The Twenty-sixth Wand Homicide— Goronen's Inquest.—This morning Coroner Danlels held an inquest on the body of Fran-cis Wycoff, colored) who was killed by stal-bing, at the barbershop of James Derry, No. 1522 Shippen street, on Thursday last. Israek R. Ricketts, colored, 805 Emmeliue street, testified—On Thursday, the 5th of Au-gust, in the morning, before 11 and 12, a man came to James Derry's shop, No. 1522 Shippen street, with two looking-glasses, and said that he was to leave them by order of James Derry; he was out, and I said that I would go and see if I could find him; I went out on Shippen st. and saw Henry Carr (the prisoner) coming to and saw Henry Carr (the prisoner) coming to-wards the shop; I asked him if he had seen James; he said "no," but he had seen Frank (the deceased); he went on to the shop, and I, continued on and found Derry and Wycoff; I told Derry to come to the shop, that the man was waiting with the glasses; I went to the shop; Carr and the man with the glasses were there I told the man that Derry would be there; I told the man that Derry would be there in a few moments; Derry came to the shop in a few minutes; he looked at the glasses and went out, as I supposed, to get the inoney; while he was out, Carr said to the man, "James has gone out and don't know what time he will come back; you had better let me take the glasses and show them to his wife;" I said to Carr, "you had better not have any-thing to do with the glasses:" Carr replied that he knew his business; I told the man that he had better not let Carr take the glasses; Carrinsisted on taking the glasses to show to James Derry's wife, and told the man that she lived up stairs over the shop, which was not so; the man let him have one glass; he took the glass out the back door, the man supposing that he went up stairs with it; he went out in the street; the man asked me where the fellow had gone with the glass; he then asked me if Derry's wife lived up stairs, and I told him no; the man then went to hunt for Carr; in the meantime Derry came back; for Carr; in the meantime Derry came back, and I told him that Carr had taken a glass out, saying that he was going to show it to your wife; Derry told the man that he ought not to have let Carr have the glass; Carr came back, and I saw him and the man talking in the street; when he came in the man asked Carr for the glass; he said that he couldn't get the glass, but there was a dollar towards paying for the glass, and if he came on Saturday or Monday he would pay him, as Derry was to pay him, and that would be all right; the man said that he wanted the glass; Carr said that he couldn't get the glass, and he had better make the best of it; Derry said that rather than have any trouble he would pay for the glass, and counted out all of the money except twenty-five cents. out all of the money except twenty-five cents, which I gave to him; Derry and the man then went out to take a drink; Wycoff, who was in shop, and said: "Hen, if I was boss of this shop I wouldn't keep you here a half hour; I wouldn't keep you here a half hour; I would put you out on the bricks, because any man who would do as you have done is not fit man who would do as you have done is not fit to be in the shop," Carr asked him what he meant; he said he meant what he said; Carr told him that he didn't care a — for him or Jim either, that Jim or 'Wycoff neither could put him on the bricks; he furthersaid: "You have a good deal to say about it, and — I can whip you;" Frank said: "You can't whip me;" Carr said: "You dare not fight;" Frank said: "No. I don't want to fight, but if you ever raise your hands to hit me or cut me, either one, I'll put you in your hole, where you belong," Carr

you, "righthere;" he then pulled off his coat; Wycoff had on no coat; then I got on my feet and said to them: "If you go out and get your rum into you you needn't to think that you can come into this shop and do your fighting, as you shan't do it;" Carr said, "You are right enough, but I'll be d—d if I am going to let him rule over me;" and then am going to let him rule over me;" and then Car went towards Wycoff; I took hold of both and held them off; they wrangled about and tried to get away; Carr then put his hand down into a pocket behind his pantaloons; Frank asked him if he was going after a knife; I didn't see him pull out a knife at that time; I looked at Wycoff and then at Carr, and then saw Carr, have, a knife in his hand, and then saw Carr have, a knife in his hand, and was opening it; I said: "Harry put that knife up, you shan't cut Frank;" he made no answer; I watched him then, and held him tighter; he took the knife and put it in his left hand, turned the blade towards the palm, raised his hand towards his shoulders and threw the knife at Wycoff; the knife lodging in Wycoff's hand towards his shoulders and threw the knife at Wycoff, the knife lodging in Wycoff's breast, about an inch below the nipple: Wycoff said: "I am stabbed, he has stabbed me;" he pulled the knife out of him and threw it on the floor; I then pushed Carr into the little room, and put my foot against the door to keep him in there; then James Derry came in; Frank said to him: "Jim, Harry stabbed me;" Derry and "Wycoff then went to the dry store; I staid in the shop, standing at the door keeping Carrin; a man came and said door keeping Carrin; a man came and said that Wycoff was dying; I opened the door and found that Carr had fied out of the back door; I never saw Carr practice throwing a knife Several other witnesses were examined, but

The verdict of the jury was:

"That the said Francis S. Wyckoff came to his death by a stab inflicted at the hands of Henry Carr, at No. 1522 Shippen street, Aug.

Carr was committed for trial.

THE FIRE ZOUAVES.—The tour of camp duty of the Philadelphia Fire Zouaves at Atlantic City is ended. While the members the regiment were required to adhere strictly to their military character, the monotony of camp life was greatly relieved by the series of entertainments which have been given in honor of the Zouaves, and which have all been eminently successful. The hotel keepers residents and sojourners at the City by the Sea have done everything to make the visit of the boys" a pleasant one, and none of the Zouaves bave any reason to complain of their Zouaves have any reason to complain of their treatment. The week of festivity concluded last night by a grand farewell hop given at the Surf House by Mr. Thomas Farley, the proprietor. The attendance of ladies and gentlemen was very large, and the scene during the dencing was exceedingly brilliant. The affair passed off with the greatest success and with the most unbounded satisfaction to the Zouaves and their numerous friends. Zonaves and their numerous friends.

The regiment will return homothis evening, and is expected to arrive at Vine street wharf at 7 o'clock. The Gray Reserves, Fritz Zouaves and a delegation of the Fire Department. will turn out to receive the Zouaves. The procession will pass over the following route: Up Vine to Second, down Second to Chestnut, Chestnut to Broad, down Broad to Walnut np Walnut to Seventeenth, up Seventeenth to Arch. down Arch to Sixth, up Sixth to Vine, up Vine to Eighth, and there dismiss.

HANDSOME CAR.—Another handsome passenger car has just been placed on the Philadelphia. Germantown and Norristown Railroad. It was built in the company's workshops, under the superintendence of Nathan Pawling, the master carpenter. The car is constructed upon the 'palace' plan, which has lately come in use upon all of the leading railreads, and is supplied with all of the modern improvements, special care being taken to have proper ventilation. The interior of the car is fitted up in an elegant, and most comfortable manner, This is the second car of the kind which has been built in the company's shops, and a third is in course of construction.

Alleged Absconding of a Newark Mer-chant...Heavy Liabilities.

A dry goods merchant in Newark, N. J., named Moses Maybaum—in whose integrity his business friends had unbounded confidence -after having borrowed from several of these, in all the sum of $30,000, is said to have fled from Newark on Thursday morning with between $20,000 and $40,000 of money borrowed ween $30,000 and $40,000 of money borrowed.
Menuel Samuels is said to have loaned $5,000;
Chas. Rodemaker, $2,500; Messrs. Heller & Son;
$2,000; Louis Bokofser, $1,000; Ulrich
Scheiner, Joseph Leibstein, Myer Friest,
John Miller, and others, sums ranging from $1,000 to $3,000. He had been doing a rather extensive dry goods business, and is known to extensive dry goods business, and is known to have been particularly fortunate in some real estate speculations. These circumstances, together with a confidence in his honesty, made his application to the moheyed business men of Newark for loans as successful as they were. The first intimation he is said to have given of his intention of leaving Newark was that eiven to Mr. Knothe, the dealer in Newark given to Mr. Knothe, the dealer in Newark from whom he bought his groceries. On Wed-nesday nighthe went in Knothe's store and morning Kuothe observed him making his way hastily toward the railroad depot. As he passed by he told Knothe, in answer to an inquiry, that he was bound for Chicago, and inquiry, that he was bound for Chicago, and included the control of the cont tended to return as soon as he could pay his debts. From Knothe the news of his departure spread rapidly among his creditors. Owing to the excitement which prevailed among them on excitement which prevailed among them on Thursday, the creditors took no steps to secure themselves as far as possible against loss by attachment against the property left in his store, and it is said to have been all removed by Mrs. Maybaum during the succeeding hight. As a consequence, when the Sheriff went to the store to levy the attachment vesterday morning he found no goods to levy upon. It is said that the store on Thursday avening contained goods to the levy upon. It is said that the store on Thursday evening contained goods to the value of $5,000. The alleged absconding debtor issaid to have offered to secure the repayment of the loans by mortgage upon his real estate. But one or two of his creditors thought the securities necessary. The others were willing to trust to his honor. An examination in the station house in Newark vesterday developed the fact that he had mortgaged his property to a figure between $6,000 and $7,000 beyond its real value, long previous to these last trans-

The Attempt to Blow Up Parliament. Another gunpowder plot has threatened to blow up the English Government. Was it a plot of the Disestablished Churchmen against the lives of the Commons, or of the unestab-lished churchmen against the Lords? The old song of the Gunpowder Plot invokes

"A curse upon the Papishers
Because they did conspire
To blow King and Parliament
With gun and gunpowdire."

The attempt to burst the House of Lords would hardly have been worth the powder. Time is a kind of slow train sure to touch off political nuisances in the end, and with less loss of life than by Guy's method.—Tribune.
