Albert Durer's Letters.

Prom Mrs. Charles Heaton's Life of Albert Durer of Numbers, just published by Macmillan & Co., London, we extract this example of the lady's work as a translator, which illustrates the intensity and simplicity of Durer's mind and affection. The extract is the painter's account of his mother's death:

"Now you must know that in the year 1513, on a Thesday in Cross week, my poor, unhappy"

DOES THE EARTH GROW SICK This is a question asked, and partially answered, by a writer in a recent English magazine, who proceeds to show that such endemics as the plague of ancient times, and the plast of cold air morning and evening suffice. One must be out hour in the fresliair, and thus supply to the system the strength and nutriment it negats. requisites for a comfortable home. We do not propose, however, to make it an entirely gratuitous one, thinking it better to encourage a feeling of independence and self-respect in the boys by requiring a small payment from them for meals and lodging, which will also aid somewhat in defraying the necessary expenses. As the receipts from this source, however, will be inconsiderable, the support of the "Home" must depend mainly upon contributions and subscriptions, and it is in view of this fact that we now make our appeal to the public.

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Perce.—Prison cases occupied the attention of the Court this morning.

MR. Lynch suggested that that part of the President's message referring to navigation interests belonged properly to a Belect Committee on that subject. Mr. Schenck sail he had two reasons for preforing its relevance to the Committee —irst, because that was a standing committee, and preference was usually and properly given to such committee; and second, because he understood a select committee to have been, created for the purpose of looking into the causes of the decline of shipbuilding and navigation.

Mr. Wood suggested that that part of the President's message referring to navigation interests belonged properly to a Belect Committee on that subject to the Committee on the subject to the Committee, and preference was usually and properly given to such committee; and second, because he understood a select committee to have been, created for the purpose of looking into the causes of the decline of shipbuilding and navigation.

Mr. Wood supposed to the Abelect Committee on the second, because he understood a select committee to have consider the question of the there was a treaty made, and whether the Committee on there was a treaty made, and whether the Committee on the subject before any additional treaty stipulations were considerable to have read the President's message referring to navigation interests belonged the properly to the committee on the committee on the committee on the consideration of the decline of shipbuilding and navigation.

Mr. Wood in the purpose of looking into the causes of the decline of shipbuilding and navigation.

Mr. Wood in the day two cases of the preference was usually and properly given to such committee on the condition of the decline of shipbuilding and havigation.

Mr. Wood inquired whether Committee on to consider the question of the decline of shipbuilding and havigation.
