 Ine Virginia Congressment.
 [Special Despatch to the Phile. Evening Bulletin.]
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. The almost universal feeling which existed among the Republicans over the immediate admission of the representatives from Virginia into Congress does not maintain its former strength size the arrival of a number of Virginia Republicans, who express in very decided terms their opposition to any Congressional action publicans. who express in very decided terms their op-position to any Congressional action until a thorough investigation can be made into the condition of affairs in the interior counties of the State. If what they say be true, a most deplorable state of things exists, and it would be dangerous to give Virginia all her former rights without more perfect security for the negroes in the future. From the pres-ent appearances it will be impossible to settle ent appearances it will be impossible to settle the Virginia case until after the holiday re-
