THE GRAY RESERVES' BALL. A Brilliant Willtary Ovation. [Correspondence of the Phila. Evening Bulletin.] CAPE MAY, July 20.—The great event o

Cape Island, yesterday, was the grand ball given at the Stockton House, in compliment to the First Regiment Pennsylvania Infantry (Grav Reserves.) For several weeks past military circles hav een on the qui vive, in anticipation of this affair, which was engineered by gentlemen whose names insured for it a brilliant success and it is very certain that if anyone was disappointed last night, he must have been in dulging in a most unwholesome excess of imagination. For numbers, in brilliance of dress and decoration, in animation and universal good spirit, in excellent management, and a unmixed enjoyment, the Gray Reserves' Ball will long be remembered in the calendar of Cape May's festivities. If there was a single regret connected with the occasion, it grew out of the absence of President Grant, whose engagements compelled him to be at Long Branch, and of Gen Meade, who, in view of his recent severe illness, was debarred by the storm from participating in the doings of the day. Of course, nobody but Mr. Colfax can represent the President, but General Meade was ably personated by his handsome though veteran staff officer, Major-General Van Vliet, who re-viewed the Reserves in the afternoon, and who expressed himself as highly gratified—as he well might he—by the admirable precision of the evolutions of the regiment. The review convicted of more burn by communice in consisted of marching by companies in column, and afterward in double quick time by sections, concluding with the battalion drill and dress parade. The splendidly decorated Ball Room of the Stockton House was thrown open at 10 o'clock, and was soon swarming with gentle-men and ladies from all the hotels on the island. It is estimated that not less than 2,000 guests were on the floor. The effect of the blending of the correcus dresses of the ladies.

The Indian Peace Commis [Special Despatch to the Phila, Evening Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, July 20.—The Indian Peace Commission left on Friday last for the Indian country, to visit all the principal tribes and ascertain their wants and exact condition. The advices at the Indian Bureau are to the effect that the new agents in the West are doing the work assigned them in the most satisfactory manner. Commissioner Parker does not believe that any serious Indian troubles, are likely to occur after all the agents get fairly established and understand what is expec of them.

New Feulan Movement. [Special Despatch to the Phila. Evening Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, July 20.—It seems that the Fenian organization has not entirely died on as supposed, but has been, of late, making quiet but extensive preparations for purposes as yet unknown. In fact, so far have the schemes progressed that some alarm is maniested here, and the proper action for the authorities to pursue is freely discussed, without coming to any conclusion other than to hold the matter under advisement until additiona nformation is obtained.
