But if the distinguished ex-Secretary be not selected, Pennsylvania can supply, in the person of the Hon. William Strong, a man so eminently fitted in all respects for the highest judicial position as to ensure the universal approval of the whole State and indeed of the entire Circuit. Judge Strong appears to be peculiarly marked by nature as he is fitted by legal training and judicial experience for the discharge of the grave duties of the Supreme Court. In his unsullied personal character; his rare gifts of temper and manmers; his thoroughly furnished mind; his clear judgment; his high position at the construction, as well as of invention, they have Reason Number Five, Pennsylvania bar, the leadership of long enjoyed a well-earned celebrity, and every They appear to thrive, which has been universally conceded to him; such new testimonial of superior merit as that in all these respects we find the best reasons to which we have just referred, is a tribute not for presenting the name of the Hon. the one as in the other, that, in the words of that singular but fascinating creation, the Lady Alice, "The divine result of Art hallows the indispensable means."... We presume that few of our readers who have not had their attention called to the fact in some especial manner know to what extent women are interesting themselves in the study of art, both as amateurs and as professional artists. To any who desire what our Methodist brethren denominate "a realizing sense" of the efforts which they are making, not simply to gain a smattering of art and a superficial acquaintance with the rules which may enable them to make a certain amount of show of manual dexterity, but to acquire, by dint of patient study and pains-taking labor, such a knowledge of the deeper and hidden laws' which lie at its foundation as may make them indeed its mistresses; to any, we say, who No. 1125 Chestnut Street. are able to appreciate such devotion, and are desirons to encourage it by showing a personal interest in it, we would invite attention to what is now being done in this direction at the "Artists' Fund Building" in 'Chestnut street, opposite the Mint. They will find there the tree and it fruits,—the tree an art-school, under the able cated as an artist can nowhere be educated but in a Flemish school of art, in all the minutest in order properly to guide genius as well as to inform ignorance and develop talent; in the supervision of Mr. Van der Wielen, an artist himself of no mean native ability, but, what is of infinitively more importance in a teacher, himself thoroughly educated,-edudetails of the handicraft, in all that drudgery BOOTS AND SHOES and routine which must be gone through with abstruse sciences of mathematics and perspective; in the difficult problems of light and shade and of the harmony of colors, and finally in the fascinating, but too much neglected, science of anatomy, positive, artistic and expressional. Three No. 33 South Sixth Street, large airy and well-lighted rooms, opening into each other, are devoted to the purposes of this school, and these may be found, on any day, well filled with pupils, whose work indicates of course every degree of progress, from the tyro in outlines to the fin- | Extra Heavy All-Wool ished painter. unfaithfulness, no careless glossing over of work is allowed by the vigilant eyes of the instructor. And now comes the singular fact that nearly all the zealous students in this severe and laborious school are women. Not that it is a school expressly for women, like that useful institution the "School of Design," or that its projector has made any especial effort to induce women to join it, save by the uniform courtesy and respect which he displays towards his pupils, but, we must conclude, because women have come to feel that to study art with either pleasure or profit, they must de so thoroughly and in earnest. What woman has already achieved in Art is only the foreshadowing of her future achievements. There seems to be no philosophical or practical difficulty in the way of her complete success in this high walk of refined human labor, except such as she shares equally with the other sex. Here, in Philadelphia, the women are already establishing themselves, not only as students, but as artists, and our readers will get, in another column of to-day's paper, It is in such ways as these that woman best Philadelphia Money Market. MONDAY, Dec. 13.—Financial matters open for il week with a cheerful aspect. The deposits at the ban are daily increasing and the lack of business activity pecopitible everywhere restricts the demand for loan accommodations to a second of the second of th captible everywhere restricts the demand for loan accommodations to a provision for muturing obligations and brokers' loans. The latter were quite active during most of the past week, which gave occupation to large amounts of currency for carrying stocks. Call loans this morning are not quite as active, and the banks are free lenders on good collateral at 5a6 per cent. First-class paper is not very abundant just now, and it meets with ready sale at salo per cent. when well endorsed. The banks are doing only a moderate business in this line, and show little disposition to expand.

Gold opened and continued throughout the morning at 123. Government Bonds were dulf, and prices so far show a decline of a fraction on closing prices of Saturday.

There was less activity at the Stock Board to-day, but prices continue firm. In State Leans there were no sales, but City Fixes sold to a small amount at 95 for the new issues. Sales of Lehigh Gold Lean at 934.

Reading Railroad was quiet, with sales at 50½ 450.69.
Pennsylvania Railroad sold freely at 84% regular shid 34% for b. o. Lehigh Valley Railroad was taken at 53½.
