CITY BULLETIN.

THE FIRE AT PATTERSON'S BONDED WARE-Morse.—The report of Fire Marshal Blackburn in reference to the causes of the fire at Patterson's Bonded ec on the 4th of August last, has been submitted to Mayor Fox. A large number of witnesses wer examined, there being thirteen hearings. The evidence was phonographically reported by Mr. Samuel B. Collins, and has been printed in pamphlet form. The conclusion arrived at by the Fire Marshal is thus stated: After castionally the fire marshal is the stator.

After castionally examining and carefully analyzing the affidavits of all the witnesses, and reconciling any seeming conflictions in their statements—thus winnowing the wheat of the testimony from the chaff—and fully considering the whole case, I am forced to the following capellysin.

ing the wheat of the testimony from the challenge conclusion:

First—That there was no fire or explosion previous to the fall of the Lombard street wall of Section II, and that no gas escape had anything whatever to do with that incident.

Second—That this casualty was owing to the giving way of the floor of one of the upper stories, in consequence of the concentration of too much weight upon a weak point. The rent floor, in its crashing, crushing descent, carried with it the floors underneath it, disrupting and pushing out the wall, and causing a confused wreek of everything from the top to the bottom of the warehouse. The whisky nearest to the wall sho tout with it, but the great bulk of the barrels rolled to the middle of the wrecked structure, and were jumbled together and caught and held fast in the inverted roof "described by Professor Dickeson, a witness who appears to have been cooler and more observant than any of the others who cast a glance into the riven storehouse and momentarily viewed the large chaotic beap of shivered planks, splin-tered joists, fractured girders, overthrown columns, shattered liquer barrels, and rulned machinery and apparatus. And the concentrated pressure of the superincumbent mass, and its surging downward progress impinged on the girders and pillars in the centre of the building, with the driving force of a pile-engine, and this sudden and powerful impact or blow sent the base columns into the foundations with the momentum of a cannon ball.

Lam therefore, of the opinion that the falling of the camon ball.

Lam, therefore, of the opinion that the falling of the wall of the corner store was the primary cause of the wait of the total solutions of the first opinion, based, as in my judgment it is, upon evidence at once impartial and indisputable, is honestly and conscientfously expressed. If future developments should prove it to be fallectous, no one will more readily and cheerfully acknowledge the error than myself. In concluding the interesting report, Mr. Blackburn should prover to be foliacious, no one will more readily and cheerfully acknowledge the error than myself.

In concluding the interesting report, Mr. Blackburn makes the following important statements:

Your Honor was present in the discharge of yoar official duties as Chief Magistrate of the city, and watched attentively the desolating advance of this switel and disastrous conflagration, which, in a few hours, isid in waste half a million worth of valuable real estate, and consumed, with scarced it wo million and account of the mount of two millions and consumed, with scarced it wo million and consumed, with scarced to the mount of two millions and consumed, with scarced to the mount of two millions and consumed, with scarced to the mount of two millions and hot and blasting were the consumers, that they must have detred across the streets, and peradyenture, encircled entire block of dwellings and marts of traffic, in their serpent-like embrace, only for the tightly-closed and strongly-fastened iron doors and window shutters of the, warehouses, by the advantage of which, each store became a capacious funnel to convey the roaring blaze high up into the air, and thus it was compelled to expend its furly far above the house tops. If, even as it was, instead of the deluging unjet, while the conflict of the state of the deluging with the conflict of the state of the deluging with the conflict of the danger of storing whisky in large bulks, in the compactly to extreme might have been dreadful.

I apprehend that your Honoramust have been fully to nyinced by the scenes of that eventual into the danger of storing whisky in large bulks, in the compactly in extensive ranges of tall storehouses; and I would respectfully offer for the consideration of yourself and the members of the municipal and diate Legislatures the sungestion whether there should not be some legal enactment regulating the storage of all kinde of spirituous liquors in Philadelphia. I have witnessed appirituous and children.

Another important lesson tau makes the following important statements:

in the world, the distance of miles, all the way down to League Island, offers sites eminently adapted for this class of, stores. Here are facilities for the finest wharves, with water deep enough, at all seasons of the year, to float vessels of the leaviest tonnage, and in close proximity to the docks could be erected suitable warehouses. These buildings should be strong and of ample dimensions, but not over two or three stories high. and completely isolated from each other, with such distance preserved between them, that, in case of fire in one, the others would not be endangered. This locality invites commercial enterprise. It is the natural depot and outlet for the products of the great West, and is the real eastern terminus of the Pacific Railroad.

SINKING OF A STEAMBOAT.—The splendid steamer Samuel M. Felton left Wilmington at 7 o'clock this morning on one of her daily trips. She had about two hundred passengers and some freight. At the time two hundred passengers and some freight. At the time there was a dense fog on the river. About eight o'clock, and when about two miles below Marcus Hook, the bont struck upon a rock. A large hole was knocked in the hull under the aft cabin and the water pouted in rapidly. The passengers were thrown into great consternation, but as the boat was pretty close to shore, their fears were soon allayed The boat sunk upon the rock upon which the struck. The water filled the hold, but did not get upon deck. The steamer Eliza Haucock, which also plies between here and Wilmington, ran up alongside of the Felton. The passengers on the latter were then transferred to the Hancock and brought to the city. No person was injured by the disaster. The freight on the sunken boat will be injured by water. The boat is not much damaged. Preparations have already been made to raise her, and it is expected that within a week she will be able to resume her trips.

ALLEGED PERJURY.-Charles Yeager and Thomas Mitchell were arrested last night upon a warrant issued by Alderman Collins on the oaths of Thomas Lynch and Mr. Reynolds. The charge against them is perjury. It is alleged that the defendants appeared before the Canvassers of the Second Division of the First Ward and swore that complainants had false naturali-Ward and swore that complainance had tone natural-zation papers, and thereupon the names of complain-ants were stricken off of the assessment list. After the hearing before Alderman Collins, the accused were each held in $2,000 bail to answer at court.
