THE POMOLOGICAL CONGRESS.

Reception of the Members by the Mayor-To Day's Session of the Congress. This morning, at half-past eight o'clock, the delegates to the Pomological Congress assembled in Parlor C of the Continental Hotel and then, under escort of the members of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, proceeded to Independence Hall, where they were received by the city authorities.

J. S. Houghton, member of the Pennsylva nia Horticultural Society, said :

Sir-It is my pleasing duty, as a member of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, to present to the Mayor of Philadelphia the officers and members of the American Pomo-logical Society, now holding a session in this duty.

I present to you, sir, a body of cultivators of I present to you, sir, a body of cultivators of the soil, who represent a vast industrial in-terest, extending over the whole continent, and which counts its annual products, in plants and trees, by millions of dollars. I present a body of men whose annual pro-ducts, in the shape of fruit, carry health and happiness to millions of our people. I present to you an assemblage of men whose labors in the fields of natural science have not only done them honor in America.

have not only done them honor in America, but whose names are honored and familiar in but whose names are honored and familiar in all parts of Europe. I present to you, sir, the fruit-cultivators of the New England States; whose heads are now silvered with age, and with them I pre-sent the pioneers of the ever-advancing West, who have just planted their vines and fruit-irees to the outer verge of civilization—even to the ice-bound shores of Alaska. I present to you Wilder and Hovey, of Boston; Downey and Barry, of New York; Warden, of Ohio; Hussman, of Missouri; Berkman, of Georgia, names as familiar and as honored in the profession of fruit culture as Bartram and Peters, and Brinckle and Cope, of Philadelphia.

• of Philadelphia. In imagination, here in Independence Hall, I present the Genius of Peace and Plenty to the Genius of American Liberty. I present Bunker Hill to the cradle of the American Union. I present the plains of Carolinian Sumpter to the battle-field of Germantown. I present the representatives of Massachusetts Bay and Providence Plantations and the ploneers of Providence Plantations and the ploneers of Kansas and California to one of the parent States. I present the young American plow-boys of the West to William Penn. And here, is the second snot hallowed by our beloyed boys of the West to William Penn. And here, in this sacred spot, hallowed by our beloved Washington, who now stands in speaking marble in front of the entrance, I may, with these men and these surroundings before me, again, in imagination, ring the old bell of liberty, and hope not only for liberty, but for peace and plenty, and especially for an abundance of generous fruits for all mankind within our borders.

within our borders. Sir, permit me to introduce these men and the sentiments to the worthy representative of the Keystone State of the American Unionto the representative of a city which admits of no superior on the continent in the extent of her industrial interests, in the genial charac-

her industrial interests, in the genial charac-ter of her position, in the number of her happy homes, in the intelligence and virtue of her people, and in their patriotic devotion to the best interests of the Union.
Sir, I introduce the Honi Marshall P.
Wilder, President of the American Pomolo-gical Society, and his associates, to Hon.
Daniel M. Fox, Mayor of Philadelphia, and T any sure the interests of our pomologists are I am sure the interests of our pomologists are safe in such hands as these.

Mayor Fox then said: Gentlemen: I enter upon a very agreeable duity. It falls to my lot, on behalf of the mu-nicipal authorities, to say to you that the peo-ple of Philadelphia are right happy to have you with them, and I therefore give you, one and but a cardial mathematical mathematical automatical sources of the same complete the same set of the same s and all, a cordial welcome. Coming, as you do, not only to exhibit the choice fruits of the earth, but also to consider and determine upon earth, but also to consider and determine upon the best modes of improving their culture and growth, makes up a mission which must com-mend itself with the highest gratification to every thoughtful mind. Indeed, the contem-plation of the subject should naturally lead to the profoundest gratifue to the Great Giver of all good for the bountiful harvests and rich crops with which He has blessed us in every direction. Let me say, gentlemen, that we tries were free from it. These trees were fourteen years old. Dr. Warder, of Ohio, said that the great ob-jection to the tree in Kentucky was, that in that State the bark had been known to split from the tree near the root. In other places it was known as a very valuable market fruit. Dr. Warder also called attention to the ac-tion of the meeting last year in commenting on the Stark apple, which it had been stated was a variety of the Pennock apple. This was not the case, since the Stark is a variety in it-self, entirely distinct from the Pennock. Mr. Robinson, of Philadelphia, asked if the Maiden's Blush and Bachelor's Blush, grown

Maiden's Blush and Bachelor's Blush, grown in Vermont, were distinct varieties. Mr. Barry, of Vermont, answered that the varieties were entirely distinct. Dr. Warden, of Ohio, asked information of the "Southern King" apple, specimens, of which he had received from. Bowling Green. Mr. Howsly, of Kansas, said that he had presented a specimen of the apple in question to the committee. Mr. Allen, of Virginia, said the variety in constiton was the best winter apple known in

Mr. Andrews, of New Jersey, said that the apple known as the "Parry White" was grown in Burlington county, N. J., was a good ap-ple, but little was known of it. Dr. Warder, of Ohio, called attention to the "Siberian Crab." Some of his friends who had tried and failed to grow other kinds had turned their attention to the Siberian apple, and had grown some fine fruit of this class called the "Marengo Siberian." They flour-ished in cold and harsh districts on Lake Su-perior. The apples are small, but quite pala-table. It is of northern origin, and is very hardy and of good prohise. It is easily culti-vated where the "Northern Sy" had failed. The Siberian Crab is not an offshoot of the Pyrus Baccata.

Let me say, gentlemen, that we feel highly pleased that you have selected our city for holding the convention and as the place of exhibition, and I bespeak for you the kindest reception on the part of our citizens, and trust that when the time comes for you to leave for your respective homes you will carry away a lively, lating and pleasant memory away a lively, lasting and pleasant memory in connection with your visit. Colonel M. P. Wilder, of Boston, President of the Pomological Society, responded briefly, expressing his own and the general pleasure of the Society at meeting with so kind a re-ception in the old Hall of American Liberty. The Society was assembled, he said, for an important purpose—the promotion of a large branch of agriculture—and he was glad to see so much interest taken in it by the people of the city. Wherever civilization pushed its way into the wilds of the far West, there " surely followed the horticulturist with his or-chards and gardens.

chards and gardens. In concluding, Col. Wilder extended a cor-dial invitation to the Mayor to visit Horticul-tural Hall, and be present at the session of the tural Han, and be present at the session of the Congress this morning. The Mayor acknowledged the invitation, but regretted his inability to accept it. The several members were then individu-ally introduced to Mayor Fex, and the dele-gates adjourned to Horticultural Hall.

To-DAY S SESSION. To-DAY S SESSION. The Society reassembled at Horticultural Hall at 10.30 A. M., the President, the Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, in the chair. The busi-ness of the morning was the discussion on apples.

The President presented a communication from Dr. Governeur Emerson, on the "Agen-cies Operating on Fruit Culture in the Atlantic States," and more especially upon that of

The communication was referred to the Secretary for publication. The President announced a Committee on "Fruits Exhibited," whose duty, will be to report a list for publication. The committee was as follows: Messrs. Fuller, Davis, Tatnall, Downer, Miller, Grif-fith aud Mackintosh.

President Wilder then said that the subject for discussion was "Apples," and it appeared to him that it was desirable that members confine their remarks to new varieties, and to such points concerning the older sorts as, have not been mentioned in previous discus-

Mr. Keywood, N. Y., called attention to an apple, the culture of which seemed to be confined to New Jersey. The name of the va-riety was the Fall Orange. This was found to be a variety which had been discussed previously. Dr. Sylvester, of N. Y., stated that the "Fall Orange" was known as the "Long Island"

apple. Dr. Gillingham, of Virginia, said that he had a fine variety of apple known as the "Ed-wards' Early," which he had been cultivating for fifteen years. It was the second earliest for integrity years. It was the second entries apple in the season, and was recognized by market-men as a good marketable apple. He had found the apple in no other catalogue, than his own. He had given it to the Fruit Committee by the name mentioned. It was

Mr. Davis, of Virginia, introduced the "Pilot apple," a winter apple, bearing well, and classed as a first-rate eating apple. It was a red striped, firm, late winter apple. Mr. Allen, of Virginia, said that the Mason Pinnin or "Mason Stranger" supposed to be a Pippin or "Mason Stranger," supposed to be a seedling of another variety, if kept well and ectening of another varies, in kept wen zin eaten in April, was very fine. Mr. Adams, of Portland, Me., said that in. buying a place lately he had met with an early apple, called by the former owner of the place the "Early Congress," a round yellow apple, striped with red. It matured early in June. The fruit was referred to the committee for examination for examination.

for examination. Mr. Blodgett, of Philadelphia, called atten-tion to Talbon Sweeting and Rhode Island Greening, the product of two buds put to-gether thirty-five years ago, in a New York orchard. Referred to a committee for examination. Mr. Robinson, of Philadelphia, called attention to a small, speckled, and red, round apple, supposed to be an imported fruit.

Mr. Wyer, of Inniois, shid that the "dig ner" was a money-making apple, and a first-class fiuit. The tree is very erect in its growth, and can be planted at a distance of ten feet apart. The tree succeeds root-grafted. Mr. Kelsey, of Kansas, said that the Wag-ner could be planted between other trees, three to one. It bears early, and is exhausted very early. The "Missouri Pippin" is of the

Same style.
Mr. Arnold, of Canada, had root-grafted
Wagners twenty years old, and bearing.
Mr. Moody, of New York, planted the "Wagner" twenty years ago, and if was now in good bearing. He thought that a tree root grafted would last as long as any other. A properly root-grafted Wagner tree, he thought could be made as long-lived as any other tree.
Mr. Kelsey, of Kansas, advocated the grafting from the second cutting. His experience Other gentlemen advocated crown-grafting

Other gentlemen advocated crown-grafting from the first cutting. The subject of Pears was then taken up and adiscussion of the Clapp Pear commenced. It was generally eulogized as a good keeping pear, picked early. It was not more affected by rot than the Sheldon. They kept well until ripe, and then like all pears commenced and failed 1apidly. Mr. Gray, of Westchester, said of the pears generally, that they ought to be picked early, if only to prevent their being stolen. Mr. Hoyd, of Massachusetts, said that the Clapp Favorite was a hardy tree in New Hampshire and Maine. On a light soil it holds its foliage.
