DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN THE SEVENTH WARD.—The old Franklin Mill, on Spruce street, near Twenty-fifth, was discovered to be on fire about half-past nine o'clock last night. on fire about half-past nine o'clock last night. The mill was about 30 by 150 feet, and four stories in height, and had two two-storied attachment on Twenty-fifth and on Spruce streets. The flames first appeared on the front of the main building, in close proximity to the boilers, and by the time the firemen, had fairly got to work, had extended to the upper floors. The fires under the boilers had been fixed for the night, and there was a pretty full head of steam on when the flames were discovered. A young man named Spratt, residing in the neighborhood, being aware of the fact, at the peril of his life, ran into the burning mill and turned the valves so that the steam could escape, and thus an explosion of the could escape, and thus an explosion of the boiler was prevented. The building was filled with combustible material, and notwithstanding the great exertions of the firemen, the mill ing the great exertions of the firemen, the min was entirely destroyed.

The mill was formerly owned by Mr. Taylor, who sold it about the first of September to J. B. McClenaghan, of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, who leased it to Alexander Balford, by whom it was sub-let. The building was valued at $40,000, on which there is a supposed insurance of $20,000. The machinery in the mill was vary fine in its character, and was valued W. Stokes, c.
