CLOSING EXERCISES AT THE BLIND INSTI-TUTION.—The closing exercises of the thirty-sixth term of the Institution for the Blind were held in the hall of the Institution yesterday atternoon. There were ove 90 classes examined, embra-cing not only the common school branches, but such studies as Physiology. In consequence of the increased number receiving premiums each year, the standard of scholarship has been correspondingly advanced, until the pupils find themselves able to rank with the first scholars in our public and private schools. To encourage this interest in their studies which exists among the pupils, the Board of Managers spare no labor to afford every facility for culture; but, as the institution has but a small income apart from State aid, the managers find the means of usefulness very much limited. Were the institution endowed proportionally to the good it is doing in promoting the welfare and aiding in the self-maintenance of the blind, every blind person in the State could be made self-supporting, and thus relieve the community of one of its many burdens, besides promoting the happiness of the blind by making each one useful in being a producer, instead of being a mere consumer, as is too often the case.

An effort was made during last winter to procure a supplement to the charter of the in-stitution, so as to form an Industrial Home stitution, so as to form an Industrial Home for the Blind, so that those who left the institution homeless and friendless might be furnished with a means of support in manufacturing various useful articles, such as brooms, brushes, mats, &c., a knowledge of which they acquired during their term of tuition. This effort was partially successful, and the attention of the public having been drawn to the advantages of such a Home, the movement bids fair to be successful.

The origin of the fire is not known, but is being investigated by the Fire Marshal. Assaulting Policemen.—Wm. Porter was arrested, last evening, at Oak and Coates streets, upon the charge of assaulting Police-men Harrer and Applegate. He was drunk, and handled the officers pretty-roughly. THE SCOTT LEGION.—This organization, composed of soldiers of the Mexican war, is now having made a handsome walnut frame, intended to contain the photographs of all of the surviving members. In a few days the frame and pictures will be finished, and will be on exhibition at No. 812 Arch street.

QUICK TIME TO LONG BRANCH.—Unusual durch Time to Long Branch.—Unusual facilities are now offered for reaching this chaiming watering-place. By the old system much trouble, yexation and loss of time was caused by the different changes of cars. But all this has been done away with, and now an arrangement has been made for running a fast train to Long Branch, in a little over four hours, without change of cars. Passengers can leave Walnut street wharf at 2.P. M., arriving at Long Branch at 6.12 P. M. Returning, leave Long Branch at 6.12 P. M. An arriving in this city at 11.20 A. M. An additional express train will be run after July 1st, leaving Philadelphia at 8 A. M., and reaching Long Branch at 12.19. The return train will leave Long Branch at 4 P. M., arriving in Philadelphia at 8 P. M. With these increased accommodations the public can be transported from the crowded streets of the city, by safe, commodious and comfortable cars, to the seaside, without the vexation and loss of time caused by the old system. Surely the can't-get-aways will have no reason to grumble when they have these unusual facilities afforded them for reaching this fashionable sea-side resort in such quick time. The new arrangements will secure increased patronage for the line, and there will be a perfect rush arrangements will secure increased patronage for the line, and there will be a perfect rush from the city as soon as warmer weather sets in.

REV. SARILLION W. FULLER.—The late Rev. Sarillion W. Fuller, during his life, was considered one of the most devoted and eloquent clergymen in this city. His body lay forseveral years in the yard front of his church, in Callowyears in the yard front of his church, in Callow-hill street, but when that property was sold for other purposes, his remains were removed to the Odd Fellows' Cemetery, and as the old monument had become very much dilapidated, it was thought best not to place it upon the new grave. Successful efforts have recently been made, and monumental stones have been erected over what remains of that great and good man. The inscription gives the age, death, &c., beneath which is the following sentence:

"He kept the faith and finished his course with joy." On the other stone is an open Bible, on which lies a cross, and the words from xv. Cor.:

"In Christ shall all be made alive." The design reflects great credit on the com-niittee who had the matter in charge, and the execution has been all that could be desired. Mr. John V. Vanderbilt was the artist.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.—John Tighe was arrested by Policeman Thomas Fagan, at Ninth and Walnut streets, at half-past one o'clock this morning, upon the charge of having robbed Alonzo Lawrence of a valuable gold watch and chain, a diamond pin, and a pocketbook containing $120. The stolen articles were found on the person of Tighe. The accused will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

He is 21 years old, and yet weighs only 45 pounds, and measures 31 inches in height. He is intelligent and good looking. He supports a widowed mother in Memphis, his business being that of a newsdealer. While here he sells his photographs and a little sketch of his life, and we commend them to our fellow-citizens.

The Value of Spiritualism.

A very remarkable thing has recently hap A very remarkable thing has recently happened in Xenia, Ohio, from which we shall not be surprised if great consequences follow. A druggist was tried for selling liquor on Sunday. He protested that he was innocent, and that, to the best of his belief, the prosecuting witness had not even been in his / shop on the evening when the offence was said to have been committed. An unbelieving jury bowever found him An unbelieving jury, however, found him guilty, and the virtuous apothecary, as might be imagined, was bothered to know how it all happened. The truth came to light in a most unexpected manner. The druggist fell into a clairvoyant state, and the scenes of that fatal Sunday were reproduced in spiritual vision. A dim and shadowy form seemed to enter the shop, and finally burst forth a clear and well-defined picture, "and the voice of the proseuting witness, coming in, asked for tobaccol' I went forward to wait upon him," continue "I went forward to wait upon him," continues the persecuted shopkeeper, "and asked, How much?" 'Five cents worth', he replied. He received the tobacco, and immediately left the store." This ought to be conclusive. Here is direct testimony from the unseen world, the simplicity and realism of which possess all the sublimity of truth. If there is justice in Ohio, the Xenia druggist will be recompensed by some sort of public testimonial for his undeserved sufferings; and, if evidence of a similar charsufferings; and, if evidence of a similar character can be generally introduced into our courts, we need hardly say that the adminis-tration of justice will be immensely facilitated.
