Soon other policemen came about, but they either ran away again. or refused to assist to quell the disturbances. High Constable Curley ordered some of them to duty, and was met with the remark "Who them to duty, and was not will the remark who in h-1 are you?" Hereplied, "I am your superior offi-cer, and you must obey my orders;" but they didn't obey his orders. The police, except those mentioned above, and Reserve Officer Wm. Carson, did nothing to quell the riot. Messrs. Clark, Curley, Kelsh, Crout, Moore, Roberts and Burns were in the thickest of the fray, either attempting to separate the combatants, or engaged in carrying into the Central Station those who had been shot, and some of the officers bear the marks of the deadly strife which was going on. Kelsh was beaten about the head with a lantern. Burns had a foot se-verely injured by a brick. Clark made a very narrow escape from death; a pistol ball struck his coat sleeve, glanced up and passed through the breast of his coat, and half way through a large wallet which he had in and han way intraght angle which he find h his pocket. That wallet saved his life. Po-liceman Carson was shot in the foot Of course these brave police officers were not sufficient in numbers to quell a distarbance which had assumed In numbers to quark a disturbance which had assumed such yast proportions, and as there was no aid from other policemen, the fighting continued until the combatapts got thred of shooting and slasbing, and retired from the struggle. Squads of motion from the Third and Fifth Districts arrived at the scene of riot, but when they got there, the affair was all over and the excitement had almost subsided. It seems to be disgraceful that such riotous proceedings should take place in front of the Mayor's office and the Central Police Station. In former times, when political excitement ran high, and when there was the slightest prospect of a row, the Central Station was filled with policemen, properly officered and ready to start on the instant to any place where a disturbance was threatened. Then no time was allowed for a serious fight, and if thirty or forty resolute policemen had been at Fifth and Chestnut streets last night, the many persons wounded would not have been suffering to day. The number of persons injured last night cannot even be estimated. Some were cut with bricks and lanterns, others were stillbled, and others were injured by pistol shots. The number of shots fired is variously estimated at from 100 to £00. The following is a list of those unded, as far as could be ascertained :

William A. Barrett, residing at No. 636 Marshall street, shot in the head. He has no connection with either club, but was quietly looking on.

Chas. Shuster, who was arrested by Detective Burns, and Arthur Potter, who was arrested by High Constable Clark, had a bearing before Ald. Kerr this morning upon the charge of having been concerned in the riot. They were each held in $2,000 bail to answer at Court.

MORE DEMOCRATIC VIOLENCE .- In addition to mobbing the Irish Republican meeting at Twentieth and Market streets, and to the rlot on Fifth street, the Democracy-indulged last night in a brief attack on the Union League House.

As the Koystone Club passed that building, last even-ing stones wore hurled at it from the street, one of them striking the janitor a severe blow while he was standing st the doorway. Very few of the members happened to be aware of the attack until the Keystoners had passed. and, as no notice was taken of the outrage, the city was spared another scene of bloodshed and arson, such as was enacted by the same party in another section of the

THE CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.

-The reproduction of Our American Cousin at the Chestnut Street Theatre last evening was entirely sucessful. The house was full, and the audience seen mjoy the performance quite as much as if the play had been entirely new. Miss Keene played" Florence Treu-chard" capitally, as she has done hundreds of times before. Mr. Vining Bowers gave a very clever personation of "Asa Trenchard," and Mr. Otis contrived to make his "Lord Dundreary" original and entortaining. Mr. Sheridan's "Abel Murcot" was good, but it has been surpassed upon the stage of the Chestnut. The minor characters were admirably supported by the members of the very excellent company. We regret that want of space this afternoon compels a brief notice of this performance, for it deserves hearty praise. It will be repeated this evening. On Monday Boucicault's lrama, Hunted Down, will be produced.

-The musical matinee for the benefit of the sufferers by the Avondale mine disaster, given by the Jungor Mannerchor and the Germania Orchestra, will take place this afternoon at Musical Fund Hall. A fine programme has been arranged for the occasion, and it is to be hoped that a large sum will be realized for e very worthy object for which the entertainment is to be given. —Mr. Edwin Booth will appear at the Walnut this evening in The Marchant of Venice. -Formosa, or, The Railroad to Ruin, will be repeated at the Arch this evening.
