SCRANTON, Sept. 7.- The lamontable mining SCRANTON, Sept.7.—The lamontable mining disaster is the universal subject of inquiry; thought and feeling. While the whole commu-nity is thrilled to the centre with sorrow, the mining population, as might be expected, are more deeply and painfully touched than any other class. All work is suspended in the mines in this vicinity, and nearly the whole force of miners, in mining suits, have gone to Avondale, to remain there until their brethren are brought out dead or alive. Special trains are run down from here and no fare charged those going to Avondale. Special trains are run down from here and no fare charged those going to Avondale. Thousands have gone from this direction alone, and the whole country is aroused and flocking to the scene of disaster. In the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth, or Hyde Park Wards of this city, the streets are thronged with women, relatives and friends of the men in the Avondale pit, cagerly beseeching every person arriving from below for information, and their weeping arouses the sympathy of all spectators. Mining cannot be resumed at any of the works of the Delaware, Lackawanna and works of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company probably within a week, or at least until all the funerals of the Avondale dead are over. The fact of the long and severe strike, just ended, adds greatly to the destitution which will follow the calamity.
