Our New School-Houses.—Much skill and Oun New School-Houses.—Much skill and coare in designing and constructing have been taken in the erection of our public school-houses, within the past ten years, so that Philadelphia can, in this respect, triumphantly boast of superiority over any other city in the United States. The school-house now being erected on the site of the Commissioners' Hall of the old District of Northern Liberties. Third dynamics on the site of the Commissioners' Hall of the old District of Northern Liberties, Third street, below Green, will be one of the finest yet erocted. The foundation is being constructed. The building will have a front of fifty feet, a depth of minety feet, and be three stories in height. There will be three wings to the structure, allowing very easy facilities for errees and incress.

egress and ingress.

Another substantial school-house is being built on the N. E. corner of Shippen and Guilford streets. It will be 48 feet square, having two stories, each 12 feet in height in the clear, between the floors and the cellings.

A public school-house, to be two stories in height, has just been commenced at the corner of Main and Coulter streets, Germantown, Twenty-second Ward. The structure will be Twenty-second Ward. The structure will be 40 feet front by 56 feet in depth, and will be finished and ready for occupation before the close of the ensuing autumn.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is so young in existence that it is yet an experiment, al-though a large amount of good has been done through its agents. Frequently, however, articles appear in newspapers complaining of this thing or that in connection with this subject. If the complainants would call upon the agents or the officers of the Society, and furnish legal evidence of any infraction of the law, in-stead of rushing to newspapers to file their complaints, much more good would ensue, and there would be no more published complaints, two-thirds of which often do more harn than good. One thing is certain—the lame horses which often appeared upon the public streets, particularly in the southern part of the city, have entirely disappeared from view. In this respect the Society has worked a reformation entirely commendable.

ADDITIONAL IMPROVEMENT.—An addition to the immense sugar refinery is being erected on the north side of Almond street, from Delaware avenue westward to the extent of 190 feet, by a front of 31 feet. The site upon which this additional structure is being erected caused much dispute several years ago, and required legislative action before it could be awarded to the use to which it is appropriated. The sugar refinery had no outlet on Almond street before this strip of ground was purstreet before this strip of ground was pur-chased by the proprietors. The refinery is one chased by the proprietors. The refinery is one of the largest in the country, and in the department of manufactures one of the most important in Philadelphia. Many thousands of hogsheads of unrefined sugar are landed upon its wharves during the year, and many workmen of several classes find employment there.

ROBBING A COUNTRYMAN.-A German, be-ROBBING A COUNTRYMAN.—A German, belonging to Doylestown, came to the city yesterday afternoon. He fell in with Charles Meenan, and asked him where he could get a cheap lodging-place. Meenan recommended him to sleep in a wagon which was standing on Second street above Fitler. The stranger adopted the suggestion. After he had fixed adopted the suggestion. After he had fixed himself for a snooze he felt a hand in his pocket, and found that it belonged to Meenan. The matter was amicably arranged, however, and the Doylestown man went to sleep. When he awoke his coat was missing, and he swore out a warrant for the arrest of Meenan upon the charge of larceny. The accused was captured, and after a hearing before Alderman Helpe, was sent to prior Heins, was sent to prison.

CAMPAIGN CLUB FORMED.—A meeting of Republican voters of the Fourth Legislative District (which comprises the Seventh Ward and part of the Twenty-sixth Ward) was held last evening to ratify the nomination of Joseph Bready, Esq., as a candidate for the Legislature. A Campaign Club was formed, and the membership roll was signed by about one hundred voters. The following officers were chosen: President, James Alcorn. Vice President, William Gamble. Secretaries, Lewis Ashmead and Golonel Enoch Edward Lewis. Treasurer. Joseph McMorris. CAMPAIGN CLUB FORMED .- A meeting o Treasurer, Joseph McMorris.

Riotous Conduct.—Henry Burns, a sailor belonging to the United States Navy, was arrested yesterday afternoon for riotous conduct at Smith's Island. He was also charged with having committed a violent assault and battery on L. B. Chadd, a special officer stationed on the Island. On the way to the city Burns jumped into the river and swam ashore, but was captured when he had landed. This morning he had a hearing before Alderman Kerr, and was held in $800 ball to answer the charges of riot and assault and battery.

THE PROHIBITORY PARTY .- A call for a meeting of delegates from the several Wards, to be held at Concert Hall, August 4, 1869, "for the held at Concert Hall, August 4, 1869, "for the purpose of completing the organization of the Prohibitory Party, and nominating candidates for the city offices," has been issued. This call is signed by I. Newton Peirce, Amos Briggs, J. C. Garrigues, Enoch C. Hendry, George Gabel, George H. Hick, William S. Stiles, E. W. Smitheman, George S. Ferguson and S. S. Ketcham, as Committee of Arrange-ments.

Charged with Robbery.—James Wilson was arrested last evening, at Thirteenth and South streets, upon the charge of the larceny of $170. The complainant is Patrick McGerety, residing at No. 1728 Christian street He alleges that he was in a tavern on South street, and Wilson held him while another man took the money from his pocket. Wilson was taken to the Central Station, and will have a hearing this afternoon. a hearing this afternoon.

THE WEST PHILADELPHIA ACCIDENT.-The West Philadelphia Accident.—
This morning the Coroner held an inquest upon the body of George Esher, whose death resulted from being Jammed between the truck of the Spring Garden Hook and Ladder Company and a telegraph pole, in West Philadelphia on Sunday morning. The deceased was riding on the truck at the time of the accident

ROBBERY.—The lager beer saloon of William Brill, at the S. E. corner of Twenty-fourth and Green streets, was entered through the cellardoor, last night, and robbed of a revolver, 30 cigars and 50 cents in money.

SERIOUS FALL. — Martin Slack, aged 32 years, fell from a one-story house in the rear of Buler street, above Tasker, this morning, and was severely injured.

THE NICOLSON PAVEMENT.—This pavement THE NICOLSON PAVEMENT.—This pavement having been thoroughly tested, may be pronounced unrivalled. The jolting caused by the cobble-stones is all done away with, and in place of ragged and rutty streets, a clean, smooth road is afforded by the Nicolson. Property owners who may be desirous of improving the street and getting rid of those tortures for horses—cobble-stones—can have all information relative to the merits of the Nicolson pavement given to them at the office of olson pavement given to them at the office of the Nicolson Pavement Company, 731 Walnut street, between 11 and 2 o'clock; daily.

Desperate Freaks of a Lunatic-He Seizes a Mail Wagon-Delivers its Contents-Attacks a Family Driving on the Highway—Successfully Resists the Attempt of Several Men to Arrest Him, and William Buck was murdered at Succasunna Plains, New Jersey, on Friday night last, under mostsingular circumstances, by a lunatic named John Bruen. It appears that Bruen had for several years been periodically insane in the heated weather of summer, and that at these times his conduct had been uncontrollably violent. On Friday morning last he left his home in Madison, while suffering under one of his attacks of insanity, and took passage by the mail train on the Morris and Essex Railroad to Hackettstown. The conductor of the train, before it arrived at Madison, discovered that Bruen had neither money nor a ticket, and he put him off the train at the Morristown depot. Bruen rushed frantically through the depot, and, as if determined to have a ride in some sort of conveyance, jumped into the mail wagon, which was standing near the depot, and drove away. He was familiar with the twin and drove directly to the Post-office, where he threw out the mail-bags. He then started to drive away again, but the crowd who surrounded, the Restorice door, seeing that he was not the regular carrier, and no-ticing his excited conduct, attempted to arrest him. But he escaped after a determined struggle, and ran out on the road leading to Succ sunna Plains.

Toward evening Mr. Robert Shaw, the sta-Toward evening Mr. Robert Shaw, the station agent of the Chester Railroad at Succession and Palas, was driving toward the station, accompanied by his wife, on his return from Morristown, when he was suddenly overtaken by young Bruen. The lanatic came stealthily up behind the wagon and leaping into the box attempted to climb over the top, which was thrown back. Mr. Shaw urged on his horse at a desperate rate of speed to eswhich was thrown back. Mr. Shaw urged on his horse at a desperate rate of speed to escape the determined attempts of the madman to climb over into the forward part of the wagon, and struggled with his assallant to throw him out. He struck Bruen several blows with the butt of his heavy whip, but the latter persisted in his efforts to obtain a place in front. The wagon, the first property of the struck of the struck of the latter persisted in his efforts to obtain a place in front. out the latter persisted in his efforts to obtain a place in front. The wagon top finally gave way, and the lunatic fell to the ground. Arrived at the village in which he resides, Shaw stopped at a hotel, and was relating the circumstances of his strange adventure on the mountain when young Bruen entered. Shaw had no idea that Bruen was unsound; and he opened a dispute with him. Hard words passed between them. Bruen staved for some time. between them. Bruen stayed for some time, manifesting no intention of leaving. Mr. Shaw, after awhile, quietly left the hotel and repaired to the residence of a Justice of the Peace. A few moments consultation with him resulted in the issuing of a warrant for the arrest of Bruen. The constable to whom the warrant thus issued had been given im-mediately went in search of the lunatic, and at about 9.30 in the evening came into contact with him. An effort was made to arrest him. Bruen resisted with such strength and vigor that he for some time baffled the united exertions of the half dozen men who contended against him. A long and desperate struggle, however, resulted in his fall. His caphowever, resulted in his fall. His captors now made an effort to the his hands. While preparations were in progress he succeeded in wresting himself from the grasp of those who held him down, and sprang to his feet. Almost simultaneously with his rise from the ground he drew a long jack-knife from his pocket and threatened to stab the first man who should again atternet. stab the first man who should again attempt to put hands upon him. The fierce firmness which his words and manner bespoke intimidated his captors, and no second attempt was made to take him into custody. When Bruen seemed to have satisfied himself that his threat had accomplished its intended intimidation he turned on his heel and walked deliberately

He had not proceeded many steps before a young man engaged in his father's store near by, named Wm. Buck, stepped out upon the road, and with the evident intention of assistroad, and with the evident intention of assisting in his arrest, walked rapidly toward the retreating man. When he had got almost up with him, Bruen turned suddenly about and buried the long blade of his jack-knife into the breast of his pursuer. The stabbed man retreated a few paces, crying "he has stabbed me;" then fell. Those who had attempted but unsuccessfully to arrest Bruen, lifted his prostrate victim from the ground and cavried him trate victim from the ground and carried him into his father's house.

The news of the fatal encounter spread like wildfire among the people of the neighborhood. A consultation was held and a number hood. A consultation was nead and a number of the best men sent in pursuit of the savage lunatic. These soon encountered him. An attempt was made to capture him, a fearful and it was not until he had been knocked down three times with a bludgeon, that his capture was effected. He was taken to Morristown and committed to

In the meanwhile young Buck was sinking rapidly. At eleven o'clock he lost the power of speech. In two hours and a half afterwards, during which he suffered unutterable agony ne was a corpse. The affair has created a feeling of profound sorrow in the places where the lunatic and his victim resided.

SCOTCHED THEM.—Daft Jamte was a wellknown character in the city of Edinburgh forty vears ago. As his sobriquet implies he was crazy, but the crack in his skull let in sufficient ight to enable him to run on errands and carry etters for those who might employ him. The poor harmless lad was the last victim of the infamous Burke and Hare, and it was by his death that the long series of murders by those wretches was brought to light.

One cold winter day Jamle delivered a letter to Bailie ----, and waited at the office door while the clerk was preparing a reply "Weel, Jamie, my mon," said the official,

'how's a' wi' ye?" "Na that gude, Bailie; I had an unco bad dream last nicht." "And what might it be about?" queried the Bailie, as he stood with his back to the blazing hearth, regarding with easy indifference the shivering messenger.
