Philadelphia Money Market. TUESDAY, Oct. 12, 1869 .- The weekly report of our banks, which will be found below, so far from showin, any improvement in resources, as hoped for, indicated ery serious falling off in this respect. The loans have been contracted $607.086; legal tenders, 8515,501, whilst the deposits have fallen of $920,596. There was a solitary ncrease of specie of $87,505. These losses, added to that of last and previous weeks, fully account for the ctreme caution which has marked the course of the banks during the week, and justify the firmness in the rates exacted for leans. The condition of the market is entirely due to the outward flow of the money south and west, and sets the question of monetary case for the bal ance of the season at rest. Rates are unchanged. Gold opened this norming with sales at 130%, closing at noon at 130%. The transactions are entirely confined to legitimate business demand. Government securities are extremely quiet, and pri-show no change worthy of note. The business at the Stock Board was restricted some what by the election going on at the various polls Prices were rather weak. State loans met with no in suiry. City sixes continue without change : sales of th Reading Railroad was dull and lower. Sales at 47%, for the cash, and at 48 b. o. Pennsylvania Rallroad was very quiet at 56%, a decline of %. From Boston. BOSTON, Oct. 12 .- The whaling schoon Susan N. Smith, of Boston, was lost in a hurricane on August 28th, and all hands were drowned, except the captain and four sailors, who, after remaining on the wreck for eight days and nights, without food or water, were taken off and carried into London by an English bark. The captain's wife and two children were drowned in the cabin. An attempt was made at 3 A. M. to-day t rob the National Bank of Townsend, Mass.; but the burglars used too much powder, alarming the citizens by the explosion. The outer r was blown off and much damage done to the building. The burglars fled, leaving their The Italian Mutual Relief Society, of this city, is celebrating the 373d anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus by a pub-
