

Daily Chronicle

GIBSON PEACOCK, Editor.

VOLUME XXIII.—NO. 152.

OUR WHOLE COUNTRY.

PHILADELPHIA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1899.

R. L. FEATHERSON, Publisher.

PRICE THREE CENTS.

FAITH-CLOSETS, COMMODES AND WEDDING CARDS, INVITATIONS

WEDDING CARDS, INVITATIONS for Parties, etc. New styles. MABON & CO. 257 Chestnut street.

MARRIED.

BOWEN-BRIDGES.—On the 4th instant, by the Rev. E. G. Andrews, D. D., at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. John S. Bowen, of this city, to Miss Julia S. Bridges, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

DIED.

YAYARD.—On the morning of the 4th of October, John Yayard, in the 74th year of his age. Funeral services at the house of his brother, James Yayard, No. 102 Locust street, at 9 o'clock, Thursday, 7th instant.

JARVIS.—On the morning of the 3d instant, Mary J. Jarvis, wife of J. Hays Jarvis, and daughter of the late John K. Jarvis.

DAVENPORT.—At Fayetteville, Arkansas, September 23, Charles H. Davenport, son of the late William Davenport of this city, in the 30th year of his age.

KIRK.—On the second evening of the late of the late John Kirk, of Edinburg, Texas, in the 65th year of his age.

WATER PROOF FOR SUITS.

WATER PROOF FOR SUITS. GOLD AND BLACK REPELLANTS. BROWN AND WHITE REPELLANTS. RYAN & LANFLETT, 4th and Arch.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S

GENTLEMEN'S

OUT-FITTING

AND

MERCHANT TAILORING

ESTABLISHMENT

519 and 520

CHESTNUT

STREET.

READY-MADE

CLOTHING

OF THE

FINEST GRADE.

NEW STYLES

FOR

AUTUMN AND WINTER

IN

CUSTOM DEPARTMENT.

BEST QUALITY

OF

GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING

GOODS.

CLOTHING

FOR YOUTHS AND BOYS

IN

GREAT VARIETY.

We extend a cordial invitation to gentlemen to visit our establishment, and form their own opinion of the class of clothing we are opening this fall. We are determined that nothing shall be wanting on our part to make our House worthy of patronage.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE DELAWARE AND NORFOLK RAILROAD COMPANY will be held at the office of the company, northeast corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets, MONDAY, the 1st day of November next, at 10 o'clock A. M., and immediately after the meeting of that meeting an election will be held at the same place for four Managers, to serve for the term of one year.

A QUARTERLY MEETING OF THE WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE SOCIETY

for the prevention of cruelty to animals will be held at the Rooms, No. 129 Chestnut street, on WEDNESDAY, October 5th, at 12 o'clock. The parties who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

A REGULAR MEETING OF THE YOUNG AMERICAN CRICKET CLUB

will be held at the Club House, Germantown, on OCTOBER 10th, October 11th, and 12th, at 8 o'clock. A. E. MORRIS, Secretary.

PENNSYLVANIA HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

experience in Fruit Culture," by Dr. J. T. Houghton, Jr. Oct. 11th, 8 o'clock.

BURLESQUE BASE-BALL.

A number of games will be played on the Athletic grounds, Seventeenth street and Columbia avenue, on THURSDAY, 7th October. Tickets, 25 cents. To be had at Trumper's music store, and at the Athletic grounds.

PROCEEDS TO BE DEVOTED TO THE BENEFIT OF THE MARSH AND HOMEOPATHIC SOCIETY.

will be held on SATURDAY, October 14th, at 8 o'clock, at the University of Pennsylvania, 39th street, above Chestnut, Philadelphia.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The regular lectures of the School will commence on MONDAY, October 16th, at 8 o'clock, at the University of Pennsylvania, 39th street, above Chestnut, Philadelphia.

GRAND STREET. 1109

RUSSIAN, RUSSIAN AND PERFUMED BATHS.

Departments for Ladies. Baths open from 6 A. M. to 9 P. M. 11th St.

HOWARD HOSPITAL, NOS. 1518

and 1520 Lombard street, Dispensary Department. Medical treatment and medicine furnished gratuitously to the poor.

DIVIDEND NOTICES.

OFFICE OF THE FRANKLIN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4, 1899. The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of $100,000, in full of the dividend of the last year, and a special dividend of Two Per Cent. payable to the Stockholders, at their legal representative's office, and after the 15th inst. The parties who are interested are invited to call on or write to J. W. McALISTER, Sec'y.

LEGAL NOTICES.

IN THE ORPHANS' COURT FOR THE City and County of Philadelphia.—Estate of CHARLES P. DEWEES, deceased. The undersigned, appointed by the Court to settle and adjust the first and final account of the said deceased, and to report the same to the Court, do hereby certify that the account of the said deceased, as set forth in the report of the undersigned, is true and correct, and that the same has been approved by the Court, and that the same has been paid to the said Charles P. Dewees, and that the same has been received by him. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of the Court, at Philadelphia, this 4th day of October, 1899. GEO. JUNKIN, Auditor.

MODERN RESIDENCE WANTED.

Also, one or two small houses, in the city or suburbs. Address, care of Mr. J. B. Jones, No. 107 Walnut street.

ISAAC NATHANS, AUCTIONEER, N. E.

corner Third and Spruce streets, only one square below the Exchange. $250,000 to loan, in large or small amounts, on diamonds, silver plate, watches, jewelry, and all kinds of valuable property. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 7 P. M. Established for the last forty years. Large amounts made in large amounts at the lowest market rates. ad 179

[For the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.]

TO REPUBLICANS.

Wake! Arouse! Republicans! And grudge ye for the fight;

Shake off the dew-drops from your swords, That gather but to blight—

Up! Up! for Freedom's battle Is only yet half won;

Up! and let "The Armageddon" be your cry, From dawn till set of sun.

God plants within the human breast The principle of Right;

How ignorant so'er ye be, Ye need not grope in night—

And this the great truth that lies In every breast, by turns,

"A man is a man for a' that," Spake Scotland's poet, Burns.

Not by the color of his skin Shall we adjudge our kind;

But by the feelings of his heart, The stature of his mind—

Be these aright before his God, What cause for plaint have we?

Be careful, lest, through prejudice, Ye mock at Delity!

Who falters now, ignobly flees Ere yet the fight is done;

Nor shall have cause to bless the laws, When victory is won.

Who nobly urges on the Right, Through Freedom's battle-day,

Even though he fall, beloved by all, His name shall live for aye.

Awake! Republicans! Awake! And grudge ye for the fight;

Shake off the dew-drops from your swords, That gather but to blight—

Up! Up! for Freedom's battle Is only yet half won;

Up! Up! and work for Geary, From morn till set of sun.

HASELTINE'S.

The picture-galleries of Mr. C. F. Haseltine, at No. 1125 Chestnut street, are open to the public to-day, with a stock of about 150 oil-paintings, mostly foreign, besides a very large and choice selection of steel engravings, lithographs, photographs, &c.

A large company of invited guests, some of whom were picture-experts from other cities, last night enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Haseltine in his establishment, which was illuminated and decorated for the occasion.

The ordinary artistic names found in the best collections were not wanting in the catalogue of the works exhibited. Boss Bonnier—represented by a small picture of sheep, dated 1859, in her very best style—Germe, Plassan, Hamman, Carl Becker, Hoguet, and that familiar list of French and German painters usually classed as the elite, were represented on the walls, and criticised by a company of remarkably intelligent connoisseurs. A large and important composition was a Market-scene at Antwerp, in the Fifteenth Century, painted by a pupil of Baron Leys, named Schaffels, who unites in the work the talents of a painter to a method imitative of the style of Becker.

Some fruit-pieces by Mr. Milne Ramsey of this city, just brought over by him from Paris, were hung in their place well, by the force of color and careful finish, with the foreign decorative pictures. Among the artists present, besides Mr. Ramsey, were P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the entire establishment is on the ground-floor gallery and a lighter Etruscan style for the rooms upstairs. A rich wall-paper, with tulle hangings and padded chairs, and a beautiful carpet, and a lower room to the galleries, in place of the more public stairs which formerly precipitated the visitor at once into the street.

P. De Long, of Richmond, recently from the foreign studies in the rooms formerly occupied by the Artistic Fund; Professor James H. Smith, of Edinburg; Thomas Moran, the Bonzels, Mr. Hetzel, who has immigrated from Pittsburgh to a studio in Mr. Haseltine's building, &c. This occasion formed a pleasant reunion of artists and their friends in the city during the summer season.

The efforts of Mr. Haseltine to establish an art-centre of the first class in Philadelphia, were highly appreciated. The galleries, as they have been recently decorated, are anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city. The walls have now been decorated with elaborate frescoes of the greatest originality, and the