuable medicine.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 23, 1856.

MR. F. RARTER—Dear Sir: I feel it to be my duty to inform you of the great benefits one of the members of my family received from the use of your ZINGARI BITTERS. One of my daughters was troubled for a long time with all the ills consequent upon the stoppage of the menses. She was pale, emaciated, spiritless; in fact, a general wreck. We triedquite a number of doctors, many home and advertised remedies, but no bonefit was derived; finally i induced her to try your BITTERS, and after using it but a short time, the catamenia were restored, and her general health has already wonderfully improved. We can never thank you enough for restoring our beloved daughter to health. I believe it to be the greatest family medicine out, and would, under no circumstances, be without it.

The following certificate is from the well-known Dunkard minister, Reuben Sayler, and speaks for itself. There is not a man in Maryland whose character for veracity and honesty is better known than his:

Mr. F. H. Rahter—Dean Shr. After suffering with Dyspepsia for 25 years, and using all the remedies advertised for its cure, beside being under treatment of eight or ten physiciaus, and all proving a failure; I was finally induced, by the .merchant at Union Bridge (Captain Lightner), to try your most excellent remedy, ZINGARI BITTERS, and I now take pleasure in saying that it has done me more good than anything I have ever tried, and I cheerfully recommend it to the public as one of the most efficient remedies extant for the above disease.

I will also state that my neighbor, Mrs. Worley, who suffered of the same disease, told me only a fow days ago, that she had taken two bottles, and that she could perform as good a day's work as she ever could, to which I cheerfully subscribe.
