The President, with Mrs. Grant, first took a drive to the Notch, and then set out overlaking the rest of the party on set out, overtaking the rest of the party on the road. At the base of the mountain railway the President passed some minutes in way the freshtent passed some minutes in examination of the locomotive used in this novel piece of engineering skill, and was particularly struck with the simplicity and safety of the air brake. Everything of importance connected with the construction and running of the railroad was explained by Mr. Marsh, the netapole of the roal.

Outrageous Destruction of Church Proand hammered into a lump; the tabernacle was torn from the altar and broken; the mass book torn to pieces, and scattered over the pews and floor, and the altar-cloth, &c., destroyed and besmeared with filth. Such a complete wreck was never before witnessed in any church. A person strongly suspected of being the leader of the pack of ruffians who committed this dastardly act saved himself by leaving the place. The excitement among the congregation is very great, and fears are entertained that certain suspected parties will suffer at the hands of these outraged people. The parties most strongly suspected are living in the neighborhood, and if any positive proof can be had will be arrested. BALTIMORE, Aug. 28—Arrived, steamer Berlin, from Remen.

[From the New York Herald of to-day.] RIDAY, August 27.—The features of inter street to-day wore the excitement and betting consequent upon the boat rice in England, the specialities in the Gold Room and the fluctuations of Eric. As to the boat race it attracted a great deal of attention, and groups were gathered on the sidewalks in Wall and Broad streets the whole day, laying wagers before the race, and commenting upon it after the result was known. The first despatch announcing a victory for Oxford was followed by one announcing the Harvard men as winners, and no little confusion was the consequence. It had the apparent authenticity of a telegraphic communication, and was doubtless a device to enable the losers to "hedge." Such was its general interpretation when the first despatch had been confirmed. In Eric the revival of interest and operations was evidenced in the crowd gathered at the National Stock Exchange and the constant passing to and fro of people between the two Exchange buildings. The price spened in the vicinity of 34, advanced to 36%, "cash;" yielded to 33%, and closed at 34%. It is stated that the company in trutherance of the agreement with Michigan Southern, are to withdraw their loats from the lakes, and give the business to the railroad. The London price advanced to day to 23, it is said that Peter B. Sweeny, who is one of the prominent directors, is a heavy purchaser of the sterling stock, and that he is expected within a week ores from Europe. As Juy Gould, in the capacity of receiver, still retains the power to cancel the overissues, there is an apprehension that in the process of registration a "trap" will be sprung on the heavy short interest in Erie. A lively future is the immediate prospect for operations in it. The rest of the railways were heavy at the opening, and declined with a fall in New York Central, which went down from 2034 to 1934. The oxoceptions to the general decline were New Jersey Central, which and the spreed of the west steady, and for a time somewhat active, reaching 1802.
