MATTERS IN GENERAL

The Chinese Mission.

It is a perverse kind of Ingenuity which would try to make a muddle of the credentials given by the Emperor of China to Mr. Burlingame and his Embassy, on the pleathat the words of two translations differ that the Emperor sprites too arrogately and that the Emperor writes too arrogantly, and that Pang and K wo seem to say that foreign nations are little—though this last would be a true fact are little—though this last would be a true fact enough; for, if population and territory be any test, China is always the biggest. As regards the Emperor's assumption of the favor of Heaven, it is only his way of saying "By the Grace of God;" and, for the rest, all nations and Princes make themselves High and Mighty; Sublime, and so forth; when they come to treat with one another. George III. used to call himself King of France, and Victor Emmanuel calls himself King of Jerusalem; and we believe Cyprus, too. If those objurgators have no worse things to say of that great Americo-Celestial Embassy, people may safely encourage it, and wish it God speed.—N. I. Times.

Army Clothing.

The same journal observes:
"A writer in the Army and Navy Gazette (London) has heard that the clothing served out to United States soldiers is often very inferior in quality. It quotes astatement, originally made by a New York journal, to the effect that the color of the clothing is not uniform; and the pants in particular have all the shades of which blue is susceptible." The writer suggests that the contractors are cheating the Government. He knows nothing of the way in which we manage such affairs here. English contractors may not be above a little sharp practice now and then, but ours are all honest men. That is why they made so little out of the war, and why they are so

A New Russian Policy. The change in Russian policy from Pan-hellenism to Panslavism will be the key to many of the difficulties of the Eastern question of the future. Indeed, it explains some of the or the ruture. Indeed, it explains some of the acts of the St. Petersburg Government, the cause of which otherwise was not very apparent. Thus Russia gave no aid to Greece during the Cretan revolution, and paid little attention to her interests at the Paris Congress. Before the Crimean war Russia dis-liked the idea of neutrality, which it has since favored under the name of Pauslavism—it even favored under the name of Panslavism—it even went so far in this dislike as to refuse aid to the Prince of Montenegro in his war against the Turks. Panhellenism—that is as Russla understood it, the support of all the "orthodox believers"—was the favorite idea of Nicholas and the Czars of his school. Through it they sought to arouse the religious passions of the members of the Greek Church against the Turks. But this is all changed now. Russia no longer cares for its early love, but seeks a new mistress in a Panslavonic confederation under a Russian protectorate.—N. Y. World. Reunion of Christendom.

The London Times considers it a rather remarkable fact that at this moment three distinct appeals for the reunion of Christendom should be made from such distinct and even opposite sources as the Pope, the Patriarch of Constantinople, and the evangelical preacher, Merle d'Aubigne. The Pope prays for it in his letter to Archbishop Manning; the Greek Patriarch, while quietly informing the Archbishop of Canterbury that his theologians consider the XXXIX articles heretical prays with equal earnestness for it; and finally, the lesser light—but still a power in the Genevan Israel—Dr. Merle d'Aubigne, not satisfied with his own prayers, invites all the evangelical churches to unite in prayer for the purpose.

Attacks on the House of Lords. The London Spectator renews its attempts at battering down that very respectable safe-guard of the British constitution, the House of Lords. Its suggestion that a House of Nota-bles might be substituted for it seems advantables might be substituted for it seems advantageous. The principle of equality which, as Mr. Lowe pointed out, has been introduced by the Household Suffrage bill, must finally pervade the entire British constitution. Every attempt, it argues, to reform the House of Lords must introduce this principle; and with that in view it seems difficult to conceive the existence of a political house in which either hereditary rank or title is a condition of membership.

Indiana is the happy resort of couples auxious for separation a vinculo, but in some other respects the lsle of Man is superior. A woman has recently been tried there for at-tempting to murder her husband by slow poisoning. She had the satisfaction of being acquitted on the ground that the Manx code had made no provision for attempts to commit murder by poison.—World.

THE LATE MINING ACCIDENT IN CALIFORNIA.

Effects of Experimenting with New Ex-plosive Compounds. [From the Marysville (Cal.) Appeal, Nov. 23.]

[From the Marysville (Cal.) Appeal, Nov. 3.]
A frightful and fatal accident occurred in the tunnel of the Pactolus Gold Mining and Water Company, near Smartsville, on the 21st inst. On Thursday last Professor Hafenegger, Mr. Leszinkey, chemist, and Mr. Klause, of the firm of Charles W. Claus & Co., San Francisco, agent of the Hafenegger Powder Company, San Francisco, arrived here with a full supply of material to test the efficiency of their powder in blasting rocks.

der in blasting rocks.

Their first attempt was in the tunnel of the Blue Point Gravel Mining Company, which was not as satisfactory as they desired. And having to work from a shaft 138 feet in depth, having to work from a snatt as feet in depth, they preferred to work in a tunnel where they could enter from the mouth, the descending and ascending the shaft being troublesome and taking up time. They called on Mr. O'Brien, Superintendent of the Pactolus Company, who introduced them to the contractors on his tunnel, with whom they made arrange that the contractors to drill certain boles. ments for the contractors to drill certain hole as they directed, which was done—the powder men to load and discharge the same.

On Friday two holes were discharged which proved satisfactory. Three more holes which proved satisfactory. Three more holes were prepared for operation on Saturday. The powder being used in the cartridges they had to be made. Everything was not in order in time to load and fire on Saturday, and was postponed until Sunday morning, when, in tamping, or preparing the cartridge in the drill hole, a premature explosion occurred, killing Mr. Claus instantly, tearing off a portion of his head and one arm. Mr. Herman Smith, one of the contractors, who was assisting, was so terribly mangled that he expired Smith, one of the contractors, who was assisting, was so terribly mangled that he expired in two hours. Mr. Leszinkey, the chemist, is dreadfully bruised and cut up, and one eyedestroyed; legs, arms and sides terribly cut up.
Dr. Asay, being at home at the time, has taken charge of the sufferer, with the hope of his recovery.

THE GREAT COUNCIL.

The King of Bayaria and the Pope...The Catholic Bishops and the Council. The following is the text of the autograph letter addressed by the King of Bavaria to the Archbishop of Munich on the occasion of the recent meeting of the German Bishops at Fulda and which was noticed by cable telegraph in the Herald.

gram in the Herold.

Linderhof, Qct. 21, 1869.—My Dear Arch. Indernof, Qct. 21, 1869.—My Dear Archishop—I received with pleasure the pastoral of the assembled prelates which you were kind enough to send me. I read it with the interest so important a document merits, and I rejoice to flud expressed in it the conviction of the German bishops that the approaching Council will proclaim no doctrine in contralication with the rejoical contralication with the rejoical contralication with the rejoical contralication with the rejoical contralication with the contralication diction with the principles of justice, with the right of the State and those who represent its authority, with the true interests of science or with the legitimate liberty and welfare of the populations. I hope that the spirit of moderation with which the meeting was animated will prevail in the council, and that the latter may have for the Church the salutary effect which every good Catholic must desire. I am, with affectionate sympathy, your King.

The Kempten Gazette (Bavaria) calls atteninto hemper state (bayaria) cans attention to the fact that according to article sifteen of the Concordat concluded between Pope Pius VII. and the King of that country, Maximilian Joseph (5th June, 1817), the archbishops and bishops of that State are bound to take an eath of fidelity to the mongrob, conceived in these terms:—

bound to take an eath of fidelity to the mon-arch, conceived in these terms:—
I swear and solemnly promise on God's Holy Gospel, obedience and fidelity to his Majesty. I equally pledge myself to entertain no rela-tions, to take part in no council, nor to bind myself, at home or abroad, by any alliance which might be injurious to public tranquility, and to make known to the King's government any design prejudicial to the State which, either in my diocese or anywhere else, may come to my knowledge.

GENERAL SYNOD OF THE REFORMED CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES. FIGHTH DAY—MORNING SESSION.—The members of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in the United States reassembled this morning for the transaction of business in United Reformed Church, Green street, near Fifteenth teenth. The devotional exercises were conducted in

The devotional exercises were conducted in the usual form.

The nominations of delegates to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was stricken from the report, inasmuch as there was no assurance that such delegates, though cordially received by the New School Assembly, would be received in the same way by the United Assembly.

The Boards of Home and Foreign Missions of Orphans' Homes, and of Sunday-school associations and delegates to corresponding bodies were nominated as follows:

Board Home Missions—Revs. G. B., Russell, N. Gehr, S. H. Geisey, D. Gans, D. D., L. D. Leberman, B. Baushman, G. W. Augenbaugh, D. E. Klopp; Elder Charles Santee, Geo. Gelbach, W. D. H. Good, D.D.

The report of the committee to which was referred the subject of the revision of the hymn book was then called up. Rev. Dr. Affle moved that the consideration of the subject be deferred until the next trionnial meeting of the General Synod, in order to give more time for the preparation of a suitable collection of hymns. The motion to defer was adopted:

Rev. Dr. Affle then offered the following:

Whereas, The General Synod has allowed the provisional use of two liturgies in the Church.

And whereas, It is desirable that a selection of hymns should be inserted in this Liturgy;

therefor Resolved, That permission is hereby given to the Eastern Synod to Issue: a selection of hymns and charts for provisional use in the church in their respective liturgies. Adopted Rev. Mr. Ructenich offered the following: Whereas, The German hymn-book fund do nated by Dr. Schaff, for the publication of German Sunday School books, is not at pre-sent used. And whereas, The printing establishment of the Western Synod is now engaged in publishing a series of German Sunday School books under proper supervision.

Therefore, Resolved, That the Treasurer of General Synod be instructed to pay over to the above-mentioned establishment the interest of said mentioned establishment the interest of said fund for the above purpose, until further instructions. Provided, That all books so published are properly examined before their publication by the Board of Publication by both the Board of Publication west and Board of Examiners east.

The resolution was laid on the table for

The Committee to whom was referred the The Committee to whom was referred the requests of the classes of Westmoreland, Clarton and St." Paul and West New York, to be formed into a Synod, reported that the classes named, being the proper number, and having been regularly dismissed from their respective Synods for this purpose, there was no cause why their request should not be granted. They therefore recommend the following resolution:

Resolved, That the classes of Westmoreland,
Clarion, St. Paul and West New York, are

Rowland, Third District; the Missionaries, Miss Mary Anderson, and Miss Mary Matlack; and along the Delaware and Schuylkill, Mr. E. R. Anderson. ance pledge.

DIRTY STREETS.-The Board of Health endeavors to have the streets properly cleansed, but the contractors do not seem to keep up to the work. Many of the streets are in a very filthy condition, and their appearance would indicate that they have not received visits from scavengers for a long period. Yesterday High Constable Curley reported to the Board of Health a long list of streets which need early attention. FOUND OPEN.-Notwithstanding the fre-FOUND OPEN.—Notwithstanding the frequent notices in the newspapers, people will continue to leave their doors and windows unfastened at night. Such neglect is placing a premium upon robbery. This morning nearly all of the Lieutenants had reports of some houses found open. Among these reports were four stores in the Tenth District and seven houses in the Edwardth Nitetiat. seven houses in the Eleventh District.

MILITARY TRANSFER.—The following order relative to the transfer of the Philadelphia City Guards from the Taird to the Fourth Brigade has been issued:
"HEADQUARTERS P. M., HARRESBURG, NOV.

"HEADQUARTERS P. M., HARRISBURG, NOV. 27, 1869.—Special Order, No. 180.—1. The commanding officer of the Philadelphia City Guards having petitioned that his regiment be transferred from the Third Brigade to the Fourth Brigade, and his petition having been approved by all the intermediate commanders, and it being agreeable to the commander of the Fourth Brigade, therefore the Philadelphia City Guarda are hereby transferred from the Fourth Brigade, therefore the Philadelphia City Guards are hereby transferred from the Third Brigade to the Fourth Brigade of the First Division Pennsylvania Militia from the date of this order.

A Homeless Boy.—The Delaware Harbor Police, at the request of the Vagrant Detective, yesterday took into custody a little boy, named Frank Quinn, thirteen years of ago. In consequence of the loss of his parents, by death, the youth has been left homeless and friendless. He has subsisted upon food furnished him by some of the residents in the neighborhood of Beach and Coates streets, and at nights has slept in an old boiler. A dog has been a faithful companion to him, and last evening gave the policeman considerable trouble when he attempted to approach the boiler. The cog followed his master to the Station House, whining and occasionally barking and snapping at the officer. Quinn is to be provided with a home in one of the charitable institutions.

ANOTHER BOOTBLACK IN TROUBLE. - Philip ANOTHER BOOTBLACK IN TROUBLE.—Philip Griffin, aged 15 years, a bootblack, was arrested yesterday at Sixth and Chostnut streets by Special Officer Edward Burns, of the Fourth District, upon the charge of having been concerned in the robbery of the hardware store of Buchler, Howard & Co., No. 427 Market street, a fews day ago. A lot of fine cutlery was stolen at the time, and some of the missing knives were found on the person of Griffin. The accused will have a hearon of Griffin. The accused will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—Charles Heider was arrested on Sixth street, below Arch, yesterday, by Policeman Foster, of the Eighth District, upon the charges of malicious mis-chief and cruelty to animals. He was driving a large wagon loaded with iron, and drove over the foot of a horse which was standing on the street. He was taken before Ald. White, and was held in $1,200 ball to answer at court.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM .- Two men representing themselves as collectors for the Moyanensing Soup Society are going around col-ecting money for that charity. The benevomensing solp society are going around collecting money for that charity. "THERE'S NOTHING LIKE LEATHER."

This maxim is old, but sound to the root;
There's nothing like leather to make a fine boot;
To keep out the weather, the rains and the snows,
There's nothing like leather to make a fine boot;
To keep out the weather, the rains and the snows,
There's nothing like leather—as the story goes.
Friend IRLWEG, at five thirty-five on Arch street,
Wields a masteriy band to clothe human feet
In good well-tanned' kip," or call-skin so fine,
As only a master can do in this line;
In boots and shoes ne has a full store,
And orders can fill too as many more—
Supply all the gents and the boys in the town,
For he'a a son of St. Crispin, of great renown.
The old and the young on Hanwes should call;
St. Crispin has named him the KNIGHT OV THE AWL;
Examine his boots which are placed there in pairs;
Take the old ones along should they need repairs;
He fills orders promptly—does work very fast;
He minds his own business, and sticks to his last;
He'll fit you with boots—so easy they feel—
To the instep or ball, to the toe or the heel,
That clothing your feet in fond fashion's array,
You can gracefully walk throughout the long day;
If your "foot's pretty," then you can just "show it."
This we give gratis—the word of the poot;
For Hellves a the man to fit you all right
With the best of boots—not too loose nor too tight;
His boots, shoes, or gaiters, for all kinds of wear,
Are made of all fabrics, selected with care.
And sold at low rates within the reach of all,
There's nothing like leather whon made into shoes,
Boots, gaiters or pumps—just as we may choose;
There's nothing like heaving these things to fit well—A subject on which we would long like to dwell;
Hut lime and space, both taken together,
Just leave room to say "there's nothing like leather."
