The Story of the Attempt to Blow up the "Prigate and the Hanging of Satiors." The Paris correspondent of the New York Thic Paris correspondent of the New York Thice writes about the attempt to blow up the Sabine at Cherbourg, which was vaguely alluded to by a cable despatch some days ago, and caused considerable alarm, as follows. We still doubt the entire truth of the story:

"The Journal du Haure, of Monday, contains the account of the execution of seven American sailors, in the open see before tains the account of the execution of seven American sailors, in the open sea before Cherbourg, for being concerned in a plot to blow up the United States frigate Sabine. The following are the details: For the last the days the frigate had been anchored in the roadstead. On Saturday morning a midshipman descended into the hold to execute an order from one of his superiors, and perceived a match, one end of which was, burning, and the other of which communicated with the powder magazine. He hastily reascended and apprised the officers on board of the fact, so that the match was immediately extinguished. It was time, for a few minutes later the frigate would have been blown up.

"The commander on board the Sabine imme-"The commander on board the Sabine immediately commenced an inquiry, which led to the discovery of a plot having for its object the destruction of the American frigate, and of the whole of its personnel. The authors of this wicked attempt did not recoil before the prospect of a certain death in order to satisfy their savage vengeance. Twenty-two salors were placed in irons, and seven were condemned to be hung immediately. Before executing them, the Commandant of the Schine applied to the competent authority at Cherbourg for permisthe Commandant of the Schine applied to the competent authority at Cherbourg for permission to carry out the sentence on the spot, but this permission was not granted. The Sabine, therefore, immediately lifted her anchor, put out to sea and was barely quitted the roadstead when ropes working on pulleys hoisted the guilty wretches into the air. Human justice was satisfied, and an example of terrible punishment given. Several boatmen, who happened to be behind the mole, were witnesses of this sad spectacle." ses of this sad spectacle."

We find the contents, without exception, entirely unharmed, merely slightly damp, and we feel now in a condition to commence our business again, having every Book perfectly safe.

We shall in a few days require a larger one, and will pon you.

Very Respectfully,
JAMES EARLE & SONS.

GENTLEMEN: In the year 1836 I unfortunately was in business in the Artisan Building, which was destroyed by fire on the 10th of April. I had then in use what I supposed was a Fire-proof Safe, but upon opening it I found everything was destroyed, and fire burning therein. You will recollect, gentlemen, there was several of
