The Finance Committee of Councils ha been diligently engaged, through a sub-committee of which General Wagner is chairman, in its annual investigation of the condition of the municipal finances, with the view of establishing the tax rate for 1870, and of a clear understanding of the present liabilities and assets of the city. The report of the committee is will not be allowed. He will have a pompous long, minute and interesting, and evinces laborious and patient research, into the necessarily complicated accounts of the City Controller. There are many details in this in cresting creport which deserve notice and comment; but the main, central fact which will arrest and engross public attention, and which must challenge the prompt and energetic action of Councils, is the enormous defect in the collectine dying adulterer, will be used to secure his tion of taxes. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The Ways and Means Washington, Dec.2.—The Ways and Means Committee are holding daily sessions, four or five hours long, for the consideration of the changes proposed to the tariff bill. The schedules under consideration show the general tendency to the reduction of imports. The schedule proposing the changes in the tariff on metals, prepared by Judge Kelley, has not yet been submitted, but it is awaiting the arrival of Judge Blair, of Michigan, a member of that sub-committee. It makes many changes, and in the aggregate, reduces the tariff slightly. Mr. Brooks, of the Sub-Committee on Chemicals, has gone to New York for a conference with the manufacturers and others, says a formidable alliance has been concluded between the Northern Sjoux and the Crows for war against the settlers in Eastern Mon-tana and Wyoming. The Indians are insti-gated to this by an outlawed half-breed named Renshaw, and threaten the extermination of Failure of a Banking Firm.
