Last evening a shocking tragedy was enacted in West Thirteenth street, an old lady, while sleeping, having been brutally murdered by her insane daughter-in-law. The murdered sleeping, having been brutally murdered by her insane daughter-in-law. The murdered person, Mrs. Susan Lameraux, a widow aged about seventy years, has for some time past lived with her son, Mr. George B. Deaue, at No. 342 West Thirteenth street. Although so advanced in age, she seems to have retained her faculties, and was in a good state of health. For five or six years past, Rosanna, the wife of Mr. Deane, a woman of 45 years of age, has shown symptoms of insanity, occasionally developing into serious paroxysms. At the last severe attack the attendant physician informed Mr. Deane that it would be necessary, in case of another attack, to send the patient to an asylum, as it would not be safe to allow her to remain longer at large, for she would probably make an attempt on the life of some one if not restrained of her liberty. A short time before this she had secreted a razor, and, when it was found, had declared she had intended, to put an end to her life with it. Last evening, a number of the family, with a few visitors, were congregated in the basement of the dwelling, and with them Mrs. Deane. Mrs. Lameraux, feel ing fatigued, had gone to her room, and laid down on a lounge, and is supposed to have fallen asleen. Unobserved by any of the party, ing fatigued, had gone to her room, and laid down on a lounge, and is supposed to have fallen asleep. Unobserved by any of the party, Mrs. Deane slipped out of the room, and was gone apparently but a few moments when she returned. Addressing Mrs. Davis, a boarder, she said: "You had better go up stairs and see what I have done." Almost at the same moment one of the children came in and said that Mrs. Lameraux was lying on the floor in her Mrs. Lameraux was lying on the floor in her room, badly hurt. The room of the injured woman, in the rear of the third floor, was viswoman, in the rear of the third floor, was visited, and the occupant was found lying on the floor beside the lounge, from which she had apparently fallen. On examining the body there were found several marks of violence as though made with a hatchet, and this was afterwards found to have been the weapon used. There were wounds, or rather bruises, on the left side of the head, neck and shoulder, on the left side of the head, neck and shoulder, and also on the breast. A surgeon was at once called in, but the woman, although breathing when he arrived, never rallied, and died in about ten minutes. There is no question but that Mrs. Deane committed the assault on the old lady, although she evinced no concern whatever when charged with the affair, nor made any explanation. She has for a long time past manifested a peculiar dislike to her mother-in-law, although she has never threatened actual violence. One of the idiosyncrasies of the insane woman was that the deceased was endeavoring to influence her son ceased was endeavoring to influence her son to make away with his property, in order that she (Mrs. Deane) and her children should not she (Mrs. Deane) and her indicts about the inherit it. Although subject to these fits of insanity, it was believed that Mrs. Deane was harmless, more especially as she seemed to be completely under the control of her eldest daughter. Captain Washburn, of the Ninth Precinct, was informed of the occurrence, and took Mrs. Deane into custody. At the Charles Street Police Station she was very uncon-cerned, and there was nothing in her demeanor to denote that she had been an actor in so fearto denote that she had been an actor in so tearful a tragedy. Mr. Deane is a well-to-do truckman. He has been for many years employed in that capacity in the Public Stores, and being somewhat of a politician in the Ninth Ward, has a very large circle of acquaintance, by whom he is universally respected.

CITY BULLETIN.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—Coroner Daniels held an inquest this morning on the body of Dennis Dolan, who was shot on the fifth of July night, Dolan, who was sliot on the fifth of July night, at Seventeenth and Pine sts., by a young man named Robert Collins. After Dennis was shot he was conveyed to the Children's Hospital, where he died at 12 o'clock, on the sixth inst. Edward Logue, 17 years of age, residing at 1642 Helmuth street, testified that he was standing at the corner of Seventeenth and Helmuth streets, on the 5th of July night, about half-past 9 o'clock, when Bernard Blee called me to come around the corner to look at a young man (Robt Collins) who had kicked him, to see if I knew him. Collins went into Armbruster's ice cream saloon, and kicked him, to see if I knew him. Collins went into Armbruster's ice cream saloon, and I crossed over to the other side of the street and waited until he came out, to see if I knew him; when Collins came out of the ice cream saloon, he snapped his pistol and laughed. He went down Pine street with two girls; when he (Collins) got to Sixteenth and Pine streets, he left the girls and went among a crowd of left the girls and went among a crowd of young men, and said to one, by the name of Hancock, that he was one of the boys that was following him, and Hancock said no. Collins then said if he was a little bigger he would mash his mouth, when Hancock said he did not know as he would.

Collins then started back to the girls, who were on the other side of the street, and put his hand in his breast and pulled out a re-volver; then fired one load towards the ground, the second towards the crowd; Dennis Dolan was standing on the corner, near Hancock, and the second load shot him; did not see him fall, but heard him cry out, I am shot; Charles Cole, Hancock and others were standing by; after shooting the boy, Collins ran up the

Bernard Blee, living at 1538 Lombard street; Charles Cole, residing 1638 Helmuth street, and James Hancock, residing at 1533 Shippen street, corroborated the above statement Dr. D. Murray Chestan, residing at 1428 Chestaut street, sworn—Testified that about ten o'clock on the night of the 5th, Dennis Dolan was brought into the Hospital, but by whom he did not know! I saw him about ten o'clock on the night of the 5th, Dennis Dolan was brought into the Hospital, but by whom he did not know; I saw him about twelve o'clock; found the child with a pistol wound about one inch above the hipbone; I attempted to probe the wound, and found the ball had entered the cavity of the abdomen; he was suffering from depression; his pulse beat about 130; continued so through the following day; vomited almost incessantly; he died about 12 o'clock on the night of the 6th of July. His uncle is a policeman, and was present when the body was conveyed to his home. I asked permission to make a post mortem examination; it was granted, and I made it, with the following particulars: Found the ball had entered the abdomen, striking and bruising a knuckle-of the small intestine; I could not find the ball; in my opinion the direct cause of death was hemorrhage, and the shock caused by the wound I have described. The post mortem examination was made at a o'clock P. M. on the 7th inst.

clock P. M. on the 7th inst. It seems that the doctor gave the certificate of burial, and it was by mere accident that the occurrence was found out. The inquest will be continued on Tuesday.

THE GREY RESERVES ENCAMPMENT .- On THE GREY RESERVES ENCAMPMENT.—On Friday morning next the Grey Reserve Regiment, of this city, will proceed to Cape May for the purpose of forming an encampment, and remaining for a week. On Monday, the 19th inst., the Greys will give a ball at the Stockton House—a ball which will surpass all other balls ever given on the North American continuous in enchange. Company continent in splendor and elegance. Company I, of this regiment, intends to do its best to win position as the champion company, and that the public may perceive in what manner it has arrayed itself and drilled itself for the campaign at the Cape, a dress drill will be given on Monday night at the armory, Broad street, below Race, when Lt. Col. R. Dale Benson will make an inspection of the organization. It is understood that the employers of some of the young gentlemen connected with the regiment are surly enough to deny them a week's holiday, to enable them to go to Cape May. We seriously hope that these ill-natured gentlemen will take a more liberal view of the matter, and give the privi-lege to their clerks not only that they may have recreation, but that a proper military spirit—of which there is too little in this community-may be encouraged. DRINKING FOUNTAINS NEEDED .- The Philadelphia Fountain Society has already done good service by the erection of drinking fountains at different points about the city. These fountains are in use every moment during the day, and therefore it is evident that they are a great accommodation. Some of these drinking fountains are badly needed along Delaware avenue. That thoroughfare is very ware avenue. That thoroughfare is very much used during the day, and there is not a place where the horses can be refreshed with a drink of water. Water is also required on board of vessels and boats, and as the river water is not very desirable for drinking purposes some of these fountains would be a poses, some of these fountains would be a great accommodation to boatmen and sailors.

CANAL BOAT SUNK .- The canal boat Venus, belonging to Reading, was sunk on the west side of the river Schuylkill, under the Wire side of the river Schuylkili, under the Wire Bridge, about nine o'clock yesterday morning. In consequence of the peculiar formation of the river bank at that point, a boat, when moored, will be partly on land and partly over fifty feet of water. The Venus was loaded with iron ore, and it is supposed that the strain caused the boat to break in half. At the time, she sank there were three men and two mules on board. They went down with two mules on board. They went down with the boat, but, fortunately, the hatch was forced open by the water, and men and mules came to the surface and were safely rescued.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.-William Hall, aged 50 years, was arrested yesterday and was locked up in the Fifth District Police Station Last evening he attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a pocket-knife.
