The Denver (Colorado) Tribune contains the following:
SANTA Fr. May 28.—The train of Tully and Ochoa, consisting of nine wagons and some eighty nules, left. Tucson on the 10th, for Gamp Grant. On Tucsday morning they discovered a large party of Indians at a short distance, and evidently preparing to make an attack. The wagon-master ordered the wagons to be put in a circle, and awaited the approach of the Indians, who sent forward one proach of the Indians, who sent forward one of their party and requested the wagon-master to give up, and that they were strong enough to take the train by force, but did not wish to njure any of them.
