Philadelphia Money Market. DAY, Aug. 30, 1869 .- Money matters seem to wear the same aspect to day as during the past week. The market is gradually hardening, and difficulty is expe-rienced in disposing of the best paper at the bank counters, except on very short time. Balances arejust now out of the question, and if they were ever so large now out of the question, and if they were ever so large there would be a heavy line of paper to select from, and high rates might be readily obtained. In call loans there is very little doing, and the rates continue un-changed at about 748 per cent, but discounts get firmer very day and more irregular. Choice notes are barely urrent at sixty days or more, at 10 per cent., the average cing fully one per cent, per month. Gold opened heavy and lower, and this feature con uned up to noon.
