onsted.

Brazil is the greatest producer of coffee

That known in the trade at Rio, is a Brazilian coffee. Of the 118,000,000 pounds produced by the world per aimin, Brazil furnishes 400,000,000, or more than half of the material imbibed. But the physiological effects of coffee are not in doubt. It operates in two very distinct directions. First, by stimulating the nervous and vascular tissues. This is experienced by every one after taking a cup of good coffee. The system is invigorated, and the sensibilities are more scute. Second, it retards the transformation of the muscular tissues into lower chemical compounds. This has been proved by Lehman by direct experiment.

by this operation the coffee acts as an equivalent for meat-producing food, if it does not ac-tually produce it. It saves the powers of the body, if it does not create them. It is like the

In 1755, and for nearly ten years later, the southern border of Bushkill creek, and indeed the whole surrounding country, suffered from Indian depredations. The "great Indian walk" having been so managed as to sweep the precious Minisink lands into the grasping clutches of our forefathers, upon this pleasing perambulation falls the responsibility of the warfare which indirectly resulted.

In 1755, and for nearly ten years later, the southern border of Bushkill creek, and indeed beautiful story, "The Blameless Prince," traces again the inimitable fable of Rip Van Winkle, only less perfectly than Irving. The poems, all four, are managed in simple, flowing rhyme, without awkwardness and without hard words or ambitious ornaments.
