OPENING OF THE NEW EXCURSION HOUSE AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Atlantic City, being so easy of access from Philadelphia, has become a famous, place for excursions. Scarcely a day passes during the summer season without its excursion to the City by the Sea," by some society. For seve ral years past the want of a large and commodious house for the accommodation of excursion parties has been felt. Such a house became a necessity to make an excursion pleasant and successful, and such an establishment has been provided since last season. A ment has been provided since last season. A stock company was formed, and was liberally assisted by the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company. This company has put up a large house, which is called "The Sea View Hotel." It is located within a few yards of the surf, and from its extensive porticos a splendid view of the beach and the ocean can be had for miles.

The formal opening of the new hotel took place yesterday. By invitation of the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company, about two and Atlantic Railroad Company, about two hundred gentlemen, comprising the various business interests of the city, were taken in a special train, directly to the door of the new hotel. The party arrived there about half-past eleven o'clock, and at once began an inspection of the premises, under charge of Mr. Horace. Whiteman, Secretary, and Mr. D. df. Mundy, Agent of the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, and Mr. S. C. Konigmacker, who has been selected as Superintendent of the establishment.

The house is well arranged, its main features The house is well arranged, its main features being extensive verandahs; spacious halls and passages, commoditions for dancing, billiard-playing and bowling. The main building has an ocean front of over two hundred feet, and about the same depth, three stories high, with double verandahs. A hall, fifteen feet wide, extends the whole length of the main building, with reception room, office, bar, &c., on the right, each thirty-six feet square. On the left of the hall are the dining and hall rooms, connected by two sets of sliding doors. These rooms, together, are 76 by 128 feet, and 22 feet high in the clear. The roof of this portion of the building is of open timber, finished in a rustic style of architecture, divided through the centre longitudinally, with square columns, and filling in between in the same style as the roof, the whole presenting a very handsome appearance. It is well supplied with large windows, and therefore will be cool at all times. Near the dining-room is a restaurant, 16 by 50 feet, and in the rear an extensive kitchen, being extensive verandahs, spacious halls an the dining-room is a restaurant, 16 by 50 feet, and in the rear an extensive kitchen, laundry, with brick-paved cellar for wines, manufacture of ice cream, &c. The approach to the second and third stories is by a wide stairway, at the head of which is the ladies parlor, about thirty-six feet square, where there is also a private dining-room 15 by 40 feet, and several fine double chambers opposite the ladies' parlor. The verandah on this story leads to a biliard-room 40 feet square, which can also be reached by means of an outside stair-case. There are fifteen double side stair-case. There are fifteen double chambers on the third floor, and two bed-rooms in the tower. The height side stair-case. There are lifteen double chambers on the third floor, and two bedrooms in the tower. The height of the tower from the base to flagstaff is nearly 100. feet, and can be distinctly seen soon after reaching the salt meadows, on the trip down. There is also an observatory on the end of the ball-room, the same style as the main tower, which forms a crowning point to a large bay-window at the end of the ball-room. The principal entrance to this extensive building is under a tower 18 feet square, on the railroad front. The house is supplied with pure water from cisterns, and from a reservoir some distance. It is lighted with gas manufactured on the premises.

Connected with the house are a large number of well constructed bath houses, with an ample supply of new bathing robes for the accommodation of excursionists.

The bathing ground in front of the house is all that could be desired. The beach slopes off gradually, and there are no holes to put the lives of bathers in jeopardy. Captain Wm. Tell Street's Life Lines have also been put up. In addition to their great utility as a life preserving apparatus, these lines afford a great opportunity for bathers to amuse themselves while in the water.

Everything connected with the "Sea View Hotel" seems to have been arranged with a special view to give the greatest accommodation and pleasure to guests, and everybody who visits the house will have no reason to complain of its appointments.

ANOTHER SPANISH OUTRAGE.

Arrest of the Cuban Secretary of War...A Number of Peaceable American Citizens Arrested and Thrown into Ludiow Street Jail, by Order of the Spanish

The N. Y. Sun of to-day says: Another Spanish outrage was perpetrated last night, at the command of the Spanish Consul. Between 6 and 7 o'clock a descent was made upon the Casino, in Houston street, and a number of respectable and peaceable gentlemen, who had just dropped in on private business for a few minutes, were seized and hurried off to Ludlow street jail, on the filmsy pretence that they were engaged in enlisting men for the Cuban expedition.

Among the victims are Col. W. R. C. Ryan, and two alleged Captains, besides a number of persons who are detained as witnesses. Signor Alfaro, Secretary of War of the Cuban Provisional Government, was arrested at about the same hour in another part of the city, and an order of the U.S. Marshal is also out for the arrest of the whole Junta Committee.

an order of the whole Junta Committee.

Mr. Ryan denies that he is connected in any manner with an expedition to Cuba. It is bad enough that the citizens of a nominally free country should be deprived of their liberty on account of the stupidity and malice of a foreigner with whom we have no sympathy; but that they should also be obliged to suffer the additional deprivations of rights which are conceded to thieves and blackguards, is carrying the outrage a little too far.

Several wealthy and influential gentlemen of this city took the trouble to visit the jail last evening, and offer their bonds in behalf of Messrs. Ryan, Alfaro, and the other prisoners; but they could find nobody to take bail. Several even were denied admission, for fear that they might possibly find means to open some avenue of escape, and one gentleman says that, on politely requesting a policeman on Grand street, near Ludlow, to direct him to the jail, he was gruffly informed that he could the jail, he was gruffly informed that he could not get in; it was only by threatening to take the policeman's number that he obtained the desired information.

Secretary Fish, it may be remembered, de-nied all knowledge of the recent arrest of the med all knowledge of the recent arrest of the Cuban Junta when he was taxed with it, but we hardly suppose that he will attempt to shirk the responsibility of this, when we know that Mr. Webster, of the firm of Webster & Grigg, the lawyers who are retained for the Spanish government, is a son-in-law of the Secretary of State.

The Susan Galph Company will appear in Lischen and Fritzchen and The Two Blind Beggars. Mr. Craig will give his wonderful imitations of Chas. Dickens, John S. Clarke, and others, and there will be Ethiopian delineations by well-known begro minstrels. If the size of the audience corresponds with Mr. Donnelly's designed. dience corresponds with Mr. Donnelly's deserts there will not be a square inch of room in the theatre. SERENADE BY THE "Apt" Society.—Prof. Anron R. Taylor, the well-known bases and teacher of vocalization, was last right the Anron R. Taylor, the well-known basso and teacher of vocalization, was last night the recipient of a charming serenade, tendered him by the gentlemen composing the "Abt Male Singing Society," whom he has conducted with signal ability and self-sacrificing devotion during the past two seasons. It was he who first conceived the idea of this now highly trained association, inaugurated rather for individual and collective improvement than from any motives of personal pecuniary gain. It is a luscious experience to hear this trained band of superb voices in the glorious compositions of Abt, Kreutzer, Hatton, and other undying song and quartette writers. Their lights and shades of expression seem like the breathings of a single soul, so exactly and evenly do they proceed from the twenty-and-one voices that make up the aggregate. The serenade transpired at Mr. Taylor's residence, 1207 Filbert street; and after the inevitable three outside pieces, the affair resolved itself into a most delightful in-door soirée, which lasted until an early hour this morning. Gemal Ruedesheimer, of '65 vintage, intensified the natural sociability of the occasion, whilst a full hour was dedicated to gustatory exercises and sundry ensuing toasts, speeches, &c. Among those present we noticed Messrs. Lauderbach. was dedicated to gustatory exercises and sundry ensuing toasts, speeches, &c. Among those present we noticed Messrs. Lauderbach, the veteran educator of youth, Col. Roberts, and Charles H. Jarvis, our distinguished pianist. The latter perfectly electrified the company with his superb performance of Thalberg's fine fantasia, from Don Giovanu.

Mr. J. E. Gould, President of the Abt Society, in a neat speech expressed the affectionate and appreciative sentiments of his fellow-members and himself toward the recipient of members and himself toward the recipient of the serenade, and wound up with a fine toast to him, to which Mr. Taylor as fitly replied. A very imodest young gentleman proposed the health of the President, coupled with the following sentiment: "May he ever abe bound to us by the common chord of friendship; his imisons with us be those of good-fellowship and sociability; his dominant a ruling passion to excel his tonic, rarely, if ever, anything more potent than a glass of Ruedeshelmer; and all of his rests spent in the unalloyed pleasures of domestic felicity."

And thus wore, on the night, amid joyous and innocent exercise—the noble quartettes of the great masters more finely spun as voices and innocent exercises—the none quaretees the great masters more finely spun as voices became mellower with the sparkling Rhine wine—the entire affair a beautifully designed; and as elegantly executed a tribute, to a deserving gentleman as could possibly have been improvised.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION AND RATIFICATION MEETING. The Republican RATIFICATION MEETING.—The Republican State Convention will convene to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock, at Concert Hall, Chestnut street, above Twelfth street. The Hall has been beautifully decorated withflags, banners and bunting. One-half of the floor has been railed off for the members of the Convention. This portion of the Hall will be reached by the centre avenue. A broad flight of steps leads to the first platform of the stage, which will be appropriated for the officers of the Convention. The second platform in the rear has ample and most convenient arrangements for the reporters of the press.

Members of the Convention and representa-Members of the Convention and representa-tives of newspapers from abroad will receive their tickets at the rooms of the National Union Club, 1105 Chestnut street, and audi-ence tickets will be furnished by any of the members of the Philadelphia delegation. Itis

In the evening, at the grand Republican mass meeting, the doors will be thrown open to all comers, and we advise persons who desire seats near the stage to go early. Between the adjournment of the Convention and the mass meeting in the evening, all the settees in the hall will be replaced in their usual form. All the arrangements for both the State Convention and the Mass Meeting are complete and most proper, even to the services of Cregar, Esq., Mr. Lamond, E. T. Kingsley, Esq., H. J. Holt and Rev. Mr. Botts.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—About ten o'clock last evening a large frame barn, on Taylor's lane, near the Camden and Amboy Railroad, was struck by lightning, and entirely destroyed. A cow shed, adjoining, was also burned, and a horse and two cows are reported to have been burned to death. The dwelling adjoining the barn made a narrow escape.

THE firm of A. M. Wilson, Ninth and Filbert streets, makes a specialty of Trego's Teaberry Tooth-Wash. This preparation bears the endorsem of a long list of physicians and dentists, which will com mend it to the public. Few people take the care of their teeth which an intelligent person should; and many by ignorance ruin them entirely, by using cheap and haneful washes or preparations. The Trego Wash is warranted as compounded of the best materials, and free from all injurious substances. It is sold by all druggists, and its proprietor asks of every on a trial. The general docus of the teeth of the American people makes the question of a perfectly safe and efficacious preparation one of vast interest and magnitude, and in calling attention to anything which claims to do this, we are benefitting the million. Along 'with this wash, Mr. Wilson furnishes a pamphlet free, explaining clearly in non-technical language the hygoiene of the teeth, and giving rules for their care and safe-keeping, warning against highrious habits, and suggesting the rules and principles which conduce both to the health of the neuth and the soundness of the teeth.
