THE PHILADELPHIA SAVING FUND SOCIETY.

COMPLETION OF ITS NEW BUILDING.

History of the Organization and Progress of the Society.

The new building at the corner of Walnutst and Washington Square, erected by the Phila delphia Saving Fund Society, has been completed, and will be open for the transaction of business on Monday next. The structure presents an imposing appearance and is considered the most substantial one of its kind in the world. The lot upon which it stands is 51 by 170 feet. The building fronts on Walnut street, and extends 130 feet in depth, and is two stories in height. The material used is Quincy granite. The banking-room is on the first floor and is entered through a massive walnut door, with interior plates of wrought iron, on Walnut street. This apartment is about 48 feet square The floor is of marble laid upon brick arches. In the centre is a circular inclosure containing the desks for the clerks engaged in the transaction of the business of the institution. The base of this inclosure is composed of Italian, Virginia, Champlain and Vermont marble. The fitting, furniture and doors are of solid walnut. Midway between the floor and ceiling a gallery extends around the whole room. The ceiling is handsomely frescoed. On the centre-piece are figures, representing Industry, Watchfulness, Faithfulness and Justice. On the outer panels are the coats-of-arms of the United States, Pennsylvania and Philadelphia, and an emblematic design of the Universe. Suspended from the, gallery are eight chandeliers. The windows are of plate-glass, and are protected by sliding iron-shutters. The room is amply provided with light and ventilation.

The Treasurer's room is located at the eastern portion of the building, immediately in the rear of and opening into the bankingroom. Here is lecated the safe for keeping the securities and deposits of the Society. comprises a large vault, with a floor of solid masonry from the ground, and the walls are of the hardest stone which could be procured. There are two doors-an outer and an inner one-both massive, and Franklinite. Inside of the vault is a heavy iron fire-proof safe. The Building Committee's earnest desire was to erect a safe which would stand the efforts of burglars for the longest possible period—from Saturday afternoon until Monday morning—and they have fully accomplished their purpose, for there is no such safe in existence in Philadelphia.

on the Same side of the building as the Treasurer's room, fronting on Washington Square. It is reached through an entry which divide the building in the rear of the banking-room. The apartment is handsomely carpeted, is furnished with walnut, and is provided with a substantial fire-preof safe.

On the west side of the entry are washrooms, waiting rooms. &c., for the use of clerks and depositors. The second story is reached by aniron staircase at the rear of the building, and comains a Directors' room dining-aloen and record-room. The two instrumed are elegantly fitted-up with walnut furniture; and each lighted by two change-liers. The ceilings are handsomely frescoed. Both apartments from on. Washington square. The dining-room is for the purpose of fur-nishing meals free of charge to the clerks, so that the Society will lose but little of their fine during business hours. The record-room is fitted up with shelving for the chronological arrangement of the books and papers of the Society.

As an additional safeguard against the operations of burglars, the building has been surrounded by a number of large plate-glass lamps, which are to be kept under lock and key and to be supplied with gas from the meter in the building. These lamps have been substituted for the city lamps, and are to be lighted every night, the movements of the moon being entirely disregarded.

This handsome and very substantial edifice has been exected at a cost of about $130,000, which is $8,000 less than the estimates made has been erected at a cost of about $130,000, which is $8,000 less than the estimates made by Addison Hutton, the architect, when his plans were submitted to and accepted by the managers. The Building Committee of the managers is composed of S. Morris Waln, Joshua B. Lippincott, Jos. Harrison, Jr., Alex. Biddle and Edward Shippen.

The Philadelphia Saving Fund Society is the oldest institution of the kind in America. In November, 1816, Mr. Condy, Raguet then

In November, 1816, Mr. Condy Raguet, then a well-known citizen, upon reading some accounts of the establishment of saving-banks in England, conceived the idea of starting a similar institution here. On the way to his place of business he met Richard Peters entioned the matter to him, urging that a place to encourage workingp-cople to save their earnings would be very beneficial. The two gentlemen reached Third street and there met Colonel Clement C. Biddle and Mr. Thomas Hale. A consultation ensued, and a meeting of about a dozen citizens was called at the office of Colonel Biddle. The Society was organized, and twenty-five persons each deposited ten dollars to the credit of some poor person whom they wished to help. An office was opened on Sixth street, opposite Minor, and the organizers acted as tellers, clerks, &c.; being fined when they failed to attend during the usual business hours. Deposits came in freely, and for several hours. years a prosperous business was carried on under articles of association. The Society was incorporated February 25, 1819. The only surviving corporator is Mr. Daniel B. Smith, of Germantown. The last survivor of the organizers was the late Chas, N. Bancker. The substantial character of the institution and the excellent manner in which its affairs were managed gained it the confidence of the entire community, and the number of depositors and the amount of deposits went on steadily increasing. After changing about several times, each time securing larger quarters, the Styles property, on Walnut street, above Third, was purchased for $35,000. This property originally included that now occupied by the Saying End Society with the saying End Society w property originally included that now occupied by the Saving Fund Society and that now occupied by the American Fire Insurance Company, the latter company having at a subsequent time purchased that portion for $40,000. Business was commenced in the new location February 22,1840. At that time there were 7,000 depositors. At the present time there are 21,000. Since the organization of the Society 160,000 accounts have been opened. With the enormous increase of business the present place was found to be entirely too contracted to accommodate the large crowds of depositors who daily visited the institution and, in view of the many successful burglarious efforts upon banks and saying funds, the managers became impressed with the duty of managers became impressed with the duty of providing a larger and more secure place for the property of the poor and hard-working people comprising their depositors; and this duty has been fulfilled by the erection of the substantial, fire and burglar-proof building described above. The Society is managed upon benevolent principles—that of encoura-ging the laboring class to save their earnings ging the laboring class to save their earnings and providing a safe place in which to deposit which. None of the managers receive any compensation or are allowed to borrow any inoney from the Society. The deposits from each individual are insited to $500.per annum, and thousands of the depositors are hardworking people, women in all grades of occupation being largely in the ascendency. During the long existence of the Society no depositor ever lost a cent. In times of financial panic, when many swings banks succumbed, the depositors in the Philadelphia Saving Fund always received their due, principal and interest in full. This is because the investments have always been made in substantial ments have always been made in substantial accurities and the institution has been care fully and conscientiously managed. The investments are limited to mortgasge and the loans of the United States, the State of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia. At this time, $4,482,453 of the deposits are in At this time, $4,482,483 of the deposits are in first-class mortgages, without the slightest arrearage of interest, about a million in the bonds of the United States, and about another million in the bonds of the State and city. Not a dollar is ever used in discounting paper or invested in any other class of securities. The present officers of the Philadelphia Savings Fund Society are:

The School Children's Nutting Party. Sometime ago the Park Commissioners passed a resolution requesting the Board of Controllers of the Public Schools to fix a day upon which the pupils should visit the Park, during the chestnut season, for the purpose of having a nutting party. The School Board fixed to-morrow as the day, and appointed a Committee consisting of Messrs. James Freeborn, John Price Wetherill, W. J. Jackson, M.

John Price Wetherill, W. J. Jackson, M. Hall Stanton and P. A. B. Widener, to make the necessary arrangements. This committee has the nin frequent communication with Mr. Cresson, the Chief Engineer of the Park, perfecting matters so that the children may have a good time generally. The schools will be closed to morrow, and it is expected that at least 20,000 children will go to the Park. There will also be the school controllers and directors, the teachers, the parents and guardians of the children, and an immense number of persons who will be attracted by the novelty of the affair, The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, and the Green and Coates, Spruce and Pine, Market Street and Lombard and South Streets Passenger Bailway companies have agreed to carry the children and their parents at reduced rates. The children of the sixth, seventh, minth and tenth sections, and the Gris' Normal School have made arrangements to go by the Reading Railroad from informatical with the children and from information and the grants at reduced rates. arrangements to go by the Reading Railroad from Sixteenth and Willow streets. Those of the nineteenth section will go from Richmond by the Reading Railroad, and will take a band of music. Those of the twenty-fourth, twentyseventh and twenty-eighth sections, being lo-cated in close proximity to the Park, will go on root. Those of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth-sections will go by the Girard Avenue Bailway. For the second, third, fourth and fifth sections arrangements had been made to go by the Spruce and Pine Streets Railway and the Pennsylvania Railroad, but the injury to the bridge across the Schuylkill has made a change in the plan necessary, and other modes of transportation will be provided to-day. The sections not mentioned have made no definite arrange-

The nutting party is to take place in the new park, on the west side of the Schuylkill, where there are about four hundred chestnut trees. The grounds have been divided into twenty-seven sections, to provent scrambling and disorder among the children, and fifty men have been employed to club the trees and get the chestnuts down. Excellent police arrangements, to prevent any interference with the pleasures of the children, have been

DESTRUCTION OF THE PENROSE FERRY BRIDGE.—During the recent freshet in the Schuylkill, the Penrose Ferry Bridge, with the cribs and stone piers. was entirely destroy ed, and the ruins are now completely submerged at half tide. Much of the obstruction is in the channel, and the greatest care must be taken in navigating vessels in that part of the Schuylkill. The business in the shipment of petroleum alone amounts to millions of dollars per annum, to say nothing of the local or coastwise transportation of lumber, iron, coal, lime, and other articles of commerce passing to and fro continually during day and night. Last night vessels coming into the Schuylkill came very near being wrecked upon the de-bris of the bridge. We accompanied a number of merchants, shippers and other business men this morning to the scene of the devistation. There is plenty of occular demonstration as to the vast extent of the overflow of waters in this section. League Island was very nearly covered, but the dyke which surrounds it protected it in every respect. Corn-fields in the low lands were overflowed; barns, stables and fences were earried away, and cattle drowned. There should be something done at once by the city authorities to guard the navigation of the Schuylkill until the building of a new bridge, which probably approach by Warden level and the control of the schuylkill until the building of a new bridge. which probably cannot be effected before next summer. If something be not done at once the city may be called upon to pay immense damages arising from collisions with the submerged ruins of the bridge. Councils will probably take prompt action this afternoon.

FAIR.-At Concert Hall there is now in progress a Fair for the benefit of the new Church of St. Charles Borromeo, Twentieth and Christian streets. The tables are well and Christian streets. The tables are well laden with useful and ornamental things. A fine picture of Mayor Fox, presented by Alexander A. Gallagher, Jr., is being voted for, and there is much competition between the friends of Lieutenants Gercke and Henderson, of the police force. A Catholic mass book, on exhibition in J.T. Gallagher's jewelry store, on Chestnut street, is also being voted for. The work is gorgoously illustrated, each page being printed in from two to five colors. It was imported from Vienna, at a cost of $100 in gold, and was presented to the Fair by a gentleman of the congregation. Of course much interest attaches to the volume, as it is the object of considerable rivalry among the various Catholic churches in the city. various Catholic churches in the city.

Fires.—Last night, about a quarter past ten o'clock, a slight fire occurred in the dry goods store of Waln, Learning & Co., No. 20 Strawberry s. eet.

This morning, about half past one o'clock, a smoke-house of Henry Geissler, at No. 1950 N.

Front street, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $250. No insurance.

DEATH IN APOLICE STATION.-John Burns, aged 53 years, was found in an insensible condition at Seventh and Shippen streets last evening. He was taked to the Seventeenth District Police Station and died shortly afterwards. The Coroner's jury returned a ver-dict of death from general debility.

POLICEMEN IN TROUBLE .- Policemen Thos Grace and Patrick Gorman, of the Third District, had a hearing before Alderman Beltler this morning. Joseph N. Hackiney, No. 427 South Second street; Wm. W. Jones, 415 South Second street, and Wm. Herst, 310 South Second street, and Wm. Herst, 310 South Second street, were examined as witnesses. The testimony showed that on Saturday night last, about 11 o'clock, Grace sprang his rattle violently, without cause, at Second and Pine streets. He, appeared to be very much excited. A large crowd collected, and Mr. Hackney asked Grace what was the matter. He replied in an incoherent way: "You can take me if you want to, but I'm doing my duty" About this time Gorman came up and ordered the crowd to disperse. William D. Etter, residing at No. 133 Congress came up and ordered the crowd to disperse. William D. Etter, residing at No. 133 Congress street, did not move quite as fast as Gorman thought he ought to do, was seized, abused in a violent manner, and, finally, dragged off to the station-house. After the hearing, Grace was held in $500 bail for disorderly conduct and breach of the peace, and Gorman was held in $500 bail for assayile and hettary. and breach of the peace, and Gorman held in $500 ball for assault and battery.

ANOTHER STATEMENT .- Mr. Richard Callery, the proprietor of the tayern No. 122 Callowhill street, where a difficulty is alleged Callowhill street, where a difficulty is alleged to have occurred on Monday morning, states that three men stopped at his house. They had been drinking and quarreling with another party on politics; there was some pushing, when some of them fell down, but neither of them were kicked or beaten. The statement that Cornelius Canney lost his watch, Mr. Callery states, is untrue, as his wife put it away when he went house in company with away when he went home in company his brother.

FATAL FALL—Thos: McIllyaine, residing at 610 South Thirteenth street, whilst climbing a tree in the rear of Fifty-first and Haverford streets, yesterday, fell to the ground and was severely injured. He was taken to the Jewish Hospital, where every care and attention was bestowed on him. He died this morning at 10 deck. morning at 1 o'clock.

THE "MUFFIN" MATCH.—The grand "Muffin" match of base ball for the benefit of the Bedford Street Mission and the Homcoopathic Hospital will be played this afternoon on the Athletic grounds at Seventeenth street and Columbia avenue. The game will no doubt be a funny one.

FELL OVERBOARD. William Anderson, from Pemberton, N. J., fell into the Delaware at Chestnut street wharf between twelve and one o'clock this morning. He was rescued from drowning by Policeman John Mc-Laughlin, of the Third District. ACCIDENT .- Wm. H. Dunbury, aged 60 years, fell on the pavement on Chestnut street, below Seventh, and injured his hip, yesterday after-noon. He was taken to his home, No. 809 South Front street, by Reserve Officer Hunter CLOTHING ABROAD. - Abroad, ready-made clothing is much more popular among the better classes than here with us. This is probably owing, partly at least, to the fact that we have never been accustomed here to such a fine class of garments, ready-made, as has for some time past been in vogue in tailoring houses phroad. Mr. Wanamaker aims, by his Chestnut Street House, to raise the standard at home, and has certainly prepared for the trade of the present season better ready made garments than Philadelphia has ever before seen and such as the first establishments of neither London nor Paris would be ashamed to father. LAST DEMONSTRATION.—The Republican In vincibles will make their last demonstration to morrow (Friday) evening, by visiting West Chester. This is, by all odds, the most popular excursion made by the Club and as the most complete arrangements have been mal-for accommodating all who desire to participate, w expect several hundred persons will assist in making the t turn-out a grand success. The train los depot at Thirty-first and Chestnut streets at 7 o'clock

"An Occasional Correspondent" of the London Times, describing the manicurres of London Times, describing the maneuvres of the Crown Prince of Prussia's Corps d'Armenear Sturgard, writes from Berlin on September 12th: "During the morning a personagofnote had appeared on the field. That helmet covered the brain which had set all the warlike machinery of the monarchy in motion on its path of conquest, for it was Count Bismarck who, it his secondary character of a Prussian General, now appeared among us. Close beside him sat Von Moltke, the strategist, whose forecast had given his aggressive policy such success; but whereas the profound military thinker was thin, and bent, and worn, the statesman, bold and step of sweet was replayed. and stern of aspect, was perhaps the largest man on the field, and looked capable of upsetting in combat a brace of cuirassiers.
