

The Late Duel in Virginia.

Richmond, Va., June 13.—A duel was fought on a Saturday afternoon, between Capt. W. B. Cameron, editor of the Petersburg (Va.) Times (Conservative), and Robert W. Hughes, a contributor to the Richmond State Journal (Republican). The fight took place in North Carolina, sixteen miles from the Norfolk and Petersburg Railroad, and the weapons used were pistols. Cameron was struck in the breast at the first fire; the ball striking a rib and glancing. Hughes demanded another fire, but the surgeons pronounced Cameron unable to deliver another shot. Hughes then declared that he was satisfied, and the affair ended. Cameron's injuries are severe, but not considered dangerous.

Richmond, June 13.—The Hughes-Cameron duel has at length been brought to a close. Soon after the arrest and ball of the parties and seconds by the Chesterfield Justice on Friday last, they repaired to Petersburg, and there awaited an opportunity to depart for some untried field in North Carolina. On Saturday morning at 4 o'clock they left the city on a special train for the occasion. The party for the Norfolk and Petersburg Railroad, for Deep Creek crossing, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, about six miles from Norfolk. The carriages were set out for a point on the canal beyond the limits of Virginia, where their engagement would not require a special train. Cameron did not require a special train, having traversed some 15 miles since leaving the cars, the party found themselves within the bounds of the North State, and preparations were at once made for the combat. The ground was immediately selected and a toss of the choice of positions resulted in favor of Cameron. Duelling pistols had been substituted for the short swords previously named by the challenge party, as there was no provision in the Virginia code authorizing such weapons. A few minutes after 5 P. M. the principals, Robert W. Hughes and William B. Cameron, took their places on the field, the paces apart. The famous pistols used by O. Jennings Wise, when the latter was permanently disabled in a duel, were again brought into requisition. Mr. Ernest Leonard, one of Cameron's seconds, took position and called in a clear voice, "Gentlemen, are you ready?" receiving an affirmative from both the gentlemen. The pistols were then leveled at each other, and as the word "fire" was called Cameron discharged his weapon. "One" and "two" had nearly escaped the lips of Legarde when Hughes's pistol sent its discharge. The reports following each other in such rapid succession that it was hard to distinguish them. Cameron received Hughes's bullet over the lower lobe of the left lung, making a flesh wound, which, according to the statement of an attending physician, disabled him. In response to Hughes's inquiry as to whether he was ready for a second fire, Cameron's second said not, and Hughes having received satisfaction, the meeting was therefore adjourned. Both the gentlemen believed gallantly on the occasion. Cameron, who was wounded, exclaiming, "I am shot, but am ready to give satisfaction." This was found, however, to be beyond his powers of endurance. Hughes is represented as having been exceedingly cool throughout the proceedings, and declared himself satisfied when he learned that Cameron was not in a condition to return a second fire. Cameron's wound, though severe, did not prevent him walking from the cars to his home upon his arrival in Petersburg. Hughes and party arrived in this city this morning at a quarter past eleven. The termination of the affair seems to be agreeable to all parties.

The Prince of Wales.

A London letter to the Chicago Journal says: The Prince of Wales is back among his old haunts, and of course went in state to the Derby. I mentioned some time ago that it was rumored that Parliament would be called to increase his annual income. The habits of the Prince are so well known to the public that they would have risen in a body against such a proposition, and after due consideration the Queen has been advised that it would be useless to submit the proposition to the House of Commons, where it would be impossible to prevent some of the radical members from expressing their disapproval of the Prince. The result is that the Queen is to increase his income from her private purse. This, of course, is only a roundabout way of accomplishing the object, and the amount she thus furnishes will yet come out of the pockets of the people in some way unknown to them at the moment. The figures are rather startling. The present income of the Prince from his Parliamentary allowance and the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, amounts to no less than £120,000 sterling, or $400,000 in gold, and yet he is at this moment not only without a penny in his pocket, but is in debt. The Queen will add, it is said, some £20,000 or £40,000 more, bringing his income up to at least three quarters of a million of dollars. (And this is only one Prince out of the lot—and you think you do wonders when you give your President $25,000 per annum! Are you not ashamed of yourselves?) The public indignation given by the considerable expenses of the Prince are greatly increased by reason of his holding the levees, etc., on behalf of his mother. But this is the purest nonsense. I do not suppose that his expenses are increased from this cause a single farthing. At all events, a couple of hundred pounds would cover them. The whole affair is a mistake, and it would be wisdom on the part of the Queen to withhold her hand. This reckless young man learns that he cannot dip his hand at pleasure into the public purse the better.

CITY BULLETIN.

Bedford Street.—We cheerfully give place to the following communication from a respected clergyman, of whose good work in the Bedford Street District we can speak with the best commendation and confidence. Our recent articles on Bedford Street were not designed to convey the impression to which he refers: "To the Editor of the Evening Bulletin: Sir: As in your several articles, lately, on Bedford Street, you leave the impression that there is but one organization engaged in the work of helping the wretched people of that district back to a condition of comfort, respectability and virtue, I write to say that the Church of the Crucifixion, Eight Street, nearly opposite Bedford, has, for more than twenty years, labored for that very end, and that in addition to the ordinary agencies of the Church, and the daily visits of a Bible Woman to their wretched homes, it has established a Home at No. 708 Lombard Street, where any women who are desirous of returning to the paths of virtue are received and furnished temporary lodgings until such time as situations can be procured for them. Since its opening, on the first of September last, it has been the means of reclaiming several of the chaste and virtuous, and all of whom, with one exception, are doing well, and striving to regain their lost position. Only last week a woman who was taken out a thief in Bedford Street, visited the Home, and showed her gratitude for the interest manifested in her while an inmate by making a donation, with the promise that she would do more in the future." "To extend its usefulness, and keep open its doors for all comers money is much needed, which can be sent to my residence, No. 919 Pine Street, or to W. B. Whidney, Esq., No. 112 South Second Street." "Jos. R. Moore, Rector Church of the Crucifixion." "Phila., June 12, 1869." POLICE APPOINTMENTS.—The Mayor has added the following persons to the police force: First District—John Donahue, William Maguire. Ninth District—John Haslett, Charles Bolt, Patrick H. Campbell. Tenth District—Thomas Branagan. Twelfth District—Wm. H. Gate, Samuel A. Parkhill. STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED.—Officer Westcott, of the Delaware Harbor Police, yesterday captured a skiff named George Mehl. In the boat were chains which had been stolen from the yacht Delaware, and from a schooner owned by Capt. Wiebel, of Camden.

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

The Committee of Arrangements for the celebration of the semi-centennial anniversary of St. John's Commandery have established their headquarters at the Girard House, and are busily engaged to-day in completing the preparations for the grand demonstration which is to take place to-morrow. On the sixth page of to-day's Bulletin will be found the full programme for the display. A great many strangers have already arrived in the city, and almost everywhere on the streets can be seen the knights in fatigues dress. The Detroit Commandery from Detroit, Michigan, arrived this morning. The delegation consists of seventy members, and is accompanied by the band of the First U. S. Infantry, comprising twenty pieces. The officers of the Commandery are John A. Barnes, Eminent Commander; John P. Fiske, Generalissimo; E. T. Garfield, Captain General; Jos. E. Bampton, S. W., and S. O. Bando, J. W. The headquarters is quartered at the American Hotel. Pittsburgh Commandery also reached the city this morning. Delegations from St. John's New Brunswick; Montgomery, Alabama; New Orleans; Omaha, Nebraska; Memphis, Tennessee, and Nashville, Tennessee, are also now in the city. A delegation from California arrived this morning. The New York and Eastern Commanderies (except Boston) are expected to reach the city this evening at eight o'clock, and will be escorted from Camden by Cyrene Commandery, of that city. The Commanderies from Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria will arrive in a special train. During the day, various delegations from abroad were escorted to the Mayor's office, and were introduced individually to His Honor. Mr. Fox bid the strangers welcome to the city, and remarked that during their stay here everything should be done to make their visit a pleasant one. The Committee on Invitations will remove their headquarters to the ticket office of the Academy of Music to-morrow morning, at 11 o'clock, and will remain in session there the rest of the day. His Honor, the Mayor, requests the citizens generally, the masters of vessels in port, and also the public buildings, to display their flags in recognition of the imposing procession of the Knights Templar to-morrow morning. The police have been instructed to keep the citizens who desire to view the parade to-morrow on the sidewalk, so as to give the entire center of the street to the procession. An EXPENSIVE RESIST.—A policeman has no right to get tired. If he does become weary while on duty, he must keep up until properly relieved. To rest is against regulations. Officer James Reilly, of the Seventeenth District, sat on a cellar door during his tour of duty. He was reported at headquarters, and was suspended for five days, without pay. This rest cost him $12 50.

RAILWAY CONDUCTOR KILLED.—Michael McDermott, conductor of car No. 60, on the Union Passenger Railway, fell off the front platform of the car, at Franklin and Thompson streets, last evening, and was run over. One arm was crushed in a shocking manner, and had to be amputated. The injured man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died last night.

BOY DROWNED.—Philip Smith, aged thirteen years, and Arthur Wolf, aged twelve years, fell into a well, while playing in a cellar on Chestnut Street, above Fifteenth, this morning, about ten o'clock. Wolf was rescued by Mr. Hugh Harkins. Smith was drowned. His body was recovered, and was removed to the residence of his parents, on Dugan street, below Spruce.

SUPPOSED THIEF.—A Frenchman, named Lewis Moore, was arrested on Saturday, at Nineteenth and Chestnut streets. He had in his possession 10 bottles of brandy, a pound of butter, an old coat, a pair of pants and a basket, which are supposed to have been stolen. The articles named are awaiting an owner at the Fifth District Police Station.

ASSAULTING POLICEMEN.—James Smith was arrested last night at Front and Spruce streets, for assaulting Policeman Ward. He was committed by Ald. Carpenter. Edward McCann, for assaulting Policeman Thomas Lisk at Fourth and Shippen streets, was sent to prison by Ald. Bittermyr.

KNOCKED FROM A PASSENGER CAR.—J. J. Evers, who is riding on a Passenger Railway car, was kicked in the abdomen by a man who was on the front platform. Mr. Evers fell off of the car and had a leg broken. He was taken to his home in Ransford Place.

SAILOR DROWNED.—John Smith, a sailor, belonging to the schooner F. Nelson, of Bath, Maine, lying at Pine street wharf, on the Schuylkill, fell overboard last night, about ten o'clock, and was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered.

ASSAULT WITH A BRICK.—Patrick McGuinn was arrested last night, on Huntingdon street, in the Nineteenth Ward, upon the charge of having struck a man on the head with a brick. He was taken before Alderman Sines and was held in $500 bail for trial.

LOCATED.—The ladders furnished to the Delaware Harbor Police, to be used in getting drowned bodies out of the river, have been located just above Vine street, above Arch street, below Chestnut, below Spruce, and below Almond street.

ROBBERY.—The Irish manufacturer of E. V. Mintzer, in the third story of No. 622 Arch street, was entered by picking the locks on the door, last week. The thieves carried away, unobserved, $1,200.

ARRESTED FOR SWIMMING.—Six boys were arrested yesterday for swimming in the Delaware, at Coates street wharf. They were reprimanded by the Alderman, and were then discharged.

TURNER'S CELEBRATION.—The Turners were to have had a picnic at Washington Retreat to-day, but delegations from William Scranton, Egg Harbor City, and other places, came here for the purpose of participating in the festivities, and City Council has accepted an invitation to be present. Owing to the rain, the picnic had to be dispensed with. Acrobatic feats for prizes will be performed at Turner Hall, 444 N. Third street, this afternoon.
