Upon inquiry, there appears to be no good foundation for these reports, other than that the President's reticence is construed into meaning that he does not approve the actions of the extreme Radicals. Washington, July 9—The course now being pursued by the Spanish authorities in Cuba indicates the adoption of a policy which will allay distrust in the minds of the negroes on the island that they are again to be enslaved if the insurrection is crushed out, and induce them to enlist in the Spanish army. General Puello, who relieves General Latona from the command of the Central Department, is a colored man, who has held successively nearly every grade in the Spanish army. There appears to be some doubt that his present promotion will be approved by other officers of the Spanish army, and ill-feeling result from it, which may give serious trouble to the Captain-General.

The Prussian Consul-General at Havana writes to the Prussian Consuls in the United States, requesting them to warn all Germans here against enlisting in the Cuban army. He says that in his judgment, since the enforcement of the neutrality laws by the United States, the insurrection is dying out.

SECOND EDITION:

Improved to day, though the demand for currency is fully equal to the supply, at least at the hanks. The rates are firm; and not tendency to a decline is noticisable either in loans or discounts. The condition of trade is rather favorable to an easy market; but there is a good speculative demand among the brokers, whilst the South and West continue to draw on the currency market of the East to further the mosments in cotton, wool, and crops. As long as this continues our local loan market will remain unfavorable to be rewers. The rates current to day are 6as per cent, on call, and 8alo per cent, on discount: for all signatures.

They have locked up all the money winns their control and advanced the rate of interest to figures which have driven commercial men to the necessity of standing the most outrageous discounts or becoming bankrupts. When the gold gamblers ran up the premium led disbursed gold to the market at the rate of two millions a week. The gamblers succumbed and gold went down. But now they are operating in currency or greenbacks, just as they were in gold. Secretary Boutwell should adopt the same strategy. He should pour out his currency balance just as he did his surplus gold—The Shylocks, would then cease to fight the natural course of money, and the market would work around to its legitimate condition. The beauty of such a proceeding is the impetus it would give to our national credit, the spectacle being presented to the world of a people earning money so fast that they are compelled, from time to time, to sell gold or to buy their bonds in order to get rid of the surplus cash. The street was very much exercised to day because some learner operators had obtained knowledge of Mr. Boutwell's intentions in advance of the public, and a great deal of il fleeling was manifested on account of the "leak." Money to-day ranged from gold interest to three thirty-seconds at half-past two o'clock. Before the close of banking hours the rate had fallen to seven per cent. currency. At half past three money was to be had at four per cent. The dealers on the sidewalk in front of the Stock Exchange were quite shy and uneasy in consequence of the action of the District Attorney in summoning witnesses before the Grand Jury to testify as to neutrinos practices. Whatever the penalty—and there is a great difference of opinion on the subject—a case is being made up against a prominent firm on the north side of Wall street adjoining the Sub-Treasury, the witnesses against them being also a prominent firm on the regibors.

Governments erro very favorably affected by the news, and advanced from a half to one per cent, upon the general list. The G
